given rise to the discipline of content content strategy content design content engineering content operations that increasingly defines a facet of technical communication work in modern organizations This book draws on extensive research of the discipline of content and dozens of interviews with industry leaders hiring managers and academic administrators educators and alumni These first hand accounts outline how roles and activities in content organizations are changing how these changes are impacting hiring needs and practices and what skills and qualities students and early career professionals now need to obtain content related jobs and advance to strategic positions This book also offers guidance for building curricular pathways that prepare students for work in the discipline of content and offers strategies for enhancing pathways through industry outreach and partnerships A thorough assessment of the implications of the discipline of content for technical communication this book will be of interest to students and scholars in the fields of technical writing professional and public writing content strategy content marketing and information design   Evolving as a Digital Scholar Wim Van Petegem,JP Bosman,Miné De Klerk,Sonja Strydom,2021-10-15 What does it take to become a digitally agile scholar This manual explains how academics can comfortably navigate the digital world of today and tomorrow It foregrounds three key domains of digital agility getting involved in research education and community service mobilising digital skills on various levels and acting in multiple roles both individually and interlinked with others After an introduction that outlines the foundations of the three dimensional framework the chapters focus on different roles and skills associated with evolving as a digital scholar There is the author who writes highly specialised texts for expert peers the storyteller who crafts accessible narratives to a broader audience in the form of blogs or podcasts the creator who uses graphics audio and video to motivate audiences to delve deeper into the material the integrator who develops and curates multimedia artefacts disseminating them through channels such as websites webinars and open source repositories and finally the networker who actively triggers interaction via social media applications and online learning communities Additionally the final chapters offer a blueprint for the future digital scholar as a professional learner and as a change agent who is open to and actively pursues innovation Informed by the authors broad and diverse personal experience Evolving as a Digital Scholar offers insight inspiration and practical advice It equips a broad readership with the skills and the mindset to harness new digital developments and navigate the ever evolving digital age It will inspire academic teachers and researchers with different backgrounds and levels of knowledge that wish to enhance their digital academic profile   Connected Histories Eva Pfanzelter,Dirk Rupnow,Éva Kovács,Marianne Windsperger,2024-09-23 The World Wide Web WWW and digitisation have become important sites and tools for the history of the Holocaust and its commemoration Today some memory institutions use the Internet at a high professional level as a venue for self presentation and as a forum for the discussion of Holocaust related topics for potentially international transcultural and interdisciplinary user groups At the same time it is not always the established institutions that utilise the technical possibilities and potential of the Internet to the maximum Creative and sometimes controversial new forms of storytelling of the Holocaust or more traditional ways of remembering the genocide presented in a new way with digital media often come from people or groups who are not in the realm of influence of the large memorial sites museums and archives Such private stagings have experienced a particular upswing since the boom of social media This democratisation of Holocaust memory and history is crucial though it is as yet undecided how much it will ultimately reinforce old structures and cultural regional or other inequalities or reinvent them The Digital space as an arbitrary and limitless archive for the mediation of the Holocaust spanning from Russia to Brazil is at the centre of the essays collected in this volume This space is also considered as a forum for negotiation a meeting place and a battleground for generations and stories and as such offers the opportunity to reconsider the transgenerational transmission of trauma family histories and communication Here it becomes evident there are new societal intentions and decision making structures that exceed the capabilities of traditional mass media and thrive on the participation of a broad public
