Designing Instruction with Generative AI Brent A. Anders, 2025-09-16 Designing Instruction with Generative AI offers a novel set of tools and strategies for leveraging generative AI to create engaging and personalized learning experiences While instructional designers are a tremendous asset to higher education not all colleges or universities have the robust staff needed to support all instructors on staff or large student populations Drawing on a wealth of research professional experience and strategic insights this book equips new and seasoned teaching faculty and trainers with step by step directions on how freely accessible artificial intelligence software can assist with all aspects of the course creation and instruction process and cater to the needs of diverse learners Each chapter offers forward thinking and empirically validated ways to help faculty create and improve instructional materials course design and learning environments while supporting their digital literacies Rather than introduce AI as a means of outsourcing subject area expertise critical thinking or cognitive processes the author instead emphasizes its potential to build on traditionally honed knowledge and foundational instructional design practices From optimizing course alignment and accessibility practices to fostering active learning motivation and engagement educators will find new solutions to common teaching and learning challenges with greater efficiency in time and capacity The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1971 Artificial Intelligence and Taxation Law Enrico Gallo, 2025-07-25 This book identifies how artificial intelligence AI systems can be used as part of decision processes within international tax and transfer pricing disputes The issue of double taxation and its impact on economic development continues to escalate as globalization causes states to interact on a growing scale In recent years AI applications have shown potential to solve this issue particularly in reference to the length of time taken to resolve cases of double taxation in the field of transfer pricing These cases can typically take at least two or more years to resolve resulting in high cost to taxpayers and tax administrations The book identifies the current legal frameworks available to prevent and solve tax and more specific transfer pricing disputes and details their advantages and disadvantages Providing an analysis of what AI can offer to different legal principles it shows how this can challenge existing rules and the changes this requires within the legal framework The book provides an overview of the challenges and opportunities that lie at the intersection of AI systems and the domain of international law providing case studies to demonstrate its practical applications It asks and answers the fundamental question Can AI or more specifically machine learning ML replace human decisions within the resolution of international tax and transfer pricing disputes The book will be of interest to researchers in the field of tax law data protection law consumer protection law intellectual property law and artificial intelligence
