Communities of Discourse Gary D. Schmidt, William J. Vande Kopple, 1993 This collection of essays drawn from five different disciplines history the arts philosophy science and social science represents the kinds of writing that have characterized each discourse community and illustrates both the clashes and agreements within those communities about the nature of effective writing

The Realms of Rhetoric Joseph Petraglia, Deepika Bahri, 2012-02-01 In The Realms of Rhetoric contributors from a wide range of disciplines explore the challenges and opportunities faced in building a curricular space in the academy for rhetoric Although rhetoric education has its roots in ancient times the modern era has seen it fragmented into composition and public speaking obscuring concepts theories and skills Petraglia and Bahri consider the prospects for rhetoric education outside of narrow disciplinary constraints and together with leading scholars examine opportunities that can propel and revitalize rhetoric education at the beginning of the millennium

Writing in the Academic Disciplines David R. Russell, 2002 To understand the ways students learn to write we must go beyond the small and all too often marginalized component of the curriculum that treats writing explicitly and look at the broader though largely tacit traditions students encounter in the whole curriculum explains David R Russell in the introduction to this singular study The updated edition provides a comprehensive history of writing instruction outside general composition courses in American secondary and higher education from the founding public secondary schools and research universities in the 1870s through the spread of the writing across the curriculum movement in the 1980s through the WAC efforts in contemporary curriculums

Writing in the Disciplines Mary Deane, Peter O'Neill, 2011-08-23 Writing in the Disciplines WiD is a growing field in which discipline based academics writing developers and learning technologists collaborate to help students succeed as subject specialists This book places WiD in its theoretical and cultural contexts and reports on initiatives taking place at a range of UK higher education institutions Also includes surveys of current developments and scholarship in the US Australia Europe and elsewhere making it of interest to both a UK and an international audience

Writing in the Academic Disciplines, 1870-1990 David R. Russell, 1991 In this singular study David R Russell provides a history of writing instruction outside general composition courses in American secondary and higher education from the founding of public secondary schools and research universities in the 1870s through the spread of the writing across the curriculum movement in the 1980s Russell's task is to examine the ways writing was taught in the myriad curricula that composed the varied structure of secondary and higher education in modern America He begins with the assertion that before the 1870s writing was taught as ancillary to speaking As a result formal writing instruction was essentially training in handwriting the mechanical process of transcribing sound to visual form From this point Russell carefully examines academic writing its origins and its teaching from a broad institutional perspective He looks at the history of little studied genres of student writing such as the research paper lab report and essay examination Tracing the effects of increasing specialization on writing instruction he notes how two new ideals of academic life research and utilitarian service shaped writing instruction into its modern forms Finally he contributes the definitive history of the current writing across the curriculum movement providing a study of the long tradition of other WAC efforts with an analysis of why they have waned

A Meeting of the Minds Patsy Callaghan, Ann Dobyns, 2003-11 This book shows would be writers and serious readers how to open up a dialogue between writer and audience The book includes coverage of how to write for college academic purposes as well as how to write for the job or in service to the community Rhetoric writing reading writing practice English courses English composition courses all potential writers

The Curriculum and the Disciplines of Knowledge Arthur R. King, John Arnold Brownell, 1976

Inventing a Discipline Maureen Daly Goggin, 2000 Heeding the call of noted rhetoric scholar Richard E Young to engage in serious scholarly investigations of the assumptions that underlie established practices and habits about writing the contributors to this critical volume study a diverse array of disciplinary issues situate their work in a wide matrix of theoretical perspectives and engage in multiple modes of inquiry and in multiple discourses In section 1 the authors consider the history present state and potential future directions of the research scholarship and pedagogies of the field Section 2 presents the theoretical historical and empirical investigations of particular kinds of rhetorical theories and practices Section 3 offers discussions of specific writing programs and pedagogical approaches After an introduction by Maureen Daly Goggin essays in the book are 1 A Rhetoric for Literate Society The Tension between Expanding Practices and Restricted Theories Charles Bazerman 2 Accounting for Well Worn Grooves Composition as a Self Reinforcing Mechanism Maureen Daly Goggin and Steve Beatty 3 Cross Disciplinarity in Rhetorical Scholarship Janice M Lauer 4 Shaping Sophisticates Implications of the Rhetorical Turn for Rhetoric Education Joseph Petraglia 5 Rhetoric and the Ecology of the Noosphere Robert Inkster 6 The Modesty of Aristotle s Rhetoric Eugene Garver 7 Classical Rhetoric in American Writing Textbooks 1950 1965 Karen Rossi Schnakenberg 8 Reinventing Memory and Delivery Winifred Bryan Horner 9 From Heuristic to Aleatory Procedures Or Toward Writing the Accident Victor J Vitanza 10 Bridging the Gap Integrating Visual and Verbal Rhetoric Lee Odell and Karen McGrane 11 Inventing the American Research University Nineteenth Century American Science and the New Middle Class Danette Paul and Ann M Blakeslee 12 Scientific Writing and Scientific Thinking Writing the Scientific Habit of Mind Carol Berkenkotter 13 The Rhetoric of Social Action College Mentors Inventing the Discipline Elenore Long 14 WAC WHACK You re an Expert NOT Sam Watson 15 Can Writing Be Taught Being Explicit in the Teaching and Learning of Writing across the Curriculum Stuart Greene and Rebecca Schoenike Nowacek 16 Notes on the Evolution of Network Support for Writing across the Curriculum Mike Palmquist and 17 Pedagogical Invention and Rhetorical Action in Writing across the Curriculum Jo Ann M Sipple William L Sipple and J Stanton Carson Each chapter contains references RS

The Acquisition of Disciplinary Rhetorical Strategies and Conventions Portraits of Two Undergraduates Mary Ann Sherby, 2000

Audience and Rhetoric James E. Porter, 1992 Offering a new approach to the concept of audience this volume critiques the prevalent audience theories and practices in the field of rhetoric and composition using the archaeological methodology of Michel Foucault The author traces major audience treatments from Aristotle and George Campbell to the present and shows how the dominant approaches are founded on a managerial composing model which assumes that invention is the exclusive activity of the writer Porter argues for the ethical necessity of a social constructionist approach to audience developing out of reader response and poststructuralist theory For anyone involved in the creation of public policy

Writing Centers and Writing Across the Curriculum Programs Robert W. Barnett, Jacob S. Blumner, 1999-02-28 Writing Centers have traditionally been viewed as marginalized facilities within their institutions At the same time faculty in all disciplines have come to stress the importance of good writing and institutions have created Writing Across the Curriculum WAC Programs to address this concern Often the interests of Writing Centers conflict with those of WAC programs and the theoretical foundations of the two may not necessarily be the same Nonetheless Writing Centers whether voluntarily or involuntarily have become more involved with efforts to promote Writing Across the Curriculum and have formed fruitful partnerships with WAC Programs While journal articles have begun to discuss these partnerships this book offers an extended treatment of the topic By examining the relationships between Writing Centers and WAC programs this volume challenges the view that Writing Centers are marginalized and demonstrates how they are aggressively moving toward the curricular center of education Each chapter examines the evolving theoretical practical and institutional relationships between Writing Centers and Writing Across the Curriculum programs By drawing from institutionally specific experiences expert contributors present a variety of approaches for establishing and developing effective Writing Center WAC partnerships Included are perspectives from established and emerging theorists from all levels including high schools community colleges small four year colleges and universities and major research institutions The contributors accurately portray the true diversity of Writing Center WAC partnerships and assess the compatibility of these partnerships with larger institutional missions The volume touches on such topics as the use of computers in writing instruction the use of student writing tutors and the problems inherent in discipline specific language By deepening our knowledge of the merging of Writing Centers and WAC Programs this book sets the foundation for more advanced future research

Rhetoric and Pluralism Frederick J. Antczak, 1995 The first of five groups of essays situates Booth within contemporary controversies and within the life experiences and roles where such controversies matter most for human character Booth's work as a literary critic shapes the second section which focuses on what the authors see as Booth's key ethical questions about literature and literary criticism The third section of essays is concerned with the implications of Booth's writing particularly in its connection with politics Booth's influence in fields other than literary studies provides the theme for the fourth section The final section explores the problematic but promising relation among assent ethics and pluralism      Rhetoric In(to) Science Heather Brodie Graves,2005 This book examines the role that rhetoric plays in the creation and conceptualization of new knowledge claims It looks at scientists in the act of conducting research interpreting data and constructing accounts of an experiment and highlights how they worked with the linguistic resources available to them to bring into existence abstract concepts and gain new insight into the subject of their study The book addresses some of the big questions about the epistemic and ontological status of rhetoric in the context of ongoing scientific inquiry The book concludes with an examination of the implications of this research for the teaching of writing especially focusing on the role that specialists play in modeling effective writing in their disciplines      Public Literacy Elizabeth Ervin,2003      Practicing the Medical Humanities Ronald A. Carson,Chester R. Burns,Thomas R. Cole,2003 What can the humanities contribute to the practice of medicine How in practice can this contribution strengthen physician patient relationships improve medical education and improve patient care The editors seek to engage physicians humanists and patients in a conversation addressing these two critical questions and readers are asked to consider the future of the medical humanities and their goals what are the possibilities for the renewal of the humanist tradition of practical wisdom tolerance and compassion and what would this mean for the practice of medicine      Rhetoric for Academic Reasoning L.
