Women as Objects of Men in Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice" Matthias Billen,2011 Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2009 im Fachbereich Anglistik Literatur Note 2,0 Universität Trier Sprache Deutsch Abstract 1 Introduction The relationship between women and men and the broader social judicial familial psychological or political ramifications of this relationship is an ongoing topic in the cultural arena with discussions of varying degrees of intensity and often with extremely different conclusions The movement of feminism can be seen as initiator but also as a catalyst or as an outcome of these discussions But there is no monolithic block of feminism and no single literary theory of feminism but one major landmark in the evolution of feminism is the publication of Simone de Beauvoir's book Le Deuxième Sexe in 1949 By tracing back women's role and position in society with different methods she stresses that the oppression of women is due to patriarchy pervading almost all societies Turning back to literature this description of patriarchy can usefully be applied in analysing a drama such as Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice 1998 The female characters in this comedy are embedded in societal structures of patriarchy This can be seen in the influence of father figures the economic principles which underlie their existence and the final subjection to their husbands even though they actively participate But eventually they remain in their traditional role not being able to subvert the societal system effectively To support this thesis the concept of feminism will be discussed especially in regard of de Beauvoir's viewpoint In a second step the role of women in the Renaissance will be concerned immediately referring to the play and its female characters

Making a Difference Gayle Green,Coppélia Kahn,2004-01-10 Feminist scholarship employs gender as a fundamental organizing category of human experience holding two related premises men and women have different perceptions or experiences in the same contexts the male perspective having been dominant in fields of knowledge and that gender is not a natural fact but a social construct a subject to study in any humanistic discipline This challenging collection of essays by prominent feminist literary critics offers a comprehensive introduction to modes of critical practice being used to trace the construction of gender in literature The collection provides an invaluable overview of current feminist critical thinking Its essays address a wide range of topics the relevance of gender scholarship in the social sciences to literary criticism the tradition of women's literature and its relation to the canon the politics of language French theories of the feminine psychoanalysis and feminism feminist criticism of writing by lesbians and black women the relationship between female subjectivity class and sexuality feminist readings of the canon
