Handbook of Research on Updating and Innovating Health Professions Education: Post-Pandemic

Perspectives Ford, Channing R., Garza, Kimberly B., 2021-10-08 The outbreak of the Coronavirus in early 2020 resulted in unprecedented changes to health professions education. The pervasive stay at home orders resulted in faculty who were trained for preparing the next generation of health professionals in a traditional learning environment throwing out their lesson plans and starting anew. New approaches to teaching and learning were created quickly and without the typical extensive planning which introduced several challenges. However, lessons learned from these approaches have also resulted in increased technology adoption, innovative assessment strategies, and increased creativity in the learning environment. The Handbook of Research on Updating and Innovating Health Professions Education: Post-Pandemic Perspectives explores the various teaching and learning strategies utilized during the pandemic and the innovative approaches implemented to evaluate student learning outcomes and best practices in non-traditional academic situations and environments. The chapters focus specifically on lessons learned and best practices in health professions education and the innovative and exciting changes that occurred particularly with the adoption and implementation of technology. It provides resources and strategies that can be implemented into the current educational environments and into the future. This book is ideal for inservice and preservice teachers, administrators, teacher educators, practitioners, medical trainers, medical professionals, researchers, academicians, and students interested in curriculum, course design, development of policies and procedures within academic programs, and the identification of best practices in health professions education. Teacher's Guide Karen

Library Is the Answer Christina T. Russo, Cathy Swan, 2015-01-22 Today's tech-savvy and digitally connected students present a new challenge for today's school librarians. This book offers the 21st-century tools and know-how necessary for educators to appeal to and challenge students to learn and to want to learn. What are the best ways to motivate students to become engaged and develop a passion for learning? Can appealing to their desire for socialization and constant communication attributes of their lives outside of education via the integration of cutting-edge technologies and new media in the library or classroom serve to ignite creativity, curiosity, and critical thinking? This book shows how you can make use of non-traditional tools such as popular social networks, collaborative technologies, and cloud computing to teach information and communications technologies integrated with the school curriculum to improve student learning and demonstrates how these same technologies can help you measure skills and mastery learning. The book provides an easy-to-follow blueprint for using collaborative techniques innovation and teaching for creativity to achieve the new learning paradigm of self directed learning such as flipping the classroom or library Readers of this book will find concrete step by step examples of proven lesson plans collaborative models and time saving strategies for the successful integration of American Association of School Librarians AASL standards The authors both award winning teachers explain the quantitatively and qualitatively measurable educational value of using these technologies for core curricular and information and communications technologies instruction showing that they both enhance student learning outcomes and provide data for measuring their impact on learning
