Consolidating Taiwan's Democracy:

Consolidating Taiwan's Democracy John Franklin Copper, 2005 Consolidating Taiwan's Democracy assesses the often heard argument that political change in Taiwan especially that resulting from recent elections that brought a change of ruling parties first in the executive branch of government and then the legislative branch proves that Taiwan's democratization has been finalized or consolidated The author sees both positive and negative aspects to democracy's consolidation in Taiwan

Consolidating Taiwan's Democracy John Copper, 2005-01-06 Consolidating Taiwan's Democracy assesses the often heard argument that political change in Taiwan especially that resulting from recent elections that brought a change of ruling parties first in the executive branch of government and then the legislative branch proves that Taiwan's democratization has been finalized or consolidated The author sees both positive and negative aspects to democracy's consolidation in Taiwan

Taiwan's Political Re-Alignment and Diplomatic Challenges Wei-chin Lee, 2018-05-09 This edited volume investigates and evaluates the context causes and consequences of various essential issues in Taiwanese domestic politics and external relations before and after the regime change in 2016 It offers theoretical interpretation and temporal delineation of recent electoral shifts party realignment identity reformulation and subsequent foreign policy adaptation in the 2010s Contributors address these issues in three sections Democracy and New Political Landscape The China Factor and Cross Strait Dilemma and Taiwan's International Way out to advance conclusions about Taiwan's political transformation from both comparative and international perspectives

Taiwan at a Tipping Point John F. Copper, 2017-11-30 Taiwan at a Tipping Point assesses issues relating to Taiwan's new political economic diplomatic and military strategic state of affairs following the January 2016 national election that brought the then opposition Democratic Progressive Party DPP to power This was a momentous event The DPP won major presidential and legislative victories giving it an easy mandate to govern Tsai Ing wen became president But ruling did not turn out to be easy Tsai and the DPP had little experience managing the economy and their growth strategies did not work well Their stances on Taiwan's independence alienated Taiwan's biggest trading partner and a nation that claims Taiwan is its territory China Beijing took revenge Taiwan's only ally the United States was confused and distracted in trying to formulate a new policy toward Taiwan Promises President Tsai and the DPP made during the campaign especially on reform and Taiwan's national status were hard to fulfill and for the most part were not Post election euphoria turned into dismay Thus the question arose whether the president and the DPP would remain in power or whether the next elections would see the Nationalist Party or Kuomintang KMT return though it remaining in the doldrums made this seem unlikely Thus uncertainty characterized Taiwan post election Taiwan was at a turning point

Assessing the Lee Teng-hui Legacy in Taiwan's Politics Bruce Dickson, Chien-Min Chao, 2016-09-16 The 12 years of Lee Teng hui's presidency were marked by a series of contrary trends such as progress in the consolidation of Taiwan's democracy and periodic conflicts with China This book assesses the complex legacy of Lee Teng hui by looking at his accomplishments and setbacks      When Education Meets Politics in Taiwan Ka-ho Kwok, 2017-09-13 Politics affect education particularly in transitional societies It is obvious that Taiwan's education reform and democratization share the same set of players All major educational players played a role at different stages in the electoral process striving for popular support This book applies game theoretic tools and proposes dynamic positioning as a new framework that regards Taiwan's education reform from 1994 to 2016 as the outcome of players strategic interactions instead of top down or bottom up The complex interplay is characterized by the continual adjustment of one's preferences and strategies in response to other players moves This concept helps explain how and why Taiwan's education reform was once embraced by most players cooperation but became a battlefield between different camps non cooperation soon after a change of the ruling party in 2000 It disputes various structural approaches on educational change including functionalism conflict theory globalization and theories of liberal democracy It also contributes to the field of game theoretical studies in education and the specific literature of politics social change and education reform      Taiwan's Presidents John F. Copper, 2024-08-05 This book profiles Taiwan's six key presidents Chiang Kai shek Chiang Ching kuo Lee Teng hui Chen Shui bian Ma Ying jeou and Tsai Ing wen focusing on politics economics elections successes and failures in office popularity and democratization By analyzing criteria of the six presidents leadership such as management of crises advancing democracy stewardship of the economy charisma corruption and handling of foreign relations especially with China and the U S John F Copper goes on to rank the presidents and predicts trends and difficulties that future presidents will face Special attention is paid to relations with the U S acknowledging the U S as Taiwan's political and economic model as well as its being Taiwan's protector in the context of China's claim to Taiwan As an assessment of these six political leaders as well as a study of Taiwan's political system this book will appeal to students and scholars of Taiwan political science and international relations      Taiwan John F Copper, 2018-05-04 In this newly revised and updated edition of Taiwan Nation State or Province John F Copper examines Taiwan's geography and history society and culture economy political system and foreign and security policies in the context of Taiwan's uncertain political status as either a sovereign nation or a province of the People's Republic of China Copper argues that Taiwan's very rapid and successful democratization suggests Taiwan should be independent and separate from China while economic links between Taiwan and China indicate the opposite New to the sixth edition is enhanced coverage of the issues of immigration the impact of having the world's lowest birthrate China's economic and military rise and America's decline Taiwan's relations with China the United States and Japan and the KMT's Nationalist Party return to power The new edition will also examine the implications of the 2012 presidential election A selected bibliography guides students in further research      Taiwan at a Turning Point Seyom Brown, 2009      Institutional Reform and Democratic Consolidation in Korea Larry Jay Diamond, 2000 A look at the factors that define the Korean model of democratization and the reforms that are still needed to consolidate democracy in Korea      The Republic of China on Taiwan in the 1990s Winston L. Y.

Yang, Deborah Ann Brown, 1997 Taiwan's 2004 Legislative Election John Franklin Copper, 2004 Taiwan Development Perspectives, 2003 The Virginia Review of Asian Studies, 2000 Political Culture and Democratic Consolidation Larry Jay Diamond, 1998 Divergent Paths of Democratization Bum Suk Kim, 2001 This dissertation examines the patterns and causes of national differences of democratic development processes in Taiwan and South Korea I focus on three main tasks First I identify how the modes of transitions were different Second I examine why these different transition paths occurred by focus on the prior regime type political society and civil society Third I analyze the prospects for democratic consolidation First I argue that Taiwan's transition was a top down regime controlled slow elite dominated and unilaterally imposed transition Taiwan's transition was implemented from relatively strong and secure authoritarian regime rather than forced upon the regime by broad social mobilization On the contrary South Korean case was a bottom up mass ascendent fast and multilaterally compromised transition Extensive popular mobilization from below forced the regime elite to make a compromise with the opposition Second I argue that Taiwan's transition was caused by the quasi Leninist party state with no prior democratic experience and the weak political and civil society while South Korea's transition was caused by the military authoritarianism with prior democratic experiences and strong political and civil society In Taiwan there was no opposition party and elections were limited to local levels Moreover civil society was deeply penetrated by the KMT and the labor class was further weakened by decentralized industrial structures On the contrary in South Korea opposition parties were legally allowed to function and the elections were regularly held under authoritarian regime With prior democratic experience civil society was strong and the labor class was strengthened by the high degree of industrial concentration Finally following the path dependent approach I argue that the prospect for democratic consolidation is more complicated in Taiwan than in South Korea Taiwan's Economic Success Since 1980 Zhaocheng Mai, Jiansheng Shi, 2001 Taiwan's economic development experience represents a unique case study especially in the wake of the Asian financial crisis Taiwan has performed outstandingly in terms of macroeconomic and industrial development particularly during recent democratic and social change This book aims to provide a broad picture of these institutional reforms and policy evolutions The expert contributors detail and examine the interactive relationship between Taiwan's economic liberalization political democratization and social pluralization Taking 1980 as a watershed the book highlights the impact these economic and cultural changes have exerted on SMEs foreign trade and investment technological progress industrial development and policy and the reform of financial and fiscal systems They investigate the contentious issue of whether political democratization is beneficial for economic development and go on to discuss the creation of an efficient Taiwanese economy and the resolution of conflicts created by social pluralization The book analyses the comparative advantage of Taiwan over comparable countries paying particular attention to the Asian financial crisis The authors offer a fresh approach by observing Taiwanese development post 1980 and integrating economic political and social analysis As such development economists and scholars of Asian economics will find this unique book both useful and enlightening

Taiwan's 2006 Metropolitan Mayoral and City Council Elections and the Politics of Corruption John Franklin Copper, 2006

Taiwan's Anti-corruption Strategy Jon S. T. Quah, 2010      Who Owns the Media Zaharom Nain, Associate Professor Pradip N Thomas, 2004-11-01

The ownership of the media and issues related to the governance of global media institutions are of immense public significance. Not only are the cultural industries a major source of contemporary power economic political social they are also the primary definers of consciousness in most parts of the contemporary world. In the shadow of the recent decision by the Federal Communications Commission USA to dismantle restrictions on cross media ownership and similar initiatives in the UK and in other parts of the world the issue of media ownership has been thrust on the world stage. Fewer owners and greater concentration of media often result in the downgrading of plurality diversity and access to a variety of opinion and contribute to the hamstringing of democratic discourse. The pro war stance on Iraq actively supported by mainstream media in the USA is merely the latest example of the agenda setting role of global media. Media ownership patterns and permutations today are a direct consequence of the globalisation of neo liberal economics. While there are some regional variations in the ownership mix the trend from South Africa to Argentina India to East and Central Europe clearly illustrated in the selection of writings in this volume is towards privatisation de regulation retreat from the state's public media responsibilities and the contraction of space for non commercial community based media efforts. This collection of critical writings on media ownership from different parts of the world written by leading scholars including Robert McChesney Dan Schiller Cees Hamelink Sean O Siochru Zhao Yuezhi and others offers a richly textured contextual reading of the political economy of contemporary media ownership. Issues addressed include convergence global media governance IP telecommunications regulation and deregulation censorship the role of the state with a strong accent on the need for transparency accountability and media diversity. This book is an invaluable resource for media scholars students and policy makers.
