Communication Of Emotion Current Research From Diverse Perspectives:

The Communication of Emotion: Current Research from Diverse Perspectives Karen Caplovitz Barrett, 1997 The authors explore the cultural and familial factors that influence how emotions are communicated to children and the varied ways children's development is affected They show how context the nature of the relationship between partners the cultural background and the ongoing events surrounding communication between partners plays a crucial role in determining what is communicated and understood through facial vocal and other means of emotion communication And they reveal how emotion communication within the family directly affects the formation of children's self and other schemas and examine the role of emotion communication in the development of shame guilt and pride This is the 77th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Child Development For more information on the series please see the Journals and Periodicals section

Handbook of Affective Sciences Richard J Davidson, Klaus R Sherer, H. Hill Goldsmith, 2009-05-21 One hundred stereotype maps glazed with the most exquisite human prejudice especially collected for you by Yanko Tsvetkov author of the viral Mapping Stereotypes project Satire and cartography rarely come in a single package but in the Atlas of Prejudice they successfully blend in a work of art that is both funny and thought provoking The book is based on Mapping Stereotypes Yanko Tsvetkov's critically acclaimed project that became a viral Internet sensation in 2009 A reliable weapon against bigots of all kinds it serves as an inexhaustible source of much needed argumentation and occasionally as a nice slab of paper that can be used to smack them across the face whenever reasoning becomes utterly impossible The Complete Collection version of the Atlas contains all maps from the previously published two volumes and adds twenty five new ones wrapping the best selling series in a single extended edition Dynamic Process Methodology in the Social and Developmental Sciences Jaan Valsiner, Peter C. M. Molenaar, Maria C.D.P. Lyra, Nandita Chaudhary, 2009-07-09 All psychological processes like biological and social ones are dynamic Phenomena of nature society and the human psyche are context bound constantly changing and variable This feature of reality is often not recognized in the social sciences where we operate with averaged data and with homogeneous stereotypes and consider our consistency to be the cornerstone of rational being Yet we are all inconsistent in our actions within a day or from one day to the next and much of such inconsistency is of positive value for our survival and development Our inconsistent behaviors and thoughts may appear chaotic yet there is generality within this highly variable dynamic The task of scientific methodologies qualitative and quantitative is to find out what that generality is It is the aim of this handbook to bring into one framework various directions of construction of methodology of the dynamic processes that exist in the social sciences at the beginning of the 21st century This handbook is set up to bring together pertinent methodological scholarship from all over the world and equally from the quantitative and qualitative orientations to methodology In addition to consolidating the pertinent knowledge base for the purposes of its further growth this book serves the major educational role of bringing practitioners students researchers and professionals interested in applications

the state of the art know how about how to think about extracting evidence from single cases and about the formal mathematical statistical tools to use for these purposes

Electricity Transmission Pricing and Technology A.F.

Kalverboer,A. Gramsbergen,2001-11-30 The electric utility industry and its stakeholders in the United States appear to be at a critical juncture in time Powerful forces of global proportions are propelling the industry instinctively and in a secular fashion towards restructuring That the industry will change is a fait accompli The nature and timing of the change is still a matter of intense debate however Because of the evolution of the industry into its present day form i e regulated local monopolies in their designated franchise service territories the relative roles and expectations of various institutions would have to change to conform to the new state in the future In either encouraging or allowing this change to happen society is essentially saying that future societal welfare would be better served by the changed structure contemplated What that assumption translates into in more direct terms is that creation of future wealth would be better accomplished through redistribution of wealth today Thoughtful individuals recognize the enormous responsibility placed upon the various entities empowered with jurisdiction over the timing and nature of the structural change They are trying hard to bring analytical rigor to bear on the debate One very critical element of this debate on restructuring is the issue of the treatment of transmission The issue has been variously labeled transmission access or pricing Volumes have been written and spoken on this topic

The Psychology of Love Thiago de Almeida, David L. Rodrigues,2025-01-16 The topic of loving relationships is one of the most important and often problematic areas of people s lives Unfortunately such importance is best perceived when relationships are unsatisfactory and or threatened by the possibility of an imminent breakup When that happens our mood our ability to concentrate our energy our work and our health among other dimensions of our lives can be profoundly affected Although contemporary love life appears to be markedly different from that of predecessor generations given the wide range of current relationships as the hook up living together separate cohabitation virtual love or even betrayal among many other forms of loving interaction we live in a time when relationships between two or more people it seems need more understanding and more accurate research However studying love scientifically is a hard task because of methodological difficulties and conceptual improprieties intrinsically related to this type of investigation Because it can be considered such a familiar concept many researchers should agree on what love is and how it can be measured But this is not what occurs After all what is love Is it as a psychological phenomenon capable of being scientifically studied by psychology The goal of this Research Topic is to Promote and disseminate publications related to what is conceived scientifically as the Psychology of Love differing from conceptions related to self help and common sense Conceptualize love through psychological science Systematize knowledge about the nature of love and related phenomena such as jealousy shyness inhibition infidelity and other related topics Understand conceptualizations of love and relationship dynamics of people in monogamous and consensually non monogamous relationships Research the establishment and maintenance of romantic relationships and try to understand scientifically the role of love in marital satisfaction      Emotions and the Family Richard Fabes, Gary W Peterson, Suzanne Steinmetz, 2018-07-17 The family is the place where minds come in contact with one another Buddha Emotions and the Family reflects the dramatic change in how professionals and practitioners working with today's families view the role of emotions in general family and marital processes Professionals researchers and academics present a wide variety of approaches to the study of emotion and family functioning providing a rare theoretical and empirical look at how emotions regulate guide and influence actions and behaviors within the family This unique book will provide you with new avenues of research theory measurement and analysis emphasizing contexts that range from the focus on specific relationships within the family to the impact of contextual influences in family emotionality Emotions and the Family examines the shift that has taken place in how practitioners and therapists view emotions as having important interpsychic functions instead of as a function of intrapsychic processes The book will show you how emotions are involved in almost every aspect of family development from the beginnings of the family formation dating courting and marriage to the transition to parenthood pregnancy birth bonding and attachment to the dissolution of family relationships divorce death Authors discuss aspects of how the fabric of family life is woven together by the complex interplay of emotions with essential information on marital family relationships parenting socialization sibling relationships family health dysfunctional family processes family therapy and much more Emotions and the Family functions as an invaluable textbook for graduate studies in family sciences child development psychology social work and sociology The book is equally effective as a professional resource for clinical practitioners in psychology marriage and family therapy and social work      Everyday Beliefs about Emotion: Their Role in Subjective Experience, Emotion as an Interpersonal Process, and Emotion Theory Stephanie A. Recent Advances in the Measurement of Acceptance and Rejection in the Peer System Antonius H. Cillessen, 2000-07-14 This issue explores the latest developments in the application of sociometric methodology to the study of peer relations exploring how the seminal work of Jacob Moreno has been and is being used in child development research Emphasizing the bilateral nature of peer relationships the issue presents two different approaches for taking into account the characteristics of the perceivers who are providing sociometric evaluations the use of unlimited nominations and the use of ratings instead of nominations The contributors offer both a conceptual and an empirical analysis of the fundamental sociometric dimensions of acceptance rejection and social preference and they summarize what is known about the stability over time of sociometric status categories This is the 88th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development

The Developmental Psychology of Personal Relationships Rosemary S. L. Mills, Steve Duck, 2000-04-14 These are the first two volumes in an important new five book series derived from sections of the international bestseller Handbook of Personal Relationships Second Edition by Steve Duck The purpose of the series is to allow professionals and students easy access to state of the art theory and practice in specific areas of personal relationships an increasingly popular field of research and therapeutic practice that focuses on the processes by which individuals relate to each other in social and family settings Each paperback is an updated and expanded version of its corresponding section in the Handbook and contains several new chapters that provide a greater breadth of coverage

Examining Adolescent Leisure Time Across Cultures: Developmental Opportunities and Risks Suman Verma, 2003-04-21 To gain deeper insight into the developmental opportunities and risks that adolescents experience in their free time this volume explores adolescents daily leisure experience across countries Each chapter describes the sociocultural contexts in which adolescents live along with a profile of free time activities Collectively the chapters highlight the differences and similarities between cultures how family peers and wider social factors influence the use of free time which societies provide more freedom and at what costs and how adolescents cope with restricted degrees of freedom and with what consequences on their mental health and well being Adolescence worldwide is a life period of role restructuring and social learning Free time activities provide opportunities to experiment with roles and develop new adaptive strategies and other interpersonal skills that have an impact on development socialization and the transition to adulthood Leisure provides a rich context in which adolescents can gain control over their attentional processes and learn from relationships with peers but it also has potential costs such as involvement in deviant and risk behaviors This volume is a valuable contribution to the research and discussion of this critical topic This is the 99th volume in the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development

Human Technogenesis: Cultural Pathways Through the Information Age Dinesh Sharma, 2004-10-08 The chapters in this volume demonstrate that the recent wave of innovation and adaptation to information technologies giving rise to a new form of human technogenesis is fundamentally transforming our everyday interactions and potentially reconstructing the nature and process of human development Human technogenesis is the constructive process of individual and sociocultural innovation and adaptation to the everyday interactions with information technologies which significantly affects the developing and the developed mind The technologically driven information economy is reshaping everyday human behavior and sociocultural environments Yet our paradigms for understanding human development within a cultural framework are guided by traditional and dichotomous ideas about the social world for example individualism collectivism egocentric sociocentric modern traditional Western Non Western As the impact of information technologies permeates all aspects of our lives research in human development and psychology must face the digitally connected social environments as its laboratory filled with naturally occurring experiments whether it is the speed at which we now communicate in the home or workplace the far reaching access children have to a wide array of information previously unavailable or the vicarious anonymity with which we are able to participate in each other's lives through the new media tools This volume begins the necessary discussion on how researchers will need to recognize the technology's impact on human development in their work and practice This is the 105th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development

Emotions are a Window Into One's Heart Alison Elaine Parker, 2012 The authors conducted a qualitative study to explore parental beliefs about emotions in the family across three cultures African American European American and Lumbee American Indian Twelve focus groups were conducted with 87 parents from these 3 cultural groups The purpose of the Monograph is to understand both parents' beliefs and how cultural or ethnic background may influence those beliefs

Development and Cultural Change: Reciprocal Processes Elliot Turiel, 1999-04-13 This volume of New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development examines the reciprocal interaction between individual development and cultural change showing how participation in culture involves not only acceptance of shared values and practices but also conflicts contested meanings and change The authors reveal how the processes of learning and transmission evolve along with the culture over time describing for example how diversity in educational philosophy and practices in Japanese preschools have arisen from a so called homogeneous culture The authors also demonstrate how long term historical change always includes both progress and regression and explain how individuals in positions of power carry multiple perspectives on the culture that lead to conflict and ultimately to change This is the 83rd issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development
