Convair B 58 Hustler:

B-58 Hustler Units Peter E. Davies, 2019-10-31 One of the most dramatic bombers of its day the Convair B 58 came to epitomise the Cold War power of Strategic Air Command Introduced only 12 years after the sound barrier was first broken this iconic plane became the first large long range supersonic bomber to take to the skies a feat which had seemed far fetched only a few years previously Outstripping its contemporaries in terms of speed and agile enough to escape most interceptors the B 58 was a remarkable feat of engineering setting 19 world speed records and collecting a host of trophies The first operational bomber capable of Mach 2 at 63 000 feet it was able to evade hostile fighters and represented a serious threat to targets across the Soviet Bloc Supported by contemporary first hand accounts photography and full colour illustrations this study explores the history of this ground breaking aircraft from its conception to its little known testing for use in the Vietnam War

B-58 Hustler David Doyle, 2015 Sleek sporting a delta wing four big engines and an external payload the Convair B 58 was the first operational bomber capable of Mach 2 In service for only a decade the supersonic bomber was dubbed the Hustler a tribute to its impressive performance The effort that resulted in the B 58 which saw its heyday in the 1960s began back in February 1949 the Air Research and Development Command at Wright Patterson Air Force Base initiated the second Generalized Bomber Study GEBO II While a number of manufacturers responded Convair's design which drew heavily on that firm's previous delta wing fighter stylings was favored During its career the B 58 equipped two Strategic Air Command SAC bomb wings The first of these the 43d Bomb Wing was based from 1960 into 1964 at Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth Texas adjacent to the factory where the B 58s were built then moved in 1964 to Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas where it remained until the Hustler's retirement in 1970 The second unit was the 305th Bomb Wing based at Bunker Hill Air Force Base later known as Grissom AFB Indiana from 1961 through 1970 While the initial operational use of the B 58 was beset with delays and in fact at one time SAC outright opposed the aircraft as the decade of the 1960s began the B 58 brought SAC much desired prestige as it set a successive number of records involving speed and altitude Among these were the 1961 Thompson Trophy the Mackay Trophy the Harmon Trophy and the Bleriot Trophy Despite its impressive performance the B 58 was not without shortcomings For one thing its 1 740 mile unrefueled range was relatively modest For another the Soviets developed the SA 2 Guideline surface to air missile that could strike the Hustler at its 63 400 foot ceiling Finally the operational cost of the bomber was extremely high Accordingly in 1965 Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara ordered the B 58 phased out by 1974 Then as the Nixon Administration made one last attempt to bring the Vietnam War to a successful end Defense Secretary Melvin Laird advanced this phase out to Fiscal Year 1970 to cut defense expenditures Accordingly the aircraft were except for a few display specimens shuttled off to Davis Monthan Air Force Base where they lingered in storage until 1977 at which time they were sold for scrap to Southwestern Alloys to reach operational status and had an appearance even though designed in the 1940s that would not look out of date in the 21st century The first USAF delta wing bomber was the Mach 2 Hustler that had the performance of a fighter aircraft However its tenure was short due to technical problems and excessive costs The majority of Hustlers met their demise in the late 1960s but a few remain at museums across the country Convair B-58 Hustler Jay Miller,1997 These volumes are packed with authoritative text detailed photographs drawings B-58 Hustler David Doyle,2021-02-28 The Convair B 58 Hustler with its distinctive delta wing shape would become the world s first supersonic bomber and the first aircraft to fly to Mach 2 With development beginning in 1949 the B 58 which could not carry conventional weapons would become part of the US nuclear arsenal during the height of the Cold War Although these bombers were initially considered difficult to operate in time the hand chosen crews who flew them came to love and respect the aircraft Throughout the 1960s crews flying the B 58 set numerous speed and distance records These planes were tremendously expensive to operate and it was budget issues that forced the early retirement of the bomber The story of this historic aircraft is told through carefully researched photos which are reproduced in remarkable clarity Large clear photos coupled with descriptive and informative captions unlock the secrets of this aircraft Convair B-58 Hustler Pilot's Flight Operating Instructions United States Air

Call to Glory ,2015-08-07 During the 1962 Cuban Missile Crisis the Convair B 58 Hustler proved to be a difference maker but by the end of the decade was retired This tribute and historic reappraisal of this iconic USAF supersonic nuclear strike bomber is based on first hand accounts from those who flew this record setting aircraft for SAC during the Cold War

B-58 Hustler Pilot's Flight Operating Instructions United States Air Force,2011-11 The USAF s first jet powered bomber capable of reaching Mach 2 0 the Convair B 58 Hustler carried a crew of three and a nuclear payload A complex aircraft the B 58 suffered teething problems during development and became infamous for its maintenance requirements It also compiled a dubious safety record out of 116 Hustlers 26 were lost in accidents Nevertheless the B 58 s career spanned nearly a decade between 1960 70 It might have continued even longer but Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara believed the aircraft which was designed for high speed high altitude tactical approach was vulnerable to air to air missile attack Its replacement the F 111A Aardvark would be designed to perform a low approach attack Originally printed by the U S Air Force this B 58A flight operating manual taught pilots everything they needed to know before entering the cockpit Originally classified Restricted this manual was declassified long ago and is here reprinted in book form Convair B-58 Hustler Nico Braas,2017 When the B 58 Hustler bomber entered service in 1958 it was a very futuristic looking delta wing bomber creating a lot of sensation Intended as a successor of the B 47 Stratojet it was capable of reaching twice the speed of sound However development went not without problems and costs risings went so out of control that the whole project was almost cancelled a few times Strategic Air Command was initially against ordering the B 58 for service not only because of its complexity but also since they saw no advantage of a Mach 2 bomber over other types In spite of this the B 58 entered into service at S A C in 1960 It would have a relatively short operational career Bron Flaptekst uitgeversinformatie Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals ,1958 History of Acquisition in the Department of Defense, Volume 1 Elliott V. Converse,2012-06-12 This volume is a history of the acquisition of major weapon systems by the United States armed forces from 1945 to 1960 the decade and a half that spanned the Truman and Eisenhower administrations following World War II These instruments of warfare aircraft armored vehicles artillery guided missiles naval vessels and supporting electronic systems when combined with nuclear warheads gave the postwar American military unprecedented deterrent and striking power 1 They were also enormously expensive The volume is organized chronologically with individual chapters addressing the roles of OSD the Army Navy and Air Force in two distinct periods The first roughly coinciding with President Truman s tenure covers the years from the end of World War II through the end of the Korean War in 1953 The second spans the two terms of the Eisenhower presidency from 1953 through early 1961 The year 1953 marked a natural breakpoint between the two periods The Korean War had ended President Eisenhower and his defense team began implementing the New Look a policy and strategy based on nuclear weapons which they believed would provide security and make it possible to reduce military spending The New Look s stress on nuclear weapons along with the deployment of the first operational guided missiles and the rapid advances subsequently made in nuclear and missile technology profoundly influenced acquisition in the services throughout the 1950s and the remainder of the century As used in this study the term acquisition encompasses the activities by which the United States obtains weapons and other equipment In surveying the history of acquisition between 1945 and 1960 this study discusses or refers in passing to many of the hundreds of weapon system programs initiated by the services in that period but it is not a weapons encyclopedia Instead it investigates a few major programs in depth in the belief that such detailed examination best reveals the evolution of acquisition policies organizations and processes and the various forces influencing weapons programs The B-58 Blunder George Holt Jr,2015-06-26 Highly effective weapons of war that often cost millions of dollars can easily end up in a trash pile due to quick and uninformed decisions This work is a case study on how the B 58 supersonic bomber came to a premature death in the U S military largely because of infighting among military and civilian leaders who failed to understand the value of this fantastic airplane It was a technological marvel for its time and the very best pilots and navigators were chosen to fly this unique aircraft At its maximum speed of 2.2 Mach 1 452 mph it was 2.2 times faster than the muzzle velocity of a .45 caliber bullet It could fly faster and out turn must fighters of its day and was also capable of flying close to tree top level just below the speed of sound It was nearly undetectable by enemy radars due to its speed and low radar cross section and was better at flying through heavy turbulence due to its solid delta wing design It had a highly accurate navigation and bombing system It had a capsule ejection system for the safety of the aircrew and was capable of getting airborne in only half the time required by other bombers Told for the first time this is the inside story that dispels the unproven myths surrounding the demise of the B 58 and why this magnificent airplane should have been saved Its loss from the nuclear armory was a severe blow to our Cold War deterrence strength The B 58 was a bomber that set the standard for fear in the heart of an enemy Its loss was a strategic mistake The author provides lessons learned and recommendations for military and civilian leaders going forward to hopefully prevent future blunders like what happened to the B 58 Air University Periodical Index ,1958 Rearming
