Constructing Death The Sociology Of Dying And Bereavement:

Constructing Death Clive Seale, 1998-10-08 Constructing Death reviews sociological anthropological and historical studies of death grief and mourning in order to illuminate present day experience It is both an introduction to the sociological study of death dying and bereavement and an original contribution to death studies and social theory combining a theoretical argument with original research material The volume will be of use to students and scholars of sociology as well as health care practitioners

Death, Bereavement, And Mourning Samuel C. Heilman, An encounter with the death of another is often an occasion when the bereaved need to be sustained in their loss relieved of the anxiety that the meeting with death engenders and comforted in their grief It is a time when those left behind often seek to redress wrongs in themselves or in the relationships that death has shaken and upset In both collective and individual responses to the trauma of encountering death we witness efforts to counter the misfortune and to explain the meaning of the loss to turn memory into blessing to reconcile life with death to regenerate life and redeem both the bereaved and the dead Sometimes loss may transform the bereaved in ways that lead to growth and maturity other times a loss leads to unrelenting anger or melancholia There may be a variety of spiritual expressions that the bereaved experience in their time of loss but there appears to be some common elements in all of them Overtime survivors feelings are transformed into growing exploration of the spiritual a profound sense of rebirth newfound feelings of self mastery or confidence and a deeply held conviction that life goes on The contributions to this volume are based on a conference held in New York on the first anniversary of September 11 2001 Contributors include Peter Metcalf Robert Jay Lifton Ilana Harlow Robert A Neimeyer Samuel Heilman and Neil Gillman This sensitive and heartfelt volume relates specifically to issues of death bereavement and mourning in the aftermath of the attack on the World Trade Center but the applications to other individual and catastrophic events is obvious The contributions do not simply explore how people deal with bereavement or are psychologically affected by extreme grief they address how people can try to find meaning in tragedy and loss and strive to help restore order in the wake of chaos The multidisciplinary perspectives include those of anthropology psychology theology social work and art Samuel Heilman is the Distinguished Professor of Sociology and holder of the Harold Proshansky Chair in Jewish Studies and Sociology at the City University of New York and has also taught at the University of Illinois at Chicago the Hebrew University in Jerusalem Tel Aviv University and the Universities of New South Wales and Melbourne He is the author of several books including Synagogue Life and The People of the Book both published in paperback by Transaction

Epiestems of Death Pratham Parekh, 2017-01-01 Death and dying experiences are not common across human race because humans do not share common cultural heritage and physical environment The fact of death thus can be considered as socially constructed fact abounded by idiosyncratic religious beliefs and rituals existing within social life It is almost impossible to have common consensual understanding of death and dying This book tries to investigate various sources of knowledge about death in multiple disciplines from sociological lenses      Governing Death and Loss Stephen Conway, 2011 Political economic social cultural and technological changes have led to profound transformations in the ways that death and loss are perceived and managed in contemporary society Over the last few decades the long term shift to chronic illness as a major causal factor has significantly increased the time scale of dying Most people die in institutions and care is typically medical Many communities and ordinary citizens now relinquish control and involvement to experts in the last stages of life However at global and local levels new institutional arrangements are emerging to govern the changing face of death and a new model is being developed to counter claims of the creeping medicalisation of death and dying Emphasising the international context of the issues involved this book illustrates the interlinking nature of society death and loss and gives examples of governance that promotes the empowerment participation and the increasing need for the involvement of ordinary people and communities in differing social and cultural contexts All chapters are written at an accessible level and will appeal to a wide readership Part 1 of the book provides a sociological understanding of the governance of death and loss in international and historical contexts and the implications for practice Part 2 provides examples of good practice drawing upon a sociological understanding      Death, Mourning, and Burial Antonius C. G. M. Robben, 2009-02-04 In Death Mourning and Burial an indispensable introduction to the anthropology of death readers will find a rich selection of some of the finest ethnographic work on this fascinating topic Comprised of six sections that mirror the social trajectory of death conceptualizations of death death and dying uncommon death grief and mourning mortuary rituals and remembrance and regeneration Includes canonical readings as well as recent studies on topics such as organ donation and cannibalism Designed for anyone concerned with issues of death and dying as well as violence terrorism war state terror organ theft and mortuary rituals Serves as a text for anthropology classes as well as providing a genuinely cross cultural perspective to all those studying death and dying      Negotiating Death in Contemporary Health and Social Care Margaret Holloway, 2007-10-17 This book brings together perspectives from social science health care and pastoral theology looking at the way death is handled in contemporary society and the sensitive ethical and practical dilemmas facing nurses social workers doctors and chaplains

Young People's Perspectives on End-of-Life Sarah Coombs, 2017-07-18 This book challenges adult assumptions that young people do not cannot and should not think about death The author uses everyday material objects in order to facilitate a range of conversations revealing lively engagement with the topic Cultural resources such as literature and film provide a rich variety of perspectives on and responses to death whilst equally providing an opportunity to challenge many of these representations as unreal and unauthentic The book contains personal narratives of loss and memories of loved ones presenting a variety of encounters with significant deaths the stories being told in an array of vibrant amusing and emotive ways Similarly death is explored from a variety of religious and scientific frameworks highlighting rich and changing perspectives Such shifting and exciting vistas are a largely undiscovered part of young people's lives and situate them in a landscape not often associated with childhood Young People s Perspectives on End of Life will be of interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including Childhood and Youth Studies Death Studies Qualitative Research Methodologies Sociology Anthropology and Education
