Construction and Real Estate Dynamics P. Thalmann, M. Zarin-Nejadan, 2003-08-12 This collection deals with some interesting economic questions related to construction and real estate namely how construction firms cope with the volatility of construction whether speculative bubbles or market fundamentals drive those fluctuations new techniques to predict construction demand why the office market led the recent real estate cycle and whether regulation is responsible for speculative behaviour

Construction Boom Amelia Scott, AI, 2025-03-03 Construction Boom explores how the construction sector shapes economies and societies by examining its economic impact infrastructure development and real estate dynamics The book emphasizes that construction serves as a critical economic indicator driving job creation and investment across multiple sectors For example strategic infrastructure projects such as transportation networks and energy systems are essential for connecting communities and enabling commerce This book uniquely integrates the analysis of construction infrastructure and real estate to provide a holistic view of urban development It begins by introducing fundamental economic principles and then progresses to examine specific aspects like economic impact analysis infrastructure case studies and real estate market dynamics The book supports its arguments with economic data case studies and market analyses making complex information accessible to a wide audience including economists urban planners and investors

Local Economic Systems and Housing Real Estate Markets in University Towns Alessandra Oppio, Marta Bottero, Stefano Stanghellini, Marco Rossitti, 2025-06-20 This book investigates the relationship between universities real estate markets and local economic systems in light of contemporary urban regeneration processes and sustainability challenges Indeed university settlements can generate important spillovers and opportunities in their territory thus becoming decisive development and transformation factors for cities socio economic productive environmental and infrastructural components Furthermore the increasing student mobility to university towns raises relevant sustainability issues concerning the housing demand stemming from off site students which by strongly impacting the real estate market can place students families and low income residents against important financial barriers By collecting the papers presented at the SIEV Italian

Society of Appraisal and Valuation seminar held in Florence Italy in November 2023 within the context of the Urbanpromo Progetti per il Paese cultural event the book delves into understanding and assessing the complexity of the effects generated by investments in university settlements as a fundamental factor for effective urban development policies aimed both at meeting the right to study and maximizing impacts from a circular perspective The proposed reflections finding their common thread in the use of interpretative models and methodological tools of the appraisal and valuation discipline are organized into three parts Part I Investing in university cities sustainability and urban regeneration issues Part II University and real estate markets evaluation issues and models Part III Real estate market and governance in university cities evidence from case studies

Political Economy of Housing in Chile Francisco Vergara-Perucich, Carlos Aguirre-Nuñez, Felipe Encinas, Rodrigo Hidalgo-Dattwyler, Ricardo Truffello, Felipe Ladrón de Guevara, 2023-01-16 Through the lens of political economy this book positions housing as a key factor in understanding social inequality It does so by drawing on rich empirical evidence from the case of the Chilean housing market This book provides insights on the articulation between real estate development housing provision and social inequality based on applied urban economics analyses that illustrate the contradictions of neoliberal urbanism through the case of Chile For neoliberal urbanism the good city is not equal for all it is based on the principle of profitability and benefits from segregation to make capital investment more efficient The chapters of this book expose how these processes are generated by a political system that allows them rather than by the invisible hand of the market The book will be of interest to graduate students in urban studies urban planning sociology and urban geography It will also appeal to decision makers and also to actors in the real estate market seeking to perfect the social benefits of their professional activities aspiring to generate more egalitarian and just cities
