Community Care for Older People Susan Tester, 1996 This book provides students teachers and practitioners concerned with health and social services with an accessible textbook on community care for older people in Europe and North America It compares ways in which basic components of community care are funded organised and provided by governmental and non governmental agencies allowing practitioners and policy makers to learn from the experiences of their counterparts in France Germany Italy the Netherlands the United Kingdom and the United States of America International

Perspectives on Community Care for Older People Thomas Scharf, G. Clare Wenger, 1995 International Perspectives on Community Care for Older People draws together acknowledged international experts in the field of community care in order to address some of the common issues which are associated with transitions in health and social care provision Ageing

Societies: a Comparative Introduction Virpi Timonen, 2008-04-16 What is ageing Why is ageing important and how can we understand it better How does policy and practice in relation to ageing populations differ across the globe This book aims to convince readers that ageing is not boring threatening or depressing but that it has enormous relevance for the young and the old alike Virpi Timonen provides an engaging introduction to the central social economic and political aspects and impacts of ageing and makes the case for the importance of analysing ageing from a number of different perspectives Using comparative international data the author provides a detailed description of the process of population ageing including increasing longevity changes in fertility and variations in the health status of older populations In addition the book sets out the social context and background of ageing discussing related and relevant developments such as Changes in family structures Patterns of household formation Women s labour market participation Income and work in older age Health and social care of older people Attitudes towards older people The book highlights the nature of ageing as an individual and societal experience The author succeeds in arguing that whilst ageing is becoming an increasingly widespread and global experience age related policies practices and consequently the actual lived experience of ageing differ greatly between countries and regions of the world Ageing Societies is of interest and use to both undergraduate and postgraduate students in fields such as gerontology social policy social work sociology nursing as well as professionals and practitioners in the eldercare sectors and general readers from a wide variety of backgrounds who wish to gain an understanding of the complex and highly topical subject of ageing This introductory text is a sound basic overview It is well structured and easily accessible both to lay persons who may have little knowledge or experience of social gerontology as well as to students who may seek to explore and develop insights further within what is a relatively recent intellectual tradition Chrisine Atwell School of Social Sciences Cardiff University UK Virpi Timonen's book is written in a lively and accessible style and will be particularly valuable for undergraduates and students on professional courses Sara Arber University of Surrey UK Timonen does an excellent job of explaining both very basic concepts and complex aspects thus making this book accessible to a broad range of readers Vanessa Beck University of Leicester UK Timonen provides a clear well organised wide ranging and comprehensible introduction to the complex and highly topical subject of ageing and its global and social diversity Kate Davidson Centre for Research on Ageing and Gender University of Surrey Guildford UK

Adult Day Services and Social Inclusion Chris Clark, 2001-06-15 Placing adult day services within the whole spectrum of social provision the contributors to this book explore their complementary role alongside field social work health care domiciliary services and supported accommodation Professionals in all sectors of social care will find it an essential guide to the provision of an effective day service

Older People and Their Needs Gianetta Corley, 2000 The final decades of the human lifespan are undeniably complex and challenging both for individuals themselves and for those who care for them With contributions from academic and health care professionals informal and family carers this book provides a rich resource of debate and practical ideas on how to prepare for dignity and quality of life during those years As well as addressing issues of physical independence mobility nutrition continence and dementia care the book also suggests innovative ideas for financial planning and maintaining family and community networks The identity and social roles of older people are explored and there is a particular focus on relationships and communication

Comparative Health Policy, Second Edition Robert H. Blank, Viola Burau, 2007-07-15 This wide ranging text assesses the extent to which policy problems and responses in different countries have common causes or spring from specific national circumstances systematically comparing Australia Germany Japan New Zealand the Netherlands Sweden Singapore the UK and the US but ranging more widely as appropriate The fully revised second edition includes an additional chapter on the politics of health and an increased focus on the individual patient in different systems

Older People, Ageing and Social Work Karen Heycox, 2020-07-23 Essential reading for practitioners educators and researchers within the general field of social work with older people From the foreword by Mark Lymbery Associate Professor of Social Work University of Nottingham The reality of our ageing population means all social workers need to be confident in working with older people Social workers are engaged in ongoing practice with older people in a variety of contexts from hospitals aged care assessment teams and mental health services to employment services housing services and rehabilitation services Older People Ageing and Social Work draws on theoretical research policy and practice knowledge to inform contemporary practice with older people Hughes and Heycox demonstrate that high level professional skills are required in this area as well as detailed knowledge of the issues affecting older people's lives They argue that practitioners need to take into account the social and emotional needs of the older people they work with as well as the practical and administrative aspects of their roles They emphasise understanding the diversity of the older population and enabling older people to make the most of their strengths and capacities Governing Home Care Viola Desideria Burau, Hildegard Theobald, Robert H. Blank, 2007 Offering a comparative and thematic cross country analysis of the governance of home care this book systematically maps out governing arrangements in relation to formal care services informal care workers and users of care across nine countries Care of the Elderly in India Arun P. Bali, 2001

Negotiating Death in Contemporary Health and Social Care Margaret Holloway, 2007 This book brings together perspectives from social science health care and pastoral theology looking at the way death is handled in contemporary society and the sensitive ethical and practical dilemmas facing nurses social workers doctors and chaplains IASSI Quarterly, 1999 Asian Population Studies Series, 1996 The Gendering of Inequalities Jane Jenson, Jacqueline Laufer, Margaret Maruani, 2018-02-05 This was first published in 2000 This work is founded on the premise that many analyses of economic restructuring and of gender relations fail to recognize two things First the situation facing women is different from that of the 1960s when the conceptual apparatuses for analyzing women and work were created Labour markets are dominated by flexible non standard work precarious contractual relations and income disparities Therefore it is difficult to structure political claims or analysis around the notion that there is a single labour market that the primary problem is discrimination or inappropriate training and that political strategies should focus on discrimination and non traditional employment Rather new challenges require new solutions The second point of departure is that it is impossible to understand either contemporary labour markets or the roots of employment and other public policies without locating them vis a vis patterns of gender inequalities generated by and in these labour markets The labour force has been feminized to such an extent that new and often unequal gender relations are crucial to their very functioning The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2002 Administration, 1997 Delivering Welfare Perri 6, Isabel Vidal Martínez, 1994 Handbook of Aging and the Social Sciences Robert H. Binstock, Linda K. George, 1990 The Cultural Context of Aging Jay Sokolovsky, 1997 This volume uses the concept of culture to explore the parameters of aging and being old in a worldwide context thus providing a true cross cultural and qualitative approach to social gerontology Containing both specific case studies and broader analytical articles this revised and expanded second edition focuses on the multitude of cultural solutions societies have available for dealing with the challenges problems and opportunities of growing old Composed almost exclusively of specially commissioned articles the text is organized around six topical areas which cover the major concerns of cross cultural social gerontology Each section is preceded by an introduction providing a framework for the chapters and highlighting key related issues Also included are state of the art resource guides including Internet sites special student resources data sets and annotated bibliographies of related readings The authors come from the fields of anthropology sociology gerontology social work psychology psychiatry and nursing Through explorations of the experiences of real people the contributors illuminate how elders actually live in such places as U S urban ethnic enclaves rural Kenya a

South Seas island urban China or a New York City women s shelter Dealing directly with key practical issues relevant to those seeking to pursue a career in the aging field this volume covers policy implications of demographic aging culture and successful aging culture and caregiving gender and aging grandparenthood and the crisis in urban families informal social support homelessness and aging nursing homes and pet therapy assisted suicide and death hastening behavior the aging woman and widowhood rural aging self help groups and the cultural response to Alzheimer s disease This essential text allows students to understand fully how culture can dictate what may appear to be natural responses to elders and aging

Age and Ageing Policy in Germany Thomas Scharf, 1998-09 Like all other advanced Western societies Germany is coming to terms with the phenomenon of an ageing population The demographic challenge posed by population ageing is generally seen in terms of potential crisis in the funding of health and social programmes Some social scientists have even suggested that the early decades of the next century will be marked by conflict between the generations with young and old competing for increasingly scarce resources This is the first book written in English to address comprehensively ageing policies in Germany and the contribution of older people to German society The book examines the development of social policies affecting older people since the origins of the German welfare state under Bismarck and looks at how policy makers have sought to cope with the growing numbers of elderly people over the years The social economic and political role of older people in contemporary Germany and their contribution to society are also explored from their development into a more politically active sector of society to their changing relationship with the labour market and their social integration in terms of their relationships with families neighbourhoods and local communities
