Renshon, 2009-09-10 The Bush Doctrine is dead At least that's what critics hope But while new U S national security challenges emerge many post 9 11 threats still persist and the policies of George W Bush offer one set of strategic answers for how President Obama can confront those dangers Neither a polemic nor a whitewash this book provides a careful analysis of the Bush Doctrine its development application and rationale and assesses its legacy How will Obama respond to the many foreign policy challenges that await him Through an examination of psychology as much as policy Renshon gives us the first comparative analysis of the Bush Doctrine and the developing Obama Doctrine The book analyzes the range of national security issues Obama will face and the political divisions that permeate U S national security debates It is essential reading for anyone looking to understand how presidents assess security risks generally and how Obama specifically is likely to adapt the Bush Doctrine to his own worldview The American Military and the Far East Joe C. The Politics of Separation of the Korean Peninsula, 1943-1953 Pong-nyong Sin, 2008 Why was Korea separated Why have the Koreans been unable to overcome the line of demarcation separating them over the last 60 years Why did the Korean War break out Many scholars studying contemporary Korean history have been conducting a detailed analysis of these very subjects Traditionalists tend to place blame on the Communist Bloc including Soviet Russia while revisionists see the responsibility lying with United States anticommunist imperialism Throughout this controversial process Korean scholars have been neglectful of a self in dealing with these issues Based on historicism this book considers at its core a series of tragic Korean historical events as civil or internal conflicts and aims to reflect on Korea's own historical mistakes and errors In this respect this study can be categorized as being rerevisionist This book was written with the conviction that the Korean Peninsula was not divided by other external powers but separated from within
