Teacher Induction Policy in Global Contexts Jian Wang, 2024-07-01 Teacher induction is becoming increasingly important focus of education policy developed to help beginning teachers develop professionally and stay in teaching work force as a way to meet the needs of global economy and social transformation for teaching quality and student learning in many countries Policy borrowing is a common practice in teacher induction across different countries Such a policy borrowing allow policymakers in particular countries to access different options and choices in their policy development instead of trial and error However it is often done without a careful policy analysis as its base especially the analysis that focuses on the problems the borrowed policy intends to solve social political and educational contexts in which it develops explicit and implicit conceptual assumptions underlying it its implementation and associated challenges and its intended and unintended impacts Without such an analysis as its base the implementations of policy borrowed from other countries can causes unnecessary financial human resource and emotional costs in its context even if the policy prove to be successful in the other place This book serves for such needs of policy analysis in the field of teacher induction It starts with the book editor s overview of the book and its intention Then there are 16 chapters each is written by a distinguished scholar or a policy analyst from a particular country that analyzes the focuses contexts assumptions implementation challenges and consequences of a specific teacher induction policy developed in their home country and then raise important research questions emerging from their analysis The book is expected to attract readers including scholars policy makers practitioners and graduate students in different countries who have interests in teacher induction research policy and practice

Teaching and Time Poverty Greg Thompson, Anna Hogan, 2024-12-04 As teacher shortages reach a global crisis point this book explores how time poverty has become a critical factor in the working lives of teachers and school leaders Arguing that we need to move away from framing the problem of teachers work as simply workload this book suggests that understanding time poverty is the first step in moving toward more manageable working lives The book brings together international perspectives on teacher time poverty drawing on theoretical and empirical work to underscore the growing complexity of teachers work and how this impacts job satisfaction stress and feeling that there is never enough time to accomplish all that needs to be done Many policy solutions misdiagnose the problems of teachers work simply suggesting it is an issue of workload The chapters investigate issues of work intensification finding that teachers are not only working longer but also working harder as they manage more complex classrooms and policy mandates This book is essential reading for those interested in understanding how current education policy both produces time poverty and could better identify and respond to the complexities of teachers work
