Sealey, Vivian Gibbon, 1967 Communication and Learning in the Primary School L. G. W. Sealey, Vivian Gibbon, 1972-01-01 Language for Learning in the Primary School Sue Hayden, Emma Jordan, 2023-08-31 The third edition of Language for Learning in the Primary School is an indispensable resource packed full of practical suggestions on how to support 5 11 year old children with speech language and communication needs Colour coded throughout for easy referencing this unique book supports inclusive practice by helping teachers to Identify children with speech language and communication needs SLCN Understand speech language and communication skills Consider roles and responsibilities at primary school Plan a differentiated and adapted curriculum Consider the language demands across subjects Adopt a whole school approach Make use of a wide range of positive strategies to support children in the classroom Empower children to access the curriculum Fully revised and updated Language for Learning in the Primary School 3rd edition comes complete with a wealth of photocopiable and downloadable resources giving teachers and teaching assistants the confidence to help children with SLCN more effectively in mainstream settings It will also be an extremely useful resource for speech and language therapists specialist teachers and educational psychologists Information and Communications Technology in Primary Schools Richard Ager, 2013-08-21 This new edition takes into account advances in software and technology such as interactive whiteboards and digital cameras focusing upon how these new resources can be most effectively used to enhance teaching and learning in the classroom Providing the fundamental background information to put ICT developments into a classroom context the book looks at what can be learned from the latest national research into ICT use in the classroom and provides a wide range of classroom activities The book should be of particular interest to undergraduate and postgraduates Primary education students INSET participants ICT coordinators and senior managers Oral communication skills in the primary english classroom Anna Hohls, 2008-05-27 Examination Thesis from the year 2007 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 1 0 Leuphana Universität Lüneburg Englisch language English abstract In the summer of 2004 English as a foreign language was introduced as a core subject to primary schools in all 16 federal states of Germany This came as a result of many years of research and several years of experience teaching foreign languages at primary level in individual schools all over the country With the development of different ideas and approaches to primary specific language teaching the emphasis on the different skills involved and required in language learning has varied In recent years the importance of communicative skills has grown and speaking not only as a productive and reproductive but also as an interactive skill has come into the focus of foreign language teaching at primary level However classroom observations show that most English lessons do not go beyond teaching the pupils to repeat phrases and little dialogues after the teacher or to recite them usually under cover of their classmates The question I want to deal with in this paper which I have written as part of my final examination is what aspects oral communication skills are comprised of and how far they can be successfully developed in English as a foreign language EFL classrooms at primary level I will look at the aspects which must be considered in order to enable pupils to actively use the foreign language in the classroom and resulting from this in real life situations In order to do so I consulted several introductions to EFL learning and teaching both at primary and secondary level and literature dealing with the aspects of speaking and communicative competence even though they were in most cases designed for secondary schools and adult education as well as articles taken from primary English magazines giving insights into the practice of language teaching What relevance does speaking have in primary schools and is the "Teilrahmenplan" aligned to meet the needs of speaking skills? V. W., 2015-02-25 Seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 2 3 University of Koblenz Landau Institut für Anglistik und Romanistik course Teaching and Learning English at Primary Level language English abstract As in many other countries English is an important lingua franca in Germany Before 2001 it was only learned from class five or in some states from class three Since 2001 English or another foreign language is an obligatory subject in the primary school from class one to four The ability to communicate in a foreign language should be supported Speaking skills are necessary for achieving this goal As a consequence speaking tasks should occupy an important place in everyday school life The Unterrichtsorganisation Grundschule allocates teaching time to all subjects and the foreign language acquisition got the fewest time of all primary school subjects This term paper elaborates this problem and gives a brief overview about possibilities on how a teacher could handle this situation Coordinating information and communications
