

Another point about constructive philosophy:

- ❖ Traditionally, the aim of constructive philosophy was quite ambitious. It was to construct a comprehensive, coherent, & intellectually (& perhaps emotionally) satisfying world-view or philosophical system in which everything “falls into place,” has meaning, & makes sense.
- ❖ However, in modern times, many (but not all) constructive philosophers have tended to be more modest in their aims, attempting to answer only a few of the major philosophical questions without attempting the construction of a world-view or philosophical system.

(This is more true of Western than of Eastern philosophy.)

André Kukla

Constructive Philosophy:

The Relevance of Hegel's Concept of Philosophy Luca Illetterati, Giovanna Miolli, 2021-12-16 In a systematic treatment of Hegel's concept of philosophy and all of the different aspects related to it this collection explores how Hegel and his understanding of his discipline can be put into dialogue with current metaphilosophical inquiries and shed light on the philosophical examination of the nature of philosophy itself Taking into account specific aspects of Hegel's elaboration on philosophy such the scientificity of philosophy as a self grounding rational process and his explanation of the relationship between philosophy and the history of philosophy an international line up of contributors consider Hegel's concept of philosophy in general from skepticism idealism history and difference to time politics and religion The relation of Hegel's concept of philosophy to other philosophical traditions and philosophers including Kant Fichte Schelling and Jacobi Hegel's concept of philosophy with reference to philosophy's relation to other forms of rationality and disciplines The relation of Hegel's concept of philosophy to specific issues in present metaphilosophical debates Reflecting the renewed and widespread interest in Hegel seen in Analytic philosophy and Continental thought this volume advances study of Hegel's conceptual tools and provides new readings of traditional philosophical problems

Elements of Constructive Philosophy John Stuart Mackenzie, 1919

Social Constructivism and the Philosophy of Science André Kukla, 2000 Social constructionists maintain that we invent the properties of the world rather than discover them Is reality constructed by our own activity Do we collectively invent the world rather than discover it Andr Kukla presents a comprehensive discussion of the philosophical issues that arise out of this debate analysing the various strengths and weaknesses of a range of constructivist arguments and arguing that current philosophical objections to constructivism are inconclusive However Kukla offers and develops new objections to constructivism distinguishing between the social causes of scientific beliefs and the view that all ascertainable facts are constructed
