SIGGROUP Bulletin ,2000 Remote Cooperation: CSCW Issues for Mobile and Teleworkers Alan J. Dix,Russell Beale,1996-10-18 We are constantly being told we are living in a shrinking world but for many the opposite seems to be the case Our work is increasingly being done out of the traditional office environment whilst traveling at clients premises or at home We are living further from where we work and we work for global organizations and our colleagues and contacts may be in different countries or different continents At the same time our lives are more and more dependent on constant access to information and one another but our connectivity whilst on the move or at home is often far less efficient than that of the fixed office How do we work cooperatively when we are so far apart The Story of Managing Projects Elias G. Carayannis,Young Hoon Kwak,Frank T. Anbari,2005-01-30 Project management has been practiced for thousands of years but only recently have organizations begun to apply systematic management tools and techniques to manage complex projects Today s approaches to project management can be traced directly to methodologies designed by the U S military and Department of Defense in the years after World War II Subsequent advances in management information systems have helped to codify project management practices most recently the Internet has dramatically enhanced the ability of individuals teams and organizations to manage projects across continents and cultures in real time The Story of Managing Projects showcases cutting edge research conducted around the world on emerging practices in project management Covering an enormous spectrum of subjects and industries from an upgrade of the Greek railway system to infrastructure reconstruction in Kuwait the authors explore the full range of inter personal technical and organizational dynamics of project management contributing new insights to its theory and application The Architects' Journal ,1997-09
