The Consortium on Revolutionary Europe L. Kennett, 1978 The Consortium on Revolutionary Europe L. Kennett, 1978 French Feminism in the 19th Century Claire Goldberg Moses, 1984-01-01

Histories of France have erased the feminist presence from nineteenth century political life and the feminist impact from the changes that affected the lives of the French. Now French Feminism in the Nineteenth Century completes the history books by restoring this missing and vital chapter of French history. The book recounts the turbulent story of nineteenth century French feminism placing it in the context of the general political events that influenced its development. It also examines feminist thought and activities using the very words of the women themselves in books, newspapers, pamphlets, memoirs, diaries, speeches, and letters. Featured is a wealth of previously unpublished personal letters written by Saint Simonian women. These engrossing documents reveal the nuances of changing consciousness and show how it led to an autonomous women's movement. Also explored are the relationships between feminist ideology and women's actual status, legal, social, and economic during the century. Both bourgeois and working class women are surveyed. Beginning with a general survey of feminism in France, the book provides historical context and clarifies the later vicissitudes of the condition feminine.

Women, the Family, and Freedom Susan G. Bell, Karen M. Offen, 1983

This is the first book in a two part collection of 264 primary source documents from the Enlightenment to 1950 chronicling the public debate that raged in Europe and America over the role of women in Western society. The present volume looks at the period from 1750 to 1880. The central issues: motherhood, women's legal position in the family, equality of the sexes, the effect on social stability of women's education and labor extended to women, the struggle by men for personal and political liberty. These issues were political, economic, and religious dynamite. They exploded in debates of philosophers, political theorists, scientists, novelists, and religious and political leaders. This collection emphasizes the debate by juxtaposing prevailing and dissenting points of view.

at given historical moments e g Madame de Sta l vs Rousseau Eleanor Marx vs Pope Leo XIII Strindberg vs Ibsen Simone de Beauvoir vs Margaret Mead Each section is preceded by a contextual headnote pinpointing the documents significance Many of the documents have been translated into English for the first time

Prelinger,1987-02-11 This book examines the religious context from which emerged the German women s movement in the mid nineteenth century During this period Protestant and Catholic women alike began to participate in philanthropic activities such as nursing childcare and education Alliances were formed between women of different faiths who desired to move beyond the feminization of charity to a participation in social change While women continued to perform charitable work they also became involved in the development of a new philosophy of early childhood which led to the kindergarten movement and championed the introduction of higher education for women Using extensive archival research Catherine M Prelinger has cast new light on the roots of the contemporary women s movement in Germany through her analysis of the religious basis of its struggle

Western Society for French History. Meeting,1985 Roosevelt & Hitler Robert Edwin Herzstein,1989 This controversial review of history challenges accepted notions of FDR s behavior on the eve of World War II by depicting him not as a blind follower reluctant to act but as the most cunning anti Nazi statesman of his time Historical Abstracts ,1993 Women in Western European History: From antiquity to the French Revolution Linda Frey,Marsha Frey,Joanne Schneider,1982 The Most Monstrous of Wars Milton Finley,1994 The Most Monstrous of Wars recounts the unprecedented brutality that turned the seemingly simple task of subduing a remote Italian province into one of the most grisly demoralizing struggles Napoleon ever encountered Seasoned by victories in Prussia and Austria the French military met an enemy in Italy for which it was totally unprepared the Calabrian peasant The vicious contest that ensued illustrates the ability of primitively armed guerrillas to cripple a modern well equipped and previously invincible army In the first full length study of the Calabrian War Milton Finley depicts the conflict in all its gory detail as a turning point in the Napoleonic wars and as the prototype for twentieth century guerrilla warfare Drawing on material from military archives and from soldiers memoirs Finley offers a narrative that is as much social history as military chronicle He portrays both the Calabrian and French perspectives from the Calabrian warriors who were motivated by religious fanaticism to pay any price in defense of their province to the French soldiers who when faced with an enemy who excelled in atrocities responded in kind Finley explores the dehumanizing effects of the bloody contest that killed 20 000 French soldiers depleted Napoleon s treasury and escalated to a level of savagery unmatched even in twentieth century combat As he underscores the general futility of partisan warfare Finley blames Napoleon for failing to learn the lesson of Calabria and for becoming embroiled in a similar quagmire in Spain which ultimately cost him his throne
