Critical Care Neurology and Neurosurgery Jose I. Suarez, 2015-08-26 After the success of the first edition of Critical Care Neurology and Neurosurgery I find myself at the helm of this second delivery of the salient advances in the field of neurocritical care Since the first edition went into print two major advances in the field have occurred The first is the creation of the Neurocritical Care Society www.neurocriticalcare.org with a peer reviewed journal published by Humana Press Neurocritical Care The second advance is the availability of a certifying examination and credentialing of training programs in neurocritical care via the United Council of Neurological Subspecialties UCNS www.ucns.org These will certainly solidify the practice of caring for the critically ill neurologic and neurosurgical patient as a separate subspecialty It is with this excitement that this second edition of this title is launched The organization and length of this book has been changed to reflect discoveries in the field and to keep pace with significant advances The book has been divided into three distinct sections following an introductory chapter on the basic definitions and triage of the critically ill neurologic and neurosurgical patient similar to what was presented in the first edition The primary market is practicing neurologists neurosurgeons and neuroanesthesiologists in particular those with subspecialty interest in neurocritical care Other clinicians with an interest in neurocritical care are pulmonologists internists general surgeons and anesthesiologists with a subspecialty in critical care Also neuroradiologists may find this book interesting and of help for their daily clinical practice This book could also be translated and marketed in spanish and portuguese speaking countries There is no single textbook dedicated to neurocritical care in these two languages I personally would undertake the translation and editing of those editions The first section deals with the basic pr Selected Tables and Figures From Eelco F.
