Communities And Caring The Mixed Economy Of Welfare:

Communities and Caring Marjorie Mayo,1994-02-22 Communities and Caring explores the theoretical background of social policy debates around the mixed economy of welfare in relation to community participation and community development Whilst providing a critical analysis of New Right Theories the book explores alternative approaches based on increasing accountability and democratic pluralism within the framework of active community participation Drawing upon different experiences both in Europe including Eastern as well as Western Europe in the United States and in the Third World Marjorie Mayo emphasises the importance of continuing public sector support and resources for community participation and development without such underlying public sector support community participation will be unable to meet community needs

Community Care for Older People Susan Tester,1996-03-06 This accessible textbook compares ways in which basic components of community care are funded organised and provided by governmental and non governmental agencies allowing practitioners and policy makers to learn from the experiences of their counterparts in Europe and North America

Developing Good Practice in Community Care Vicky White,John Harris,2001 This book presents guidelines for good practice in community care work It describes the planning and implementation of pioneering initiatives in the community analyses their effectiveness and outlines their practical implications

Humanity & Society ,1995-08

Vulnerable Adults and Community Care Keith Brown,2010-10-27 This book supports busy practitioners studying on the Post Qualifying Awards for Social Work with Adults Fully updated to cover the latest legislation the material in this book is presented as a series of self contained chapters written by different authors which takes the reader beyond pure facts and offers many differing and thought provoking viewpoints The text is packed with helpful tips and really encourages readers to engage with their client groups and to reflect upon practice in a more meaningful way

Transforming Community Care Helen Gorman,Karen Postle,2003 The third title in the Theories in Social Work series The authors use their detailed research to show powerfully how a generation of social workers have been disillusioned by care management They also use their own practice experience with older people to demonstrate the continuing possibilities for social work to empower service users and practitioners to develop care management in the future publisher

Community Care, Ideology and Social Policy Harry Cowen,2018-10-08 This book offers a comprehensive evaluation of community care strategies within the context of government social policy and assesses the recent shifts of political power from Conservative to Labour towards the end of the century Unlike the majority of texts in the field of community care it makes explicit the historical philosophical social and political inter connections and therefore provides an in depth understanding of changing policy issues for students practitioners and managers in health and social care

Policy and Politics ,1995

Care, Communities, and Citizens Marian Barnes,1997 Barnes considers the implications of a concept of community care which recognises people as citizens as well as users of services and looks at potential conflicts and differences in priorities when users and carers contribute to service policy

Change in Social Work Bogdan Lesnik, 1997 International Perspectives in Social Work is a yearbook dedicated to topical issues in social work theories and practices around the globe bringing together original contributions from experienced practitioners and academics worldwide In this volume a wide range of questions concerning recent changes in social work are addressed With contributions from some of the major figures in contemporary social work this exciting international collection offers both breadth and depth making it essential reading for everyone wishing to keep abreast of developments in social work theory and practice International Perspectives also publishes work related to other fields of work and research if they shed light on the circumstances in which social work is being practiced or topics relevant to social work for example social political anthropological or psychological issues

Decentralizing the Civil Service R. A. W. Rhodes, 2003 Concerned with the civil services of the United Kingdom this book examines their characteristics and trends since 1970 It assesses the UK's changing civil services in the wake of two decades of public sector management reforms and New Labour's constitutional reform programme devolution to Scotland Wales and Northern Ireland

Managing the Ageing Experience Denise Tanner, 2010 A book which truly makes older people's experiences central to understanding how best policy makers and practitioners might promote well being in later life

Community Care and the Voluntary Sector Paul Reading, 1994

Social Work, Social Care, and Social Planning Adrian Leonard Webb, Gerald Wistow, 1987

Social Care in a Mixed Economy Gerald Wistow, 1994 This book describes the mixed economy of community care in England and analyses the efforts and activities of local authorities to promote and develop it It is based on national documentary and statistical evidence and on more detailed research with twenty four local authorities and includes a case study on the transfer of residential homes to the independent sector

Psychology and Sociology Applied to Medicine Beth Alder, Edwin van Teijlingen, MA, MEd, PhD, Michael Porter, BA, MPhil, 2009-06-17 This textbook in the Illustrated Colour Text series offers an integrated treatment of sociology and psychology for medical students It is presented in a much more colourful and graphic format than is usual for books on these two subjects This integration reflects the tendency to teach these two subjects together as behavioural science with an increased stress on the place of medicine in society and on illness as a product of psychological and social circumstances rather than merely a biological phenomenon The book reflects these trends and has been successful and popular with students An integrated treatment of psychology and sociology for medical students in line with the trend towards teaching these subjects as behavioural sciences Use of case studies and Stop Think boxes encourages critical thinking and discussion Graphic Illustrated Colour Text presentation style enlivens a subject which most medical students are not keen on This third edition contains a new introduction on the importance and key features of the biopsychosocial model and additional double page spreads on International Health and Rural Health

Rights and Realities Caroline Glendinning, 1998 All advanced industrial societies are experiencing changing demographic profiles accompanied by political pressures to limit public spending These trends threaten the capacity of publicly funded health and welfare services to maintain current levels of provision in the face of rising demand Together they are driving forces in the search by local and national governments alike for alternative more cost effective ways of organising and providing care This new edited book focuses on the shifting boundaries between health and social services between services and money between public and private provision It explores the experiences of a number of countries which have recently made changes in the organisation funding or delivery of services for frail older people Each chapter has been specially commissioned from experts familiar with the organisation of services in their particular country The book describes the consequences of these service changes for older citizens and the broader lessons for policy and service development

Outcomes of Community Care for Users and Carers Andrew Nocon, Hazel Qureshi, 1996 What effects do community care services have on the people who use them Detailed attempts to measure impacts on service users and their carers have been largely confined to research exercises designed to compare different forms of social care provision In contrast performance measurement by social services has focused on activity indicators inputs and processes rather than outcomes for users The need for a shift of focus within agencies routine practice is being increasingly recognized However the task is not straightforward This book offers some ways forward for people working in agencies delivering social care It examines the meaning of outcomes considers potential service contexts for measuring them and explores service users and carers views It gives an overview of measures already used in research and considers the issues involved in developing methods suitable for practice in relation to the main groups of people receiving community care services

BOOK JACKET Title Summary field

Direct Payments and Personalisation of Care Charlotte Pearson, 2006 There is a growing experience of the use and take up of direct payments from government to disabled users of care services rather than through intermediary bodies Uniquely in Scotland there has been a move to widen direct payments to all community care users This study places the Scottish experience in an international context

International Perspectives on Community Care for Older People Thomas Scharf, G. Clare Wenger, 1995

International Perspectives on Community Care for Older People draws together acknowledged international experts in the field of community care in order to address some of the common issues which are associated with transitions in health and social care provision
