Vulnerable Consumers and the Law Christine Riefa, Severine Saintier, 2020-10-27 This book charts the difficulties encountered by vulnerable consumers in their access to justice through the contributions of prominent authors academic practitioners and consultants in the field of consumer law and access to justice It demonstrates that despite the development of ADR access to justice is still severely lacking for the vulnerable consumer The book highlights that a broad understanding of access to justice which encompasses good regulation and its public enforcement is an essential ingredient alongside access to the mechanisms of traditional private justice courts and ADR to protect the vulnerable consumer Indeed many of the difficulties are linked to normative obstacles and lack of access to justice is primarily a vulnerability in itself that can exacerbate existing ones In addition because it may contribute to pushing already vulnerable consumers into social exclusion it is not simply about economic justice but also about social justice The book shows that lack of access to justice is not irreversible nor is it necessarily linked to consumer apathy New technologies could provide solutions The book concludes with a plea for developing inclusive justice systems with more emphasis on public enforcement alongside effective courts systems to offer the vulnerable with adequate means to defend themselves This book will be suitable for both students and practitioners and all those with an interest in the justice system

Information Obligations and Disinformation of Consumers Gert Straetmans, 2019-09-05 This book focuses on recent developments in consumer law specifically addressing mandatory disclosures and the topical problem of information overload It provides a comparative analysis based on national reports from countries with common law and civil law traditions in Asia America and Europe and presents the reports in the form of chapters that have been drafted on the basis of a questionnaire and which use the same structure as the questionnaire to allow them to be easily compared The book starts with an analysis of the basic assumptions underlying the current consumer protection models and examines whether and how consumer models adapt to the new market conditions The second part addresses the information obligations themselves first highlighting the differences in the reported countries before narrowing the analysis down to countries with a general pre contractual information duty particularly the transparency requirements that often come with such a duty The next part examines recent developments in the law on food labelling commercial practices and unfair contract terms in order to identify whether similar traits can be found in European and non European jurisdictions The fourth part of the book focuses on specific information obligations in the financial services and e commerce sectors discussing the fact that legislators are experimenting with different forms of summary disclosures in these sectors The final part provides a critical appraisal of the recent developments in consumer information obligations addressing the question of whether the multiple criticisms from behavioural sciences necessitate abandonment or refinement of current consumer information models in favour of new more adequate forms of consumer protection and

Consumer Theories of Harm Paolo Siciliani, Christine Riefa, Harriet Gamper, 2019-09-19 It has long been thought that fairness in European Consumer Law would be achieved by relying on information as a remedy and expecting the average consumer to keep businesses in check by voting with their feet This monograph argues that the way consumer law operates today promises a lot but does not deliver enough It struggles to avoid harm being caused to consumers and it struggles to repair the harm after the event To achieve fairness solutions need to be found elsewhere Consumer Theories of Harm offers an alternative model to assess where and how consumer detriment may occur and solutions to prevent it It shows that a more confident use of economic theory will allow practitioners to demonstrate how a poor standard of professional diligence lies at the heart of consumer harm The book provides both theoretical and practical examples of how to combine existing law with economic theory to improve case outcomes The book shows how public enforcers can move beyond the dominant transparency paradigm to an approach where firms have a positive duty to treat consumers fairly and shape their commercial offers in a way that prevents consumers from making mistakes Over time this fairness by design approach will emerge as the only acceptable way to compete Textbook on Consumer Law David W. Oughton, John Lowry, 1997 Based on the earlier

Consumer law texts cases and materials by David Oughton this title explains the general theories which underlie consumer protection law and the ways in which they are applied Modern Consumer Law Katherine Porter, 2016-05-27 Modern Consumer Law is a lively concise problem focused text on contemporary consumer law It is the only text on the market conceptualized after Dodd Frank and its creation of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau The book takes a functional approach to consumer law looking at types of transactions such as mortgages as well as kinds of laws such as disclosure rules It examines core theoretical questions in an accessible way revealing consumer law as a series of statutes built on the common law foundations of contract and tort Organized into 28 class sized assignments the book is easy to adapt to a teacher's preferences in terms of focus and class credits The problems provide students with the opportunity to apply statutes to realistic situations and ask them to consider the perspectives of consumers businesses and lawmakers Katherine Porter is a national expert in consumer law and a co author of Wolter Kluwer's The Law of Debtors and Creditors Competition Law and Consumer Protection Katalin Judit Cseres, 2005-01-01 The assumption that competition law and consumer protection are mutually reinforcing is rarely challenged The theory seems uncontroversial However because a positive interaction between the two is presumed to be self evident the frequent conflicts that do in fact arise are often dealt with on an ad hoc basis with no overarching legal authority There is a clear need for a detailed and coherent understanding of exactly where the complements and tensions between the two policy areas exist Dr Cseres in depth analysis provides that understanding Proceeding from the dual perspective of law and economics that is of justice fairness and reasonableness on the one hand and of efficiency of the other she fully considers such underlying issues as the following the role of competition law and consumer law in a free market economy the notion of consumer welfare the effect of the modernisation of EC competition law for consumers economics theories of information bounded rationality and transaction costs the special significance of vertical agreements and merger control and how consumers are affected by information asymmetries The ultimate focus of the book is on current and emerging EC law in which a rapprochement between the two areas seems to be under way Dr Cseres provides a knowledgeable guide to the various strands of theory policy and jurisprudence that she shows ought to be taken into account in the process including schools of thought and law and policy experience in both Europe and the United States A special chapter on Hungary where post 1989 law and practice reveal a fresh and distinctly forward looking understanding of the matter is one of the book s most extraordinary features Competition Law and Consumer Protection stands alone as a committed contribution to bridging a gap in legal knowledge the significance of which grows daily It will be of immeasurable value to a wide range of professionals from academics and researchers to officials policymakers and practitioners in competition law consumer protection advocacy economic theory and planning business administration and various pertinent government authorities
