Constructing Class And Nationality In Alsace 1830:

Constructing Class and Nationality in Alsace, 1830-1945 David Allen Harvey, 2001 For more than a century Alsace was the most contested region in western Europe a battleground for ethnic and cultural identity in an era of rampant nationalism Harvey's compelling analysis of working class politics and nationality explains the successive attempts of French and German authorities to impose one national identity on the region and shows how workers responded by adopting a cultural policy that reflected their own political and class interests Harvey argues that the course of historical events along the Rhine led Alsatians to identify finally with the French republican state even though Alsace was culturally closer to Germany than to France the victory of politics and class over culture and blood In addition to revealing the pragmatism of Alsatian workers Harvey integrates their identity into regional history to portray the consecutive stages of the region's ongoing cultural definition A complex dialogue between ideology and experience shaped the workers successive embrace of French republicanism German socialist democracy and Alsatian autonomism frustrating both French and German nationalists Based upon extensive archival research Constructing Class and Nationality in Alsace will be of vital interest to those concerned with questions of collective identity class and political culture as well as to students and scholars of both French and German history

Ethnicizing Europe Éva Kovács, Raul Cârstocea, Gábor Egry, 2025-07-15 Ethnicizing Europe focuses on the dynamics of interethnic violence in Europe between the two world wars The new international system that was enshrined by the Versailles peace treaties after World War I did not bring stability to East Central Europe Rather it resulted in a host of conditions like self determination international oversight revolutionary political ideas and democratic processes which eventually gave new meaning to already established conflicts as well as igniting new conflicts in the region This book opens with a discussion of the theoretical scholarship on ethnicity before proceeding to specific case studies investigating the different ways in which ethnicity was enacted and contested during a period of European transformation focusing mostly on ethnically heterogeneous locales Rather than concentrating on either political violence or ethnonationalism this collection brings these two literatures together to show how ethnicization the legal concepts of citizenship and violence were intertwined in post Versailles Europe not only shaping the period between the wars but also the Europe we know today The book concludes with an afterword by Tara Zahra which expands this perspective to the wider transatlantic region

German-occupied Europe in the Second World War Raffael Scheck, Fabien Théofilakis, Julia Torrie, 2019-03-04 Inspired by recent works on Nazi empire this book provides a framework to guide occupation research with a broad comparative angle focusing on human interactions Overcoming national compartmentalization it examines Nazi occupations with attention to relations between occupiers and local populations and differences among occupation regimes This is a timely book which engages in historical and current conversations on European nationalisms and the rise of right wing populisms

National Identities in France Brian Sudlow, 2017-09-08 National Identities in France explores nationalism

national identities and the various ways in which these concepts are accepted adapted discarded or internally disputed across ideological divides The popular assumption that automatically regards nationalism as a largely right wing concern occludes the many ways in which nationalism and national identities have contributed to social imagination and political or literary discourses across the right left spectrum The critical grounds on which such reflections are undertaken are rich and varied The idea of invented traditions has long suggested how such a thing as the modern nation state could vest itself in the creatively assembled robes of a dim and distant past In plotting the ground on which nationalisms are located previous studies have shown among other things the uses and limitations of the distinction of ethnic and civic nationalism Studies on national development reveal the imitative process that brought about nation building in former colonies of the Western powers Each chapter asks important questions concerning nationalism and national identities in relation to France With nationalism apparently stable distinctions collapse under the pressure of French national identity The signs are that French national identities and nationalisms are in a constant state of reinvention and negotiation of periodic crisis and constant rebirth If political classes attempt to manipulate national identity for some larger project they have no monopoly on the social imaginary National mobilization is a multiple and polysemic process not a univocal and rigid ideology Constructing

French Alsace William Shane Story, 2001 Place and Locality in Modern France Philip Whalen, Patrick

Young, 2014-10-23 Place and Locality in Modern France analyses the significance and changing constructions of local place in modern France Drawing on the expertise of a range of scholars from around the world this book provides a timely overview of the cross disciplinary thinking that is currently taking place over a central issue in French history The contributed chapters address a range of subjects that include the politics of administrative reform decentralization regionalism and local advocacy the role of commerce in engendering narratives and experience of local place the importance of ethnic class gender and race distinctions in shaping local connection and identity the generation and transmission of knowledge about local place and culture through academia civic heritage and popular memory As a reconsideration of the local in French history Place and Locality in Modern France bridges the divide between micro and macro history for all those interested in ideas of locality and culture in modern French and European history Cartophilia Catherine Tatiana Dunlop, 2015-05-11 The period between the French Revolution and World War II was a time of tremendous growth in both mapmaking and map reading throughout Europe There is no better place to witness this rise of popular cartography than in Alsace Lorraine a disputed borderland that the French and Germans both claimed as their national territory Desired for its prime geographical position and abundant natural resources Alsace Lorraine endured devastating wars from 1870 to 1945 that altered its borders four times transforming its physical landscape and the political allegiances of its citizens For the border population whose lives were turned upside down by the French German conflict maps became essential tools for finding a new sense of place and a new sense of identity in their changing national and regional communities Turning to a previously undiscovered archive of popular maps Cartophilia reveals Alsace Lorraine's lively world of citizen mapmakers that included linguists ethnographers schoolteachers hikers and priests Together this fresh group of mapmakers invented new genres of maps that framed French and German territory in original ways through experimental surveying techniques orientations scales colors and iconography In focusing on the power of bottom up maps to transform modern European identities Cartophilia argues that the history of cartography must expand beyond the study of elite maps and shift its emphasis to the democratization of cartography in the modern world Left History, 2001 France, 1800-1914 Roger Magraw, 2002 Nineteenth century France was a society of apparent paradoxes It is famous for periodic and bloody revolutionary upheavals for class conflict and for religious disputes yet it was marked by relative demographic stability gradual urbanisation and modest economic change class conflict and ongoing religious and cultural tensions Incorporating much recent research Roger Magraw draws both upon still valuable insights derived from the new social history of the 1960s and upon more recent approaches suggested by gender history cultural anthropology and the linguistic turn International Review of Social History, 1956 Nations and Nationalism Guntram H. Herb, David H. Kaplan, 2008-05-22 Nations and Nationalism helps students researchers and other interested readers explore national identities and nationalistic movements in historical context Organized chronologically its four volumes combine thematic essays on different characteristics of nationalism with case studies of key historical developments involving specific nations at specific times The encyclopedia focuses on Europe Latin America Africa and Asia with featured coverage of nationalist cultural creations including literature music symbols and mythologies German Politics and Society, 2001 Europe 1789 to 1914 John M. Merriman, J. M. Winter, 2006 A five volume survey of European history from the onset of the French Revolution to the outbreak of World War Alphabetically arranged entries cover the period's most significant personalities and meaningful developments in the arts religion politics exploration and warfare For students scholars and general readers Disputed Territories and Shared Pasts Tibor Frank, Frank Hadler, 2011-01-15 National historical writings in Europe traditionally deal with acts of aggression hostile neighbours and international conflicts across borders presenting history as a narrative of suffering and victories For centuries national histories have been constructed as sequences of battles and wars with war heroes playing key roles Yet major victories for any one nation invariably cause tragedies for others Historians in different national communities have written comparable histories about their shared pasts in contested territories it is this phenomenon that we call overlapping national histories in this book Disputed Territories Shared Pasts focuses on the historiographical overlaps in Europe presenting many of the contested areas alongside state borders in historical regions between states and among ethnic groups and nations within states Sponsored by the European Science Foundation the present volume is part of the Writing the Nation series a major international project on the history of historiography in Europe Back cover Questions of Assimilation Within the Reception of Victor Klemperer's Autobiographical Texts in Post-Wall Germany Bernard Reuter, 2007 Program of the ... Annual Meeting American

Historical Association. Meeting, 2002      Choice, 2002      Publications of the State of Illinois 1994,      The Book Review Digest, 2003      Perspectives on Life After a History Ph.D. Richard E. Bond, P. Sudhir, 2005 Intended as a complement to Melanie Gustafson's Becoming a Historian this volume gathers articles from Perspectives that take an in-depth look at specific options on the career paths for history PhDs exploring a range of opportunities in public history teaching and academia while also offering practical advice on CVs and interviews and how to get that first article or book published
