Taiwan's Presidential Politics Muthiah Alagappa, 2017-07-28 The March 2000

presidential election was an important milestone in the democratic development of Taiwan with the Kuomintang turned out of power after five decades of control and replaced by the Democratic Progressive Party This book address the variety of effects that Taiwan s democratic development and the election will have on domestic policy in the region Part one looks at trends and changes in Taiwan s politics and analyzes the outcome of the March 2000 election The chapters in part two discuss the international implications of Taiwan s democratic evolution for a variety of issues including political economic and security relations on both sides of the Taiwan strait Japan s foreign policy in the region U S foreign policy in the region and peace and security in Southeast Asia The challenges and prospects for continued democratic consolidation and the implications and lessons for the PRC and Southeast Asia are also explored Democracy in Southern Europe Isabelle Calleja Ragonesi,2019-02-28 How have Malta and Cyprus both EU members transitioned from colonial island states to independent democracies With the assistance of primary documentation this book traces the difficult path of these two states to becoming independent liberal democracies by using the pathway of democratization through decolonization Using socio economic and political data analysed through the microscope of political science and international relations theories Isabelle Calleja Ragonesi charts the progress of the two islands in the context of a number of four distinct phases Firstly decolonization independence and achieving the status of procedural democracies secondly post colonial independence consolidating democracy and regime breakdown thirdly sovereign nation state status and second attempts at consolidating democracy and finally attempting to reach substantive democracy status and EU membership The study of these two states is contextualized within the context of democratization in Southern Europe and the cases of Malta and Cyprus provide new insights on the region for scholars of political science and international institutions Peacebuilding Luc Reychler,Thania Paffenholz,2001 Highlights the contributions of people working in the field and clarifies how fieldworkers fit in the overall peacebuilding process Part I introduces concepts and tools for sustainable peacebuilding with chapters on selecting and training fieldworkers Part II focuses on seven specific peacebuilding activities including mediation monitoring linking development aid and peacebuilding and dealing with the media Part III addresses practical and emotional problems that fieldworkers confront and Part IV provides an overview of lessons learned Reychler teaches international relations and directs the Center for Peace Research and Strategic Studies at the University of Leuven in Belgium Paffenholz is research fellow at the Peace Research Institute in Germany Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Consolidating Taiwan's Democracy John Copper,2005-01-06 Consolidating Taiwan s Democracy assesses the often heard argument that political change in Taiwan especially that resulting from recent elections that brought a change of ruling parties first in the executive branch of government and then the legislative branch proves that Taiwan s democratization has been finalized or consolidated The author sees both positive and negative aspects to democracy s consolidation in Taiwan The Democratization Process in Post-Dayton Bosnia and Herzegovina and the Role of the European Union Lejla

Starčević-Srkalović, 2010 The subject of this dissertation is the analysis of the democratization process in Bosnia and Herzegovina BiH following the Dayton Agreement in 1995 How and to what degree can the democratization process in BiH be discussed in light of existing democratization theories Using theoretical democratization approaches to identify independent variables that influence the democratization process in BiH the focus is on a full set of political institutions and institutional designs that are usually alleged to be important preconditions for the consolidation of democracy Within this framework the question of statehood the constitution making procedure and the resulting institutional framework and the role of international actors in the BiH context are highlighted Finally emphasizing the influence of international factors such as the role of the EU in the democratization process in post communist Europe the EU's influence on this process in BiH is closely examined The book examines the existing democratic structures and processes in BiH with the model of consociational democracy as a specific type of democracy Thereby the applicability and functionality of this model in BiH society is deeply analyzed Dissertation

Korea's New Political Elites in the Age of Consolidating Democracy Jeannie Sung-Eun Cho, 2000 Democratic Innovation in the South, 2008 Politics in the Midst of Terror Markus Österlund, 2001 Issues & Studies, 2001 Perspectives, 2004 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1998-04 Book Review Index, 2003 Vols 8 10 of the 1965 1984 master cumulation constitute a title index American Journal of Chinese Studies, 1998 Developing Democracy Larry Diamond, 1999-05-07 In this book noted political sociologist Larry Diamond sets forth a distinctive theoretical perspective on democratic evolution and consolidation in the late twentieth century Rejecting theories that posit preconditions for democracy and thus dismiss its prospects in poor countries Diamond argues instead for a developmental theory of democracy This he explains is one which views democracy everywhere as a work in progress that emerges piecemeal at different rates in different ways and forms in different countries Diamond begins by assessing the third wave of global democratization that began in 1974 With a wealth of quantitative data and case illustrations he shows that the third wave has come to an end leaving a growing gap between the electoral form and the liberal substance of democracy This underscores the hollow fragile state of many democracies and the imperative of consolidation He then defines the concept of democratic consolidation and identifies the conditions that foster it These include strong political institutions appropriate institutional designs decentralization of power a vibrant civil society and improved economic and political performance If new and troubled democracies are to be consolidated Diamond argues they must become more deeply democratic more liberal accountable and responsive to their citizens Drawing on extensive public opinion research in developing and postcommunist states he demonstrates the importance of freedom transparency and the rule of law for generating the broad legitimacy that is the essence of democratic consolidation The book concludes with a hopeful view of the prospects for a fourth wave of global democratization
