Consuming Passions Sian Griffiths, Jennifer Wallace, 1998 What people ate used to be considered marginal and insignificant CONSUMING PASSIONS shows how that picture is changing This collection of essays reveals that historians sociologists psychiatrists philosophers along with ordinary people are seriously studying the relationship between what we eat and how we live behave and think 20 illustrations Consuming Passions Sian Griffiths, 1998

Consumption and Identity in Asian American Coming-of-Age Novels Jennifer Ho, 2013-09-13 This interdisciplinary study examines the theme of consumption in Asian American literature connection representations of cooking and eating with ethnic identity formation Using four discrete modes of identification historic pride consumerism mourning and fusion Jennifer Ho examines how Asian American adolescents challenge and revise their cultural legacies and experiment with alternative ethnic affiliations through their relationships to food Consuming Passions Sian Griffiths, Jennifer Wallace, 1998 What people ate used to be considered marginal and insignificant CONSUMING PASSIONS shows how that picture is changing This collection of essays reveals that historians sociologists psychiatrists philosophers along with ordinary people are seriously studying the relationship between what we eat and how we live behave and think 20 illustrations Journal of the Institute of Romance Studies, 2000

From Betty Crocker to Feminist Food Studies Arlene Voski Avakian, Barbara Haber, 2005 Sheds light on the history of food cooking and eating This collection of essays investigates the connections between food studies and women s studies From women in colonial India to Armenian American feminists these essays show how food has served as a means to assert independence and personal identity Journal for the Study of Food and Society, 1998

Feasting Our Eyes Laura Ann Lindenfeld, 2003 Sociology of Everyday Life in New Zealand Claudia Bell, 2001 This book addresses individual and collective engagement in mainstream culture Examines the everyday social practices the ordinary in New Zealand life Agriculture and Human Values, 2008 Masculinities, Modernist Fiction and the Urban Public Sphere Scott McCracken, 2007 At the turn of the last century the public culture of Europe s cities underwent a transformation that changed both gender relations and European fiction This book charts the changing representations of masculinity in modernist fiction in the context of the four most influential cities London Dublin Paris and Prague Challenges and Opportunities for Sustainable Rice-based Production Systems Aldo Ferrero, Francesco Vidotto, 2004

Peter Singer Under Fire Jeffrey A. Schaler, 2009 Peter Singer the best known and most controversial ethicist of our day has done more than anyone else to make philosophical ethics relevant to the troubling moral issues that concern ordinary people and policy makers Singer s views on such topics as world hunger abortion infanticide the sanctity of life and our treatment of animals have often aroused fierce opposition from political and religious leaders Singer was subjected to violent attacks during his visits to Germany in 1989 1991 and his appointment to a chair in bioethics at Princeton University led to noisy protests and threats of boycott Peter Singer Under Fire includes Singer s intellectual autobiography in which he relates the events of his life and tells how he arrived at his contentious views followed by fifteen essays from prominent critics of Singer not all philosophers or academics to each one of which Singer gives a careful and clear reply BOOK JACKET A Full-bodied Society Logie Barrow, François Poirier, 2010 Repeatedly the rigidity of separation between male and female fluctuated as did the boundaries themselves Sometimes the greater the rigidity the less the sources may tell us of resistance to them But sometimes this can be inferred indirectly pub desc

Complex Consumption Deirdre Terese Guion, 2005 This dissertation explores the complexity of American eating practices from the perspective of the consumer The comfort anxiety dialectic served as a backdrop for analyzing data collected using multiple methods The phenomenological interviews explored how informants navigate food provisioning and eating along with other life activities Data for the study also included and researcher observations during the interviews A larger pool of informants including the eight key informants completed a customized four day food diary The key informants were also interviewed after they completed their food diary The data from the interviews observation and food diaries were analyzed on two levels intertextually and intratextually From the analysis emergent themes were described and considered against relevant theories The data from this study suggest that American eating practices have changed as has the role of food in our lives Specifically consumers spend less time cooking eating and socializing around food Informants expressed anxiety around the logistics of cooking and the time spent cooking and eating The overwhelming majority of these informants never learned to cook as children and expressed frustration and a lack of confidence about meal planning and preparation In contrast informants felt comfortable about their level of knowledge around nutrition and healthy eating and admitted that they do not always act on the knowledge they possess My research suggests that while the marketplace offers myriad solutions for quick simple meals it does not offer a solution to remove the stressful logistics of meal preparation and planning and most importantly time pressure Finally the data show that additional information provision alone is not the solution for sustainable changes in behavior

A Bee in the Mouth Peter Wood, 2006 In taking readers on a guided tour of American acrimony Wood traces the roots of anger's triumph in today's social and political world

Feast, Fast Or Famine Wendy Mayer, Silke Trzcionka, 2005 In recent decades there has been an increasing interest in the study of food and drink in the ancient Mediaeval and Byzantine worlds and of their supply and consumption This volume presents selected papers from the biennial conference of the Australian Association for Byzantine Studies which was held at the University of Adelaide 11-12 July 2003 The theme was food and drink in Byzantium Published selectively in the present volume the papers of the conference are augmented by contributions from international scholars While some papers address the use of food directly children's diet fasting or tangentially in love spells or discuss philosophical approaches towards food vegetarianism other papers in this volume examine the topic from another perspective the role and perception of food and drink and their consumption in society Yet others examine issues of supply military logistics and the role it played in shaping Byzantium This volume will appeal to readers interested in the history of food in late antique and Byzantine society in Byzantine rhetoric in magic in late antiquity and in the Jews in early Byzantium

You are what You Eat Annette M. Magid, 2008 A collection of essays immersed in the culture of food expanded across genres disciplines and time It addresses a range of interests appealing to diverse audiences expanding from college students to food enthusiasts and scholars
