Constructing Race:

Constructing Race and Ethnicity in America Dvora Yanow, 2015-02-18 What do we mean in the U S today when we use the terms race and ethnicity What do we mean and what do we understand when we use the five standard race ethnic categories White Black Asian Native American and Hispanic Most federal and state data collection agencies use these terms without explicit attention and thereby create categories of American ethnicity for political purposes Dvora Yanow argues that race and ethnicity are socially constructed concepts not objective scientifically grounded variables and do not accurately represent the real world She joins the growing critique of the unreflective use of race and ethnicity in American policymaking through an exploration of how these terms are used in everyday practices Her book is filled with current examples and analyses from a wealth of social institutions health care education criminal justice and government at all levels The questions she raises for society and public policy are endless Yanow maintains that these issues must be addressed explicitly publicly and nationally if we are to make our policy and administrative institutions operate more effectively

Constructing Race

Tracy Teslow, 2014-07-21 Constructing Race helps unravel the complicated and intertwined history of race and science in America Tracy Teslow explores how physical anthropologists in the twentieth century struggled to understand the complexity of human physical and cultural variation and how their theories were disseminated to the public through art museum exhibitions books and pamphlets In their attempts to explain the history and nature of human peoples anthropologists persistently saw both race and culture as critical components This is at odds with a broadly accepted account that suggests racial science was fully rejected by scientists and the public following World War II This book offers a corrective showing that both race and culture informed how anthropologists and the public understood human variation from 1900 through the decades following the war The book offers new insights into the work of Franz Boas Ruth Benedict and Ashley Montagu as well as less well known figures including Harry Shapiro Gene Weltfish and Henry Field

Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe Marsha Morton, Barbara Larson, 2021-03-25 Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe investigates the visual imagery of race construction in Scandinavia Austro Hungary Germany and Russia It covers a period when historic disciplines of ethnography and anthropology were expanding and theorists of race were debating competing conceptions of biological geographic linguistic and cultural determinants Beginning in 1850 and extending into the early 21st century this book explores how paintings photographs prints and other artistic media engaged with these discourses and shaped visual representations of subordinate ethnic populations and material cultures in countries associated with theorizations of white identity The chapters contribute to postcolonial research by documenting the colonial style treatment of minority groups by exploring the anomalies and complexities that emerge when binary systems are seen from the perspective of the fine and applied arts and by representing the voices of those who produced images or objects that adopted altered or critiqued ethnographic and anthropological information In doing so Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe uncovers instances of unexpected connections establishes the fabricated nature of ethnic identity and challenges the certainties of racial categorization

Blackness Without Ethnicity L. Sansone, 2003-08-01 Blackness Without Ethnicity draws on fifteen years of his research in Bahia Rio Suriname and Amsterdam Sansone uses his findings to explore the very different ways that race and ethnicity are constructed in Brazil and the rest of Latin America He compares these Latin American conceptions of race to dominate notions of race that are defined by a black white polarity and clearly identifiable ethnicities formulations he sees as highly influenced by the US and to a lesser degree Western Europe Sansone argues that understanding more complex and ambiguous notions of culture and identity will expand the international discourse on race and move it away from American dominated notions that are not adequate to describe racial difference in other countries and also in the countries where the notions originated He also explores the effects of globalization on constructions of race

Recovering History, Constructing Race Martha Menchaca, 2001 In this book it is my intent to write about the Mexican American people s Indian White and Black racial history In doing so I offer an interpretive historical analysis of the experiences of the Mexican Americans ancestors in Mexico and the United States This analysis begins with the Mexican Americans prehistoric foundations and continues into the late twentieth century My focus however is on exploring the legacy of racial discrimination that was established in the aftermath of the Spanish conquest and was later intensified by the United States government when in 1848 it conquered northern Mexico presently the U S Southwest and annexed it to the United States Menchaca 1999 3 The central period of study ranges from 1570 to 1898 Page 1
