Community And Capital In Conflict Plant Closings And Job Loss:

Community and Capital in Conflict John C. Raines, Lenora E. Berson, David McL. Gracie, 1982      African American Urban History since World War II Kenneth L. Kusmer, Joe W. Trotter, 2009-08-01 Historians have devoted surprisingly little attention to African American urban history of the postwar period especially compared with earlier decades Correcting this imbalance African American Urban History since World War II features an exciting mix of seasoned scholars and fresh new voices whose combined efforts provide the first comprehensive assessment of this important subject The first of this volume's five groundbreaking sections focuses on black migration and Latino immigration examining tensions and alliances that emerged between African Americans and other groups Exploring the challenges of residential segregation and deindustrialization later sections tackle such topics as the real estate industry's discriminatory practices the movement of middle class blacks to the suburbs and the influence of black urban activists on national employment and social welfare policies Another group of contributors examines these themes through the lens of gender chronicling deindustrialization's disproportionate impact on women and women's leading roles in movements for social change Concluding with a set of essays on black culture and consumption this volume fully realizes its goal of linking local transformations with the national and global processes that affect urban class and race relations      The Politics of Plant Closings John Portz, 1990 A paper reprint of the 1988 original It is a political history that describes and analyzes the management of organized knowledge Wheatley takes Flexner and the Carnegie Foundation of 1910 as the model Portz political science Northeastern U combines a synthesis of the literature on urban politics and political economy with a close analysis of plant closings in Pittsburgh Pennsylvania Louisville Kentucky and Waterloo Iowa to illuminate the complexity of constraints upon and range of local government efforts to control the economic damage caused by shutdowns Paper edition unseen 12 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      Race, Poverty, and American Cities John Charles Boger, Judith Welch Wegner, 1996 Precise connections between race poverty and the condition of America's cities are drawn in this collection of seventeen essays Policymakers and scholars from a variety of disciplines analyze the plight of the urban poor since the riots of the 1960s and      Deindustrialization and Plant Closure Paul D. Staudohar, Holly E. Brown, 1987 Contains a collection of readings on the debate over deindustrialisation and plant closure as an inevitable consequence of continual industrial restructuring      A Town Abandoned Steven P. Dandaneau, 1996-04-11 Hometown to both General Motors and the United Auto Workers and the setting for the documentary film Roger and Me Flint Michigan is a striking example of a declining city in America's Rust Belt A Town Abandoned examines Flint's response to its own social and economic decline and at the same time pursues a broad analysis of class and culture in America's late capitalist society It tells the story of how Flint's local institutions and citizens interpret and rationalize their city's massive auto industry job loss and consequent decline and it relates these interpretations to statewide national and international forces that led to the deindustrialization Using a critical theory approach Dandaneau reveals the futility of Flint's efforts to confront essentially global problems and moreover depicts the disturbing conceptual and cultural distortions that result from its sustained powerlessness Dandaneau shows that all policy solutions to Flint's problems were in essence public relations solutions and he gives a moving portrayal of the consequences for local communities of the internationalization of American business

Locality and Inequality Linda M. Lobao, 1990-01-01 This book explores how the recent restructuring of farming and industry has affected economic and social equality in the United States The author explains how the farm sector has undergone a dramatic restructuring with profound effects Moderate size family farms the mainstay of American agriculture have declined during the postwar period and are now under severe financial stress Large scale industrialized farms the factories in the field often run by corporations continue to expand their share of agricultural sales while small farms operated on a part time basis appear to be replacing traditional family farming Lobao shows that public concern about farm restructuring is indeed warranted and that the nation now appears to be losing its most beneficial farms as well as industries While local and regional social and economic forces and state policy can be brought to bear on these trends Lobao particularly focuses on how community empowerment and broad based political coalitions offer the most promise for fundamental change

From Puerto Rico to Philadelphia Carmen Teresa Whalen, 2001 We were poor but we had everything we needed reminisces Do a Epifania Nonetheless when a man she knew told her about a job in Philadelphia she grasped the opportunity to leave Coamas He went to Puerto Rico and told me there were beans to cook I came here and cooked for fourteen workers In San Lorenzo Do a Carmen and her husband made the same decision We didn't want to nobody wanted to leave There wasn't any alternative Don Florencio recalls that in Salinas work had gotten scarce especially for the youth the young men The farmworker that was used to cutting cane already the sugar cane was disappearing and government licensing regulations made fishing more difficult for the poor Puerto Rican migration to the mainland following World War II took place for a range of reasons globalization of the economy the colonial relationship between the United States and Puerto Rico state policies changes in regional and local economies social networks and not least the decisions made by individual immigrants In this wide ranging book Carmen Whalen weaves them all into a tapestry of Puerto Rican immigration to Philadelphia Like African Americans and Mexicans Puerto Ricans were recruited for low wage jobs only to confront racial discrimination as well as economic restructuring As Whalen shows they were part of that wave of newcomers who come from areas in the Caribbean Latin America and Asia characterized by a heavy U S military and economic presence especially export processing zones looking for a new life in depressed urban environments already populated by earlier labor migrants But Puerto Rican immigration was also unique especially in its regional and gender dimensions Many migrants came as part of contract labor programs shaped by competing agendas By the 1990s economic conditions government policies and racial ideologies had transformed Puerto Rican labor migrants into what has been called the other underclass Professor Whalen analyzes this continuation of culture of poverty interpretations and contrasts it with the efforts of Philadelphia Puerto Ricans to recreate their communities and deal with the impact of economic restructuring and residential segregation in the City of Brotherly Love Author note Carmen Teresa Whalen is Assistant Professor of Puerto Rican and Hispanic Caribbean Studies at Rutgers University Plant Closure and Community Economic Decline Brenda L. Ekstrom, F. Larry Leistritz, 1986 Snowbelt Cities Richard M. Bernard, 1990 A major contribution to the literature on changing US regionalism the volume is handsomely produced and thoroughly documented Choice useful and well researched American Politics Review This is an excellent book for use in the course on comparative urban development It is a book that should be read by any urbanist who believes that a historical orientation is the best prelude for understanding the future of urban development into the 21st century Urban Studies Specialists in urban history and urban affairs join forces to compare the recent political histories of twelve major northeastern and midwestern cities These excellent essays delineate intricate patterns of political competition among leaders of competing groups who generally agree on a pro business pro growth agenda as in the Sunbelt The relative power of nonbusiness groups however sets these northern cities apart from those of the Sunbelt and has formed the basis of the Snowbelt's postwar politics

Struggling with "Iowa's Pride" Wilson J. Warren, 2000 a Recognized between 1880 and 1910 by its trademark label Iowa's Pride John Morrell and Company is best known for contributing one of the most important local unions to the progressive United Packinghouse Workers of America During the 1930s and 1940s its members pursued a militant brand of unionism By the early 1950s the local's militancy became a source of contention among the membership By explaining the effect of Morrell Ottumwa's union leaders on local and state Democratic politics especially in the development of the Congress of Industrial Organizations Iowa State Industrial Union Council and the AFL CIO's Iowa Federation of Labor Wilson Warren makes an important contribution to the literature on labor's involvement in the Democratic party's ascendancy across much of the industrial North following World War II This history of Ottumwa's meatpacking workers provides insights into the development of several forms of labor relations including the evangelical Christian paternalism welfare capitalism and unionism that were distinctive to one blue collar community but that also reflected workers' experiences in many other rural midwestern industrial communities By carefully analyzing all relevant labor and industrial sources and by revealing the deeply held aspirations and concerns expressed by both workers and managers Warren constructs a window through which Iowa's industrial and labor history over the past 120 years can be viewed Plant Closings Lawrence Rothstein, 1986-03-30 Why has the drastic assault on U S workers' economic well being represented by plant closings not spurred them to greater political and trade union militancy The answers lie in the myths and power structure of our society's legal and business institutions By comparing worker experiences in Youngstown Ohio where plant closings and layoffs are not regulated and Longwy France where legislation had been enacted Rothstein gauges the markedly different effects

Plant Closings and Worker Displacement Marie Howland, 1988 Rural Community Decline and Revitalization

Brenda L. Ekstrom, F. Larry Leistritz, 1988 The focus of this book is on socioeconomic consequences of economic decline in rural areas and strategies for the revitalization of the affected communities The scope of the book has been further narrowed by examining problems of decline and revitalization only within the world's industrialized countries From introduction

Plant Closure, Regulation, and Liberalism Oren M. Levin-Waldman, 1992 This book is about the problem of plant closure and our failure as a society to formulate an effective solution to the problem The author asks the question why have we as a society been able to regulate any number of economic issues but not this one Contents Plant Closings Challenge to Liberalism Plant Closings Understanding Liberalism The Evolving Public Private Relationship Strategies for Dealing with Plant Closure Issues in Plant Closing Legislation The Failure of Liberalism to Adapt Index

Partnering for Change David B. Reynolds, 2004-04-07 In the past decade unions and community groups have come together around a wide range of campaigns for economic justice from fighting for living wages to electing progressive champions to questioning market oriented economic development to promoting anti sprawl smart growth efforts Partnering for Change brings together activists and intellectuals on the forefront of these organizing efforts They discuss general patterns of labor community coalitions in terms of alliances between unions and such community players as environmentalists religious groups low income organizations and local employers The contributors also offer a wealth of case studies such as the successful campaign for corporate subsidy accountability in Minnesota Vermont's Livable Wage Campaign The Wisconsin Regional Training Partnership and the model regional power building projects of the South Bay AFL CIO The volume's editor David Reynolds combines a broad overview of labor community coalitions practical examples applicable to diverse communities and an appreciation of the challenges as well as the opportunities for building the movement for economic change

Philadelphia Liberals and the Problem of Jobs, 1951-1980 Guian Alexander McKee, 2002 Labour Capital and Society, 2001

Derelict Landscapes John A. Jakle, David Wilson, 1992 Jakle and Wilson present a portrait of various kinds of landscape dereliction in the US disinvestment underutilization vacancy abandonment decay and degradation and the cultural values that have underlain both personal and societal predispositions to be wasteful
