Conversion Chronicles:

Conversion Chronicles Lisa Stiles, Daniel Stiles, 2005-04 Bridging the hundred and twenty year gap between the novels Haji and Suzu Conversion Chronicles follows two reluctant warriors Phraetissi and Vagrani teaming with the stunningly formidable police officer Najem and young spunky Princess Limme The foursome stumble into religious wars that will one day overtake their already turbulent world Along the way they come across gang disputes disgruntled assassins and surly clowns out to cause trouble The reluctant heroes blossoming relationships become lifelines to survive in a world growing forever colder and unstable Phraetissi's heart is set on wooing the lovely princess but fears himself unworthy of her love The swaggering Vagrani falls for Najem learning that beneath her rough veneer she is fragile and hesitant to love any man Najem and Limme strike a strong bond rivaling the bond of sisters but the friendship between Phraetissi and Vagrani is strained when one decides to take a singular detour indefinitely

Crusading and Chronicle Writing on the Medieval Baltic Frontier Marek Tamm, Linda Kaljundi, Carsten Selch Jensen, 2016-04-22 The Chronicle of Henry of Livonia written by a missionary priest in the early thirteenth century to record the history of the crusades to Livonia and Estonia around 1186-1227 offers one of the most vivid examples of the early thirteenth century crusading ideology in practice Step by step it has become one of the most widely read and acknowledged frontier crusading and missionary chronicles Henry's chronicle offers many opportunities to test and broaden the new approaches and key concepts brought along by recent developments in medieval studies including the new pluralist definition of crusading and the relationship between the peripheries and core areas of Europe While recent years have produced a significant amount of new research into Henry of Livonia much of it has been limited to particular historical traditions and languages A key objective of this book therefore is to synthesise the current state of research for the international scholarly audience The volume provides a multi sided and multi disciplinary companion to the chronicle and is divided into three parts The first part Representations brings into focus the imaginary sphere of the chronicle the various images brought into existence by the amalgamation of crusading and missionary ideology and the frontier experience This is followed by studies on Practices which examines the chronicle's reflections of the diplomatic religious and military practices of the christianisation and colonisation processes in medieval Livonia The volume concludes with a section on the Appropriations which maps the reception history of the chronicle the dynamics of the medieval early modern and modern national uses and abuses of the text
