The contributors to this volume, representatives of related but differing perspectives, outline definitional boundaries and conceptual implications of the term, stemming from their particular ontological and epistemological approaches. This volume provides an engaging and provocative examination of relationship by seasoned writers who are committed to seeing the field with new eyes. As such, the book will be invaluable to scholars and researchers in the field.

Inside Relationships Sandra Faulkner, 2021-12-29. Each piece takes an arts-based approach, spanning essays, short stories, scripts, photographs, poetry, and has been newly written for this edition by communication researchers, writers, and artists. The case studies focus on the aesthetic dimensions of relating to illustrate to students the workings of relationship management with regards to friendship, race, class, gender, family interaction, sexuality, and other key topics in relational communication. The case studies are framed from a critical interpersonal perspective to encourage students to consider how power and cultural discourses about relationships influence their relating. Faulkner's introduction to each section provides important pedagogical content to give context and meaning to the cases that follow. Each case closes with questions for discussion activities and additional resources to help students analyze the material. The book is suited as core or supplemental reading for courses in interpersonal or relational communication.
