transcendent aesthetic awe of the sublime and reeling from their personal anguish these talented painters portrayed the terrible beauty of the natural world from an intimate close up perspective Plummy studies the paintings against the pull of the artists lives probing how each finds the sublime in different though inherently connected worlds At once a meditation on the difficulties in achieving truly immortal works of art and an exploration of the relationship between artist and artwork Elegy Landscapes takes a wide angle look at the philosophy of the sublime Constable in Love Martin Gayford,2009 When John Constable fell in love with Maria Bicknell granddaughter of a Suffolk country neighbour he little knew how long it would take to make her his wife The impediment to their marriage was simple that necessary article cash He was a painter without sufficient funds to support the daughter of a wealthy London lawyer and both her father and her grandfather the formidable and sometimes comical Rector of East Bergholt disapproved of the match It would be seven long difficult years before they could marry but in that time he would become one of the greatest painters of the nineteenth century Martin Gayford writes superbly about Constable s early years as a painter and Maria and John s correspondence provides the lively backdrop to the story one of their lovers tiffs London versus country life encounters with Turner Byron and Wordsworth royal Academy And all the time John Constable is battling to become a painter who can earn his living and win Maria s hand John Constable James Hamilton,2022-11-01 A fresh and lively biography of the revolutionary landscape painter John Constable John Constable who captured the landscapes and skies of southern England in a way never before seen on canvas is beloved but little understood artist His paintings reflect visions of landscape that shocked and perplexed his contemporaries attentive to detail spontaneous in gesture brave in their use of color His landscapes show that he had sharp local knowledge of the environment His skyscapes show a clarity of expression rarely seen in other artist s work The figures within show an understanding of the human tides of his time And his late paintings of Salisbury Cathedral show a rare ability to transform silent suppressed passion into paint Constable was also an active and energetic correspondent His letters and diaries reveal a man of opinion passion and discord His letters also reveal the lives and circumstances of his extended family who serve to define the social and economic landscape against which he can be most clearly seen These multifaceted reflections draw a sharp picture of the person as well as the painter James Hamilton s biography reveals a complex and troubled man Hamilton s portrait explodes previous mythologies about this timeless artist and establishes him in his proper context as a giant of European art John Constable Anthony Bailey,2012-03-31 Born in 1776 in East Anglia near the river Stour John Constable was destined for his father s business of milling and grain shipping But he was obdurately opposed to this and persuaded his family he should become an artist instead In the same determined spirit he wooed Maria Bicknell in the teeth of opposition from her formidable grandfather and persisted in painting landscapes at a time when history paintings and portraits were the fashion Sometimes sharp and sarcastic and often depressed Constable in fact possessed a warm gift for intimate friendship This is revealed in his letters to John Dunthorne village handyman and housepainter and to his best friend and patron archdeacon John Fisher to whom he wrote I have a kingdom of my own both fertile and populous my landscape and my children In recent times after a period of relative ignominy Constable's influence on British landscape painting has been re acknowledged he has been more widely exhibited and his reputation has been reestablished as one of the masters of his genre This important and absorbing biography explores his life and work and highlights the dramatic tension between the two

Constable - CLOUDS IN PAINTINGS & SKETCHES E. L. Helton PhD, 2021-12-15 Born in East Bergholt Suffolk on 11 June 1776 Constable was the second son of the six children of Golding Constable and Ann Watts He was educated at a private school in Lavenham and at the grammar school in Dedham subsequently joining the family business of which it was intended he would succeed as manager He learned the technique of painting from John Dunthorne a local plumber and glazier who was an amateur painter and was encouraged by Sir George Beaumont Staying with relatives at Edmonton in 1796 he met John Cranch a mediocre artist whose style he imitated and John Thomas Smith the antiquarian draftsman with whom he made drawings of picturesque cottages In 1799 his father gave him an allowance to enter the Royal Academy Schools reluctantly consenting in 1802 to his becoming a professional painter That same year Constable showed his first landscape at the Academy where he was to exhibit nearly every year until his death and acquired a studio opposite the family house He spent summers in East Bergholt sketching from nature until 1817 in the autumn of 1806 he made a two month visit to the Lake District In 1809 Constable met and fell in love with Maria Bicknell but he was unable to marry her until 1816 owing to the opposition of Maria's grandfather After the marriage the couple lived in London first on Keppel Street then after 1822 on Charlotte Street The marriage which was the prelude to Constable's finest work was a deeply happy one and there were seven children to whom the artist was devoted Maria's health was far from robust however and she died in 1828 a blow from which Constable never fully recovered An Elementary History of Art N. D'Anvers, 1895 Late Constable Hb

, 2021-11-15 On John Constable as a proto abstractionist of pastoral landscape One of Britain's greatest landscape painters John Constable was brought up in Dedham Vale the valley of the River Stour in Suffolk The eldest son of a wealthy mill owner he entered the Royal Academy Schools in 1800 at the age of 24 and thereafter committed himself to painting nature out of doors His six footers such as The Hay Wain and The Leaping Horse were designed to promote landscape as a subject and to stand out in the Academy's Annual Exhibition Despite this he sold few paintings in his lifetime and was elected a Royal Academician late in his career With texts by leading authorities on the artist this handsome book looks at the freedom of Constable's late works and records his enormous contribution to the English landscape tradition John Constable 1776 1837 is one of Britain's best known artists and is often considered one of the greatest landscape painters of all time. He was born near the River Stour in Suffolk, an area the artist depicted so frequently that it is referred to as Constable country. Pastoral scenes were unfashionable at the time, and Constable struggled to establish himself as a painter. He was finally elected a Royal Academician in 1829, and in 1832 he exhibited The Opening of Waterloo Bridge, an effort 13 years in the making, at the Summer Exhibition.

Constable Barry Venning, 2015-09-15 John Constable was the first English landscape painter to take no lessons from the Dutch. He is rather indebted to the landscapes of Rubens, but his real model was Gainsborough, whose landscapes with great trees planted in well-balanced masses on land sloping upwards towards the frame have a rhythm often found in Rubens. Constable's originality does not lie in his choice of subjects, which frequently repeated themes beloved by Gainsborough. Nevertheless, Constable seems to belong to a new century; he ushered in a new era. The difference in his approach results both from technique and feeling. Excepting the French, Constable was the first landscape painter to consider as a primary and essential task the sketch made direct from nature at a single sitting, an idea which contains in essence the destinies of modern landscape and perhaps of most modern painting. It is this momentary impression of all things which will be the soul of the future work. Working at leisure upon the large canvas, an artist's aim is to enrich and complete the sketch while retaining its pristine freshness. These are the two processes to which Constable devoted himself while discovering the exuberant abundance of life in the simplest of country places. He had the palette of a creative colourist and a technique of vivid hatchings heralding that of the French impressionists. He audaciously and frankly introduced green into painting the green of lush meadows, the green of summer foliage, all the greens which until then painters had refused to see except through bluish yellow or more often brown spectacles. Of the great landscape painters who occupied so important a place in nineteenth-century art, Corot was probably the only one to escape the influence of Constable. All the others are more or less direct descendants of the master of East Bergholt.
