Effects of Providing a Rationale for Learning a Lesson on Students' Motivation and Learning in Online Learning Environments Tae Seob Shin, 2010 This study examined whether providing a rationale for learning a particular lesson influences students' motivation and learning in online learning environments A mixed method design was used to investigate the effects of two types of rationales former student vs Instructor rationales presented in an online introductory educational psychology course Fifty-nine participants were randomly assigned to one of the three conditions 1 a student rationale condition where students listened to a brief testimonial of a former student about the value of the presented lesson 2 an instructor rationale condition where students listened to an audio statement by the instructors about the value of the presented lesson and 3 a control condition where students were not provided with any rationale The treatment was given at the beginning of six two-week modules each of which covered one specific topic in educational psychology Pre and post tests which included self-report questionnaires measuring students' perceptions about the value of the course interest in the course self-determination autonomous regulation and their essay responses to a movie montage depicting various educational phenomena were administered at the beginning and end of the semester At the end of semester students' grades and perceptions of learning were also collected Results suggest that providing a rationale for learning had positive effects on students' motivation and learning and its effects were affected by the source of rationale In terms of motivation students' sense of autonomy increased over time whether they listened to student or instructor rationales Students who listened to instructor rationales reported an increase in their sense of relatedness to instructors while those who listened to student rationales reported a decrease in their relatedness to instructors In terms of learning both the quantitative and qualitative results indicate that listening to rationales provided by former students had the most positive effect on students' final grades and their ability to apply major ideas covered in the course to real-life problems Findings suggest that student rationales can be effective in promoting students' motivation and learning in an online learning context This study adds to the existing body of literature by examining whether the source of rationale matters in promoting students' learning and motivation The current study also focuses on the learning aspects of provisions of rationales By triangulating different learning outcome measures a better understanding of the effects of providing a rationale has on students learning has been achieved In addition the design of this study demonstrates how research grounded in theory can be conducted with strong ecological validity when implemented in regular online courses Unlike other studies where inauthentic tasks were given this project was done in a natural academic setting Finally the kinds of treatments that were developed for this study can easily be implemented in teaching practices in face to face or online environments The dissertation citations contained here are published with the permission of ProQuest llc Further reproduction is prohibited without permission Copies of dissertations may be obtained by Telephone 800 1 800 521 0600 Web page <http://www.proquest.com/en/US/products/dissertations/individuals.shtml>

Living Room Nancy Welch, 2008 How can our students find or make spaces where their ideas and arguments can be heard Living Room takes up this question in an age defined not only by YouTube and My Space but also the conversion of public streets to festival marketplaces the creation of cordoned off and tucked away free speech zones and the state sanctioning of ethnic profiling In Living Room Nancy Welch traces the erosion of publicity rights to post 9 11 legislation and more troublingly to nearly thirty years of neoliberal privatization of space institutions and resources even the very idea of who has the authority to speak and argue especially in the political and public arenas Joining the field's reinvigorated interest in public writing and rhetorical history Welch argues that if we're to explore with our students when where and how they can deliver arguments that matter we need to look to the lessons of earlier generations Especially in the 20th century's struggles for labor and civil rights the struggles that won living room rights for ordinary people in the first place we find consequential and sometimes unruly arguments workers shutting down production lines and cash registers students disrupting segregated lunch counters AIDS HIV activists dying in across a Wall Street intersection By examining these and other vibrant models of rhetorical action in our classrooms we can help our students better understand how to deliver effective arguments in the most restrictive of circumstances and how to most effectively shape their arguments using genre collaboration audience tone and style Living Room vigorously critiques our privatized era of shopping malls and Clear Channel of state sanctioned ethnic profiling and militarized responses to public protest of private economic interests colluding to shape public policy on everything from energy and interest rates to health care and access to the airwaves Read Living Room and heed Nancy Welch s call for a reinvigorated rhetoric that connects your composition classroom with a contentious lively history of writing as social action      Web Development and Design Foundations with XHTML Terry Felke-Morris,2011 Web Development and Design Foundations with XHTML 5e includes all the necessary lessons for beginners to build and promote successful Web sites Key topics include The Internet and the World Wide Web XHTML Basics Configuring Color Visual Elements Web Design Page Layout with CSS More on Links Lists Tables Forms Web Site Development Web Multimedia E Commerce Overview Promotion for Web Developers A Brief Look at JavaScript For all readers interested in Web design      Library Issues ,2007      Currents ,2007      Stanford Business ,2008      Dr. Dobb's Journal ,2007
