Constitutional Law Donald E. Lively, Phoebe A. Haddon, Dorothy E. Roberts, Russell L. Weaver, 1997-08      Constitutional Law Donald E. Lively, 1996      Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1998-04      Democratizing Constitutional Law Thomas Bustamante, Bernardo Gonçalves Fernandes, 2016-04-19 This volume critically discusses the relationship between democracy and constitutionalism. It does so with a view to respond to objections raised by legal and political philosophers who are sceptical of judicial review based on the assumption that judicial review is an undemocratic institution. The book builds on earlier literature on the moral justification of the authority of constitutional courts and on the current attempts to develop a system on weak judicial review. Although different in their approach the chapters all focus on devising institutions procedures and in a more abstract way normative conceptions to democratize constitutional law. These democratizing strategies may vary from a radical objection to the institution of judicial review to a more modest proposal to justify the authority of constitutional courts in their deliberative performance or to create constitutional juries that may be more aware of a community's constitutional morality than constitutional courts are. The book connects abstract theoretical discussions about the moral justification of constitutionalism with concrete problems such as the relation between constitutional adjudication and deliberative democracy, the legitimacy of judicial review in international institutions, the need to create new institutions to democratize constitutionalism, the connections between philosophical conceptions and constitutional practices, the judicial review of constitutional amendments and the criticism on strong judicial review.      The Publishers Weekly, 1896

Mark McKenna writes passionately explaining why the two great symbolic issues of Australian politics in the 1990s, the republic and reconciliation, are linked intimately to one another. The only way forward is a reconciled republic, a republic founded on the full recognition of Australia's history.

1984, Civil Liberties and the National Security State United States. Congress. House. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties, and the Administration of Justice, 1985      Public Policy in International Economic Law Diane Desierto, 2015-02-19 States reject inequality when they choose to ratify the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR) but to date the ICESCR has not yet figured prominently in the policy calculus behind States' international economic decisions. This book responds to the modern challenge of operationalizing the ICESCR, particularly in the context of States' decisions within international trade, finance, and investment. Differentiating between public policy mechanisms and institutional functional mandates in the international trade finance and investment systems this book shows legal and policy gateways for States to feasibly translate their fundamental duties to respect protect and fulfil economic social and cultural rights into their trade finance and investment commitments agreements and contracts It approaches the problem of harmonizing social protection objectives under the ICESCR with a State s international economic treaty obligations from the designing and interpreting international treaty texts up to the institutional monitoring and empirical analysis of ICESCR compliance In examining public policy options the book takes into account around five decades of States implementation of social protection commitments under the ICESCR its normative evolution through the UN Committee on Economic Social and Cultural Rights and the Committee s expanded fact finding and adjudicative competences under the Optional Protocol to the ICESCR as well as the critical dialectical and deliberative roles of diverse functional interpretive communities within international trade finance and investment law Ultimately the book shoes how States ICESCR commitments operate as the normative foundation of their trade finance and investment decisions
