Client Called Noah:

A Client Called Noah Josh Greenfeld, 1986 Journal entries chronicle the life of a severely brain damaged child called Noah as he approaches adolescence and becomes more difficult to handle

Extreme Caregiving Lisa Freitag, 2018 This book collects parent narratives personal experience and academic research to portray the lives of parent caregivers looking at both the trials and the triumphs inherent in raising a child with special needs It presents parents as moral individuals struggling to find their own way through relatively unexplored territory in order to provide for their child the best life possible

Unraveling Matthew J. Wolf-Meyer, 2020-10-20 Developing a cybernetic model of subjectivity and personhood that honors disability experiences to reconceptualize the category of the human Twentieth century neuroscience fixed the brain as the basis of consciousness the self identity individuality even life itself obscuring the fundamental relationships between bodies and the worlds that they inhabit In Unraveling Matthew J Wolf Meyer draws on narratives of family and individual experiences with neurological disorders paired with texts by neuroscientists and psychiatrists to decenter the brain and expose the ableist biases in the dominant thinking about personhood Unraveling articulates a novel cybernetic theory of subjectivity in which the nervous system is connected to the world it inhabits rather than being walled off inside the body moving beyond neuroscientific symbolic and materialist approaches to the self to focus instead on such concepts as animation modularity and facilitation It does so through close readings of memoirs by individuals who lost their hearing or developed trauma induced aphasia as well as family members of people diagnosed as autistic texts that rethink modes of subjectivity through experiences with communication caregiving and the demands of everyday life Arguing for a radical antinormative bioethics Unraveling shifts the discourse on neurological disorders from such value laden concepts as quality of life to develop an inclusive model of personhood that honors disability experiences and reconceptualizes the category of the human in all of its social technological and environmental contexts

The Autism Job Club Michael Bernick, Richard Holden, 2018-02-06 The Autism Job Club is a groundbreaking book for bringing adults with autism and other neuro diverse conditions into the work world This second edition of The Autism Job Club includes a new Foreword by Steve Silberman author of the best selling NeuroTribes along with an Afterword by the authors The Afterword covers the many employment initiatives for adults on the autism spectrum launched just in the three years since the book was originally published The book has its basis in the autism job club that the authors have been part of in the San Francisco Bay Area the job creation and job placement efforts the club has undertaken and similar efforts throughout the United States The authors review the high unemployment rates among adults with autism and other neuro diverse conditions more than two decades after the ADA Bernick and Holden also outline and explain six strategies that taken together will reshape employment for adults with autism the art of the autism job coach the autism advantage in technology employment autism employment and the internet economy autism employment and the practical craft economy autism and extra governmental job networks autism and public service employment The Autism Job Club is a vital resource for adults with autism their families and advocates who are committed to neuro diverse employment not unemployment But it also speaks to a far broader audience interested in how to carve out a place for themselves or others in an increasingly competitive job world Job Training that Gets Results Michael Bernick,2005 Argues that a strong private economy can reduce unemployment more successfully than government programmes and that job training programmes should reflect the current market Looks at ways of building and maintaining career ladders for the working poor the roles of welfare reform and emerging new occupations in the ITC industries aspects of poverty reduction and job training in a world of globalization The Guide to Play Therapy Documentation and Parent Consultation Linda E.
