Contemporary Arab Thought Elizabeth Suzanne Kassab, 2010 During the second half of the twentieth century the Arab intellectual and political scene polarized between a search for totalizing doctrines nationalist Marxist and religious and radical critique Arab thinkers were reacting to the disenchanting experience of postindependence Arab states as well as to authoritarianism intolerance and failed development They were also responding to successive defeats by Israel humiliation and injustice The first book to take stock of these critical responses this volume illuminates the relationship between cultural and political critique in the work of major Arab thinkers and it connects Arab debates on cultural malaise identity and authenticity to the postcolonial issues of Latin America and Africa revealing the shared struggles of different regions and various Arab concerns

Contemporary Arab Thought Elizabeth Suzanne Kassab, 2025-04-29 In the last third of the twentieth century the Arab intellectual and political scene polarized between totalizing doctrines nationalist Marxist and religious and radical critique Arab thinkers were reacting to the disenchanting experience of postindependence and a widespread sense of malaise as well as to authoritarianism intolerance injustice failed development and successive defeats by Israel The foundational account of these responses Contemporary Arab Thought illuminates the relationship between cultural and political critique in the work of major Arab thinkers Elizabeth Suzanne Kassab also connects Arab debates to the postcolonial issues of Latin America and Africa revealing the shared struggles of different regions Since its first publication in 2009 this book has stood as the foremost account of contemporary Arab debates on culture philosophy modernity tradition identity and liberation It is widely used in Middle Eastern studies courses and it has become a classic in the field of Arab intellectual history Contemporary Arab Thought now features an extensive new introduction that reconsiders post 1967 Arab intellectual history in light of the 2011 uprisings and the upheavals that have occurred over the intervening years Kassab critically reflects on the book's arguments and the responses it has provoked and she surveys the new preoccupations that have emerged in Arab debates since 2011 As crises again overtake the Middle East this landmark work continues to offer indispensable insight into the richness of contemporary Arab thought

Contemporary Arab Thought Ibrahim M. Abu-Rabi, 2003-11-20 Contemporary Arab Thought is a multifaceted book encompassing a constellation of social political religious and ideological ideas that have evolved over the past two hundred years ideas that represent the leading positions of the social classes in modern and contemporary Arab societies Distinguished Islamic scholar Ibrahim Abu Rabi addresses such questions as the Shari'ah human rights civil society secularism and globalisation This is complimented by a focused discussion on the writings of key Arab thinkers who represent established trends of thought in the Arab world including Muhammad Abid al Jabiri Adallah Laroui Muhammad al Ghazali Rashid al Ghannoushi Qutatnine Zurayk Mahdi Amil and many others Before 1967 some Arab countries launched hopeful programmes of modernisation After the 1967 defeat with Israel many of these hopes were dashed This book retraces the Arab world's aborted modernity of recent decades Abu Rabi explores the development of contemporary Arab thought against the historical background of the rise of modern Islamism and the impact of the West on the modern Arab world

Trends and Issues in Contemporary Arab Thought Issa J. Boullata, 1990 This book focuses on contemporary Arab thought during the past twenty years especially since the 1967 Arab defeat in the Six Day War Well known Arab writers are studied and their unprecedented and anguished exercise of self examination and self criticism is explored A number of Arab thinkers are presented for the first time in English Here is an account of some of the most recent intellectual trends in the Arab world As the writers grapple with the Arab desire for social change with ideas of freedom and equality and social justice and with the problem of accommodating Arab culture to modern times their will to preserve their national identity is displayed The role played by Islam in the current Arab discourse is analyzed as Arab intellectuals creatively interpret their present predicament in order to make it meaningful in the present day Arab thought is seen here to be in crisis as it reflects this reality and questions the legitimacy of Arab political regimes Much of the present turmoil in the Arab world can be better understood in light of this insightful treatment of contemporary Arab thinkers because it shows how the Arabs themselves feel what they think about their own contemporary life and how they envision their future

The Time of Turāth Harald Viersen, 2024-12-02 Recent Arab intellectual debates are often described as revolving around Arab Islamic cultural heritage tur th and the role that it ought to play in modern society This debate is standardly characterized as a confrontation between traditionalists and modernists the former idolizing an authentic heritage the latter blaming traditionalism for Arab society s inability to modernize This study argues that this standard narrative has become overly dominant making it impossible for different perspectives to be either voiced or heard It calls for a critical review of how we think about contemporary Arab thought through an analysis of the progressive linear temporal structure underlying the authenticity modernity dichotomy Looking in detail at three Arab intellectuals of the last fifty years Zak Naj b Ma m d Adonis and Abd al Ra m n h the study shows how this temporal structure underlies their thinking but also how their efforts to break away from it build on a critique of its temporal basis This analysis in turn enables an overhaul of the authenticity modernity paradigm which not only leads to a richer critical engagement with contemporary Arab thought but also brings out its moral dimensions

Arabic Thought against the Authoritarian Age Jens Hanssen, Max Weiss, 2018-02-15 In the wake of the Arab uprisings the Middle East descended into a frenzy of political turmoil and unprecedented human tragedy which reinforced regrettable stereotypes about the moribund state of Arab intellectual and cultural life This volume sheds important light on diverse facets of the post war Arab world and its vibrant intellectual literary and political history Cutting edge research is presented on such wide ranging topics as poetry intellectual history political philosophy and religious reform and cultural resilience all across the length and breadth of the Arab world from Morocco to the Gulf States This is an important statement of new directions in Middle East studies that challenges conventional thinking and has added relevance to the study of global intellectual history more broadly

Contemporary Arab thought and women ,1990 Arab-Islamic Philosophy

Muḥammad ‘Ābid Jābirī,1999 The distinguished Moroccan philosopher Mohammed Abed al Jabri in this summary of his own work examines the status of Arab thought in the late twentieth century Al Jabri rejects what he calls the current polarization of Arab thought between an imported modernism that disregards Arab tradition and a fundamentalism that would reconstruct the present in the image of an idealized past Both past and present intellectual currents are examined Al Jabri first questions the current philosophical positions of the liberals the Marxists and the fundamentalists Then he turns to history exploring Arab philosophy in the tenth and twelfth centuries a time of political and ideological struggle In the writings of Ibn Hazm and Averro s he identifies the beginnings of Arab rationalism a rationalism he traces through the innovative fourteenth century work of Ibn Khaldun Al Jabri offers both Western readers and his own compatriots a radical new approach to Arab thought one that finds in the past the roots of an open critical rationalism which he sees as emerging in the Arab world today

Islam in the Age of Globalization Asif Mohiuddin,2024-11-29 Globalization has been a central theme in political economic cultural and religious debates since the turn of the century While some see it as a solution others consider it the root of our problems The intensification of cultural and military warfare and the West v the Rest mentality fuels a deep seated ethnocentrism Religion meanwhile faces scrutiny from various fundamentalisms and grand narratives Many modern Muslim thinkers are skeptical of globalization perceiving it as a homogenizing force that spreads Western culture and concentrates power among a few nations They argue that Islam promotes human oneness and provides an intellectual and spiritual framework for a more civilized and universal approach to globalization opposing the Western centric hegemonic tendencies The goal of this book is to demonstrate that Islam favors globalization in its original voluntary form as opposed to the violent imposition of the West on the East It will examine Muslim responses to globalization and their attempts to find global answers to local problems in their own local regional national and global contexts Several academic works have explored various aspects of globalization focusing on tensions and conflicts such as power politics religious authority and legislative issues However there is a notable absence of attention given to the Islamic perspective on globalization including both appreciation and critique This book addresses this gap by offering not only a Muslim critique of globalization but also a broader framework for understanding Islam s unique perspective on globalization Does globalization support the inclusivity that Islam advocates How does Islam fit into the globalization era What impact and influence may Muslims have on the future of globalization What unique prospects does globalization provide Muslims and the Islamic faith Is Islamic revivalism a reaction to globalization Alternatives to globalization could exist What kind of structure will the

Islamic globalization paradigm have In addition to addressing these questions the book attempts to provide a theoretical framework for Islamic globalization which incorporates the shuratic practice and the vision of an international community extending beyond the Arabs and non Arabs This underscores the importance of historical contexts for contemporary actions and beliefs In the process the book attempts to extend the debate on Islam and globalization by mapping out the effects of globalization on various aspects of Muslim culture

Criticism of Essentialism in Contemporary Arab Thought Michel Mounir Kabalan, American University of Beirut. Faculty of Arts and Sciences. Department of Philosophy, 2006

Many contemporary Arab thinkers philosophers consider themselves to be addressing issues that pertain specifically to the Arab world rather than to humanity in general or fundamental questions in metaphysics epistemology etc For example they ask How is the Arab world to enter modernity if that is indeed desirable Or How is to forge its own way in the modern or post modern era if modernity is not desirable Or What compromise is possible between Arab Islamic tradition and modern ideology Or What ideology is best suited to Arab political life nationalist socialist Islamist etc Or What intellectual obstacles lie in the way of Arab cultural political and economic development In asking themselves these and related questions some of these thinkers make rather broad generalizations about Arab Islamic civilization Arab culture Islamic tradition or even the Arab mind In so doing have they fallen into the trap of cultural essentialism Is it possible to address such points without lapsing into cultural essentialism First when we look at the AlJabiri Tarabichi debate and compare it to the above questions around cultural essentialism we see clearly that at least some thinkers namely AlJabiri who address these issues fall squarely into the trap of cultural essentialism And Tarabichi does a fairly good job of pointing out AlJabiri's essentialist generalizations and of highlighting the fallacies and misconceptions of cultural essentialism e.g. that there are many different trends and tendencies within Arab Islamic civilization and tradition some rationalist some legalistic etc This brings us to another important question which is Is it possible to address the kinds of questions that interest contemporary Arab thinkers without committing the sin of cultural essentialism In other words can one talk about e.g. the possibility of reconciling Arab Islamic traditions with modernity but without making sweeping and unjustified generalizations about the essence of Arab culture or the Arab mind etc Here is where we need to take a closer look at these authors AlAroui and Nassar to see whether they managed to avoid the trap that AlJabiri falls into

Contemporary Arab Political Thought Anouar Abdel-Malek, 1983

The Problematic of Turāth in Contemporary Arab Thought Nadia Wardeh, 2008      The Formation of Arab Reason

Mohammed Abed Al-Jabiri, 2011-01-05 Since the earliest period of Islamic history Arab thought has been dominated by a reverence for tradition and textual analysis In this groundbreaking work the great contemporary Arab philosopher Mohammed Abed Al-Jabiri seeks to chart a route towards modernity via the proposition that respect for textualism and tradition are not inconsistent with rationalism and that both history and philosophy are key to the evolution of knowledge systems and ways of reasoning in Arab culture This book has been an enormous influence within the Arab world on the Islam and Modernity discourse It is published here for the first time in English and provides a fascinating insight into the currents of contemporary Arab thought Contemporary Arab Thought and Women : Papers of the Arab Women Solidarity Associational 2nd International Conference, Cairo, 3-5 November, 1990 Arab Women's Solidarity Association.

Conference,1990 Political Subjectivity in Contemporary Arab Thought Yasmeen Daifallah,2012 This dissertation is an examination of the work of three twentieth century Arab thinkers and the significance of their thought to questions of political subjectivity and consciousness in political theory The project analyzes the oeuvres of the Moroccan historian Abdullah Laroui the Egyptian philosopher Hassan Hanafi and the Moroccan philosopher Mohamed Abed al Jabiri for the purpose of understanding how contemporary critiques of Arab Islamic cultural heritage and ideology constitute a political theoretical tradition aimed at reforming the Arab political subject Each thinker locates the consciousness of the Arab self at the heart of the troubled Arab condition each conceives social and political progress as dependent upon the transformation of that consciousness Thus I argue that much of what usually passes as cultural critique in contemporary Arab thought should rather be considered as a critical examination of the formation of the Arab self carried out in the registers of cultural history revisionist theology and ideology critique By examining three quite different intellectual figures I am able to show that the trend to identify the Arab self as the locus of Arab political problems and to critique that self through an examination of the Arab Islamic cultural tradition is not limited to any single ideological current but is practiced across contemporary Arab political thought What varies among these thinkers is how they diagnose characterize and attempt to redress this tradition Whereas Laroui s critique culminates in a call for rupture with the tradition Hanafi attempts its reconstruction and Jabiri offers a deconstruction aimed at sifting out and making use of its potentially progressive elements Common to these various mobilizations of historical tradition is a modernist conception of history as necessarily progressive and as driven by a subject capable of shaping the future Thus I argue that these thinkers and contemporary Arab thought more generally inhabit an understanding that is counter colonial but not yet postcolonial one that is aware of the historicity of the Arab self and the profound influence of colonialism on its formation yet is absent any critique of universalist and other conceits of Western modernity and democracy Islam in Historical Perspective Alexander Knysh,2015-09-30 Islam in Historical Perspective integrates history of Islamic societies with discussion of how Muslim scriptures laws moral values and myths have shaped lives and thought of individual Muslims and various Muslim communities from the rise of Islam until today It provides carefully selected historical and scriptural evidence that enables readers to form a comprehensive balanced vision of Islam s evolution Author Alexander Knysh shows Muslims have made sense of their life experiences by constantly interpreting and re interpreting Islam s foundational ideas in accordance with ever changing social and political conditions In addition to the combined historical and chronological approach the author offers in depth discussions of intellectual dialogues and struggles within Islamic tradition He shows Islam to be a social and political force while addressing Muslim devotional practices artistic creativity and structures of everyday life and provides a wealth of historical anecdotes and quotations from original sources that are designed to illustrate principal points
