

The relationship between language, discourse and identity has always been a major area of sociolinguistic investigation. In more recent times, the field has been revolutionised as previous models – which assumed that identities to be based on stable relationships between linguistic and social variables – have been challenged by pioneering new approaches to the topic. This research paper entitled Identity Construction in Discourse brings together the points of view of the leading experts in discourse and identity explore in a range of social contexts.

Construction of an Identity Discourse Subhakanta Behera, 2002 This Book Focuses Primarily On The Oriya Identity As Defined And Constructed In The Two Important Oriya Identity I E Oriya Literature And The Jagannath Cult Discursive Construction of National Identity Ruth Wodak, 2009-01-19 How do we construct national identities in discourse Which topics which discursive strategies and which linguistic devices are employed to construct national sameness and uniqueness on the one hand and differences to other national collectives on the other hand The Discursive Construction of National Identity analyses discourses of national identity in Europe with particular attention to Austria In the tradition of critical discourse analysis the authors analyse current and on going transformations in the self and other definition of national identities using an innovative interdisciplinary approach which combines discourse historical theory and methodology and political science perspectives Thus the rhetorical promotion of national identification and the discursive construction and reproduction of national difference on public semi public and semi private levels within a nation state are analysed in much detail and illustrated with a huge amount of examples taken from many genres speeches focus groups interviews media and so forth In addition to the critical discourse analysis of multiple genres accompanying various commemorative and celebratory events in 1995 this extended and revised edition is able to draw comparisons with similar events in 2005 The impact of socio political changes in Austria and in the European Union is also made transparent in the attempts of constructing hegemonic national identities Writing and Identity Roz Ivani?, 1998 Writing is not just about conveying content but also about the representation of self One of the reasons people find writing difficult is that they do not feel comfortable with the me they are portraying in their writing Academic writing in particular often poses a conflict of identity for students in higher education because the self which is inscribed in academic discourse feels alien to them The main claim of this book is that writing is an act of identity in which people align themselves with socio culturally shaped subject positions and thereby play their part in reproducing or challenging dominant practices and discourses and the values beliefs and interests which they embody The first part of the book reviews recent understandings of social identity of the discursive construction of identity of literacy and identity and of issues of identity in research on academic writing The main part of the book is based on a collaborative research project about writing and identity with mature age students providing a case study of one writer s dilemmas over the presentation of self a discussion of the way in which writers life histories shape their presentation of self in writing an interview based study of issues of ownership and of accommodation and resistance to conventions for the presentation of self linguistic analysis of the ways in which multiple often contradictory interests values beliefs and practices are inscribed in discourse conventions which set up a range of possibilities for self hood for writers The book ends with implications of the study for research on writing and identity and for the learning and teaching of academic writing The book will be of interest to students and researchers in the fields of social identity literacy discourse analysis

rhetoric and composition studies and to all those concerned to understand what is involved in academic writing in order to provide wider access to higher education

Migration and the Construction of National Identity in Spain Désirée Kleiner-Liebau, 2009 Public debate about immigrant integration has often led to a heightened awareness or even a collective redefinition of identity. Such processes are studied through the unique example of Spain

The Discursive Construction of Identities On- and Offline Birte Bös, Sonja Kleinke, Sandra Mollin, Nuria Hernández, 2018-07-23 This volume explores linguistic identity construction across online and offline contexts. The contributors focus on identity as an overarching aspect and offer a multifaceted operationalisation of the linguistic processes of identity construction. The studies address three major strands of human identity each of which can be thought of as an aggregative abstraction with its own complexities: personal identity, group identity and collective identity. The contributions pay special attention to the interplay between the public and private dimensions of the interactions and audiences as well as the potential impact of social and technical affordances of different communicative settings and online and offline modes of identity construction. The volume is aimed at all researchers concerned with the complex notion of identity both in linguistics and in neighbouring disciplines

Strategies of Identity Construction Stefan J. Schustereder, 2015-09-16 Based on an analysis of a variety of early medieval writings from Britain including De Excidio et Conquestu Britanniae by the Briton Gildas, the early Welsh collection of stanzas commonly referred to as Y Gododdin and the Venerable Bede's Historia Ecclesiastica Gentis Anglorum, his Historia Abbatum and Chronica Maior, Strategies of Identity Construction provides evidence of an active and productive medieval discourse of ethnic and political identity construction in Britain. The book demonstrates that different gentes, even competing peoples, use the same strategies to construct and communicate their identities. This phenomenon is not only visible when comparing the different writings which were subject to analysis in this research but can also be seen when analyzing changes the writings underwent during the transmission processes of their manuscripts throughout the Middle Ages. Elements of a discourse of identity construction here not only appear to be productive but can also be seen in close connection with historical political and social developments at the same time, rendering the study of the discourse of identity construction an important tool for providing a modern understanding of medieval politics and societies in periods of change and transition

Analysing Identities in Discourse Rosana Dolón, Júlia Todolí, 2008-04-23 The discursive construction of identity is often under the control of the dominant forces in society and frequently results in forms of manipulation and abuse. This awareness led to the celebration of the First International Conference on CDA Valencia 2004 where over three hundred academics working in the field of Critical Discourse Analysis became actively engaged in this important issue. The seven studies included in this volume have been selected as representative of those areas of human experience that have been given most intellectual attention and considered to be in fact in need for critical unravelling. Ethnic categorization in multicultural classrooms, patriotic discourse construction in Chinese readers the denial of Palestinian identity in schoolbooks the diverse constructions of European identities Arabs constructing themselves on the worldwide web identity construction in sexual assault trials the representations of a dangerous other in cases of PLWHAs are the contextual perspectives embraced in this book to account for forms of power abuse in the discursive construction of identities

The Discursive Construction of European Identities Michał Krzyżanowski, 2010 This book looks at the discursive construction of European identities in a variety of institutional and non institutional contexts and through a variety of social and political actors Its multilevel and interdisciplinary approach rooted in the Discourse Historical tradition of Critical Discourse Analysis allows for a comparison of identity constructions at different levels of Europe's social and political organisation and in different modes of communication The book analyses discourses as diverse as those of the EU politicians of Europe's national media as well as of migrants living in Europe It offers a set of integrated models and analytical procedures which bring to the fore the inherent dynamism and complexity of both bottom up and top down European identity constructions

Identity Construction and Illness Narratives in Persons with Disabilities Charlotte Glinborg, Manuel L. de la Mata, 2020-08-31 This book investigates how being diagnosed with various disabilities impacts on identity Once diagnosed with a disability there is a risk that this label can become the primary status both for the person diagnosed as well as for their family This reification of the diagnosis can be oppressive because it subjugates humanity in such a way that everything a person does can be interpreted as linked to their disability Drawing on narrative approaches to identity in psychology and social sciences the bio psycho social model and a holistic approach to disabilities the chapters in this book understand disability as constructed in discourse as negotiated among speaking subjects in social contexts and as emergent By doing so they amplify voices that may have otherwise remained silent and use storytelling as a way of communicating the participants realities to provide a more in depth understanding of their point of view This book will be of interest to all scholars and students of disability studies sociology medical humanities disability research methods narrative

Mole, 2007-07-12 This volume brings together specialists from a range of disciplines to discuss the discursive construction of ethnic national and regional identities and analyse how specific identity discourses condition and constrain knowledge and action with regard to various socio political issues in Europe Identity Construction in David Lynch's Blue Velvet and Mulholland Drive Ina Brauckhoff, 2008-06 Seminar paper from the year 2008 in the subject Film Science grade 1 2 University of Modena e Reggio Emilia Universit degli studi di Modena e Reggio Emilia Facolt di Lettere e Filosofia course Border Crossings Constructing Personal and Social Identity in Film 13 entries in the bibliography language English abstract In the two selected David Lynch movies a shared motif becomes apparent the question of identity Therefore I define border crossing as the crossing of a psychological border within a person making possible to live out different part identities Jeffrey in Blue Velvet as well as Betty Diane in Mulholland Drive have two different identities i e they are presented to us in two different roles a psychological border crossing takes place In either case the concepts of identity and identity construction which were current at the date of the movies origin are represented Framing these concepts in relation to the time they were made it becomes clear that we are dealing with innovative groundbreaking ideas Thus I compare the films relating to how they express identity construction and the therewith combined border crossing Hereupon I will relate this analysis to the history of identity to make clear in which sense the dealing with the identity discourse is innovative in both of the films Finally I will discuss the question if the presented border crossings are still border crossings today or if they have already become habits To find an answer I will classify the movies within the film history and explain how the film socialization determines the spectators readings I suggest that both films despite all their differences actually tell the same story only that there are sixteen years of film history between them causing the different ways of narrating A second border crossing becomes apparent a border crossing between the two films Terror and Liberty - The Construction of a National Image and the Manufacturing of an Enemy in the United States Thomas Plöger, 2009-02-17 Examination Thesis from the year 2005 in the subject American Studies Culture and Applied Geography grade 1 00 Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg language English abstract This paper contains an analysis of the rhetoric that was employed by President George W Bush to describe the events of 9 11 and their consequences This interest arises from the assumption that the presidential rhetoric had a powerful influence on the chain of events that followed after the attack on the WTC and that many if not most of the initial reactions were based on meanings that were constructed by the government It is the task of this essay to show that the most crucial influences that the President had on the discourse were his constructions of the American people and the terrorist enemies and his definition of the 9 11 attacks as an act of war The rhetoric that was used to convey these concepts is in its terminology and imagery specific to US American culture It therefore largely works as this essay intends to show

within a specifically American framework of cultural references The essay isolates a number of narrative paradigms that the presidential rhetoric either adopts or constructs and keeps returning to as motifs for the construction of its overall rationale

Beyond Post-colonialism. The construction of Identities Through Muting and Absenting of the Other. Ahmed Musa, 2021-07-19 Essay from the year 2021 in the subject Cultural Studies Middle Eastern Studies grade 95 language English abstract This paper is an attempt to trace the absence of the West in the cultural creative modes of knowledge productions that emerged post the Arab social movements in Tunisia and Egypt Whenever we discuss or approach the subject of the construction of identities in post colonial studies the West who I represent here as the other is largely but not entirely perceived as consolidating against or formulating the identities of the East or the identities of the Rest This is evident in not only the revered works of prominent theorists like Edward Said Homi Bhabha and Gayatri Spivak but also in the works of other post colonial theorists and writers that emerged afterward However during the Arab Spring one of the most solidaristic and transcultural Arab movements that searched for more stable governing models at crossroads of global regional and national challenges creative new forms of formulating identities beyond post colonial theory emerged such as the Arab Spring poetic slogans as creative modes of knowledge production which moved away from the previous discourse of the post colonial Arab intellectuals built on a bifurcation identity and also in tandem revolting the internal regimes of knowledge production The new forms of cultural productions not only represented moments of self emergency social solidarity and construction of the self during traumatic moments but also in tandem absented and muted the West and East binaries and antithesis of representation
