Community Water Community Management From System To Service In Rural Areas:

Community Water, Community Management Ton Schouten, J. Patrick Moriarty, 2003 Community management has become the leading concept for implementing water supply systems in rural areas In the light of two decades of experience this book considers the opportunities and constraints of community management in providing a service to the millions of people who need it

Community-based Water Law and Water Resource Management Reform in Developing Countries Mark Giordano, John Butterworth, 2007-01-01 The fifteen chapters of this book analyse the living community based water laws in Africa Latin America and Asia and critically examine the interface between community based water laws formal water laws and a variety of other key institutional ingredients of on going water resources management reform

Community Management of Rural Water Supply Paul Hutchings, Richard Franceys, Stef Smits, Snehalatha Mekala, 2017-07-14 Based on twenty detailed successful case studies from across India this book outlines future rural water supply approaches for all lower income countries as they start to follow India on the economic growth and subsequent service levels transition

Process and benefits of community-led multiple use water services van Koppen, Barbara, Magombeyi, Manuel S., Jacobs-Mata, Inga, Molose, V., Phasha, K., Bophela, T., Modiba, I., White, M., 2020-07-12

Water Resources Journal, 2004 Urban and Peri-urban Water Supply and Sanitation Sector Report, 2002

Community Water Management, 1999

How to Support Community Management of Water Supplies Catarina Fonseca, Eveline Bolt, 2002 This book is for those who are in charge of facilitating community management of water supplies It provides guidelines and food for thought for managers and decision makers who want to improve the performance of their organization and make sure that water supply services in place keep working It answers such questions as what kind of support do communities require How can this support be provided What are the organizational conditions we need to put in place What tools can we use Who should be involved What does it demand from support organizations and the communities In other words what does it take to support community management of water supplies

Water Resources Sustainability Larry W. Mays, 2007 Providing clean water to earth's rapidly growing human population is one the major issues of the 21st Century The climatic effects of global warming on water supply has made this a hot button issue

Reforming Infrastructure Ioannis Nicolaos Kessides, 2004 Electricity natural gas telecommunications railways and water supply are often vertically and horizontally integrated state monopolies This results in weak services especially in developing and transition economies and for poor people Common problems include low productivity high costs bad quality insufficient revenue and investment shortfalls Many countries over the past two decades have restructured privatized and regulated their infrastructure This report identifies the challenges involved in this massive policy redirection It also assesses the outcomes of these changes as well as their distributional consequences for poor households and other disadvantaged groups It recommends directions for future reforms and research to improve infrastructure performance identifying pricing policies that strike a balance between economic efficiency and social equity suggesting rules governing access to bottleneck infrastructure facilities and proposing ways to increase poor people's access to these crucial services

Public Service Management, 1913      Water for Rural Communities John Briscoe, David M. De Ferranti, 1988 Efforts to improve the water supplies used by people in rural areas of developing countries have run into serious obstacles not only are public funds not available to build facilities for all but many newly constructed facilities have fallen into disrepair and disuse Along with the numerous failures there are also successes in this sector From these successes a new view has begun to emerge of what the guiding principles of rural water supply strategies should be This book brings together and spells out the constituents of this emerging view The central message is that it is the local people themselves not those trying to help them who have the most important role to play The community itself must be the primary decisionmaker the primary investor the primary organizer and the primary overseer The authors examine the implications of this primary principle for the main policy issues the level of service to be provided in different settings the level and mechanisms for cost recovery the roles for the private and public sectors and the role of women The potential advantages of proceeding from this outlook instead of the older top down approaches are considerable Improvement efforts are more likely to meet felt needs new facilities are more likely to be kept in service and more communities are more likely to get safe water sooner      Public Service Management Harvey James Gonden, Arthur W. Park, James Blythe Wootan, 1919

Technical Report South Africa. Water Research Commission, 1998

Western States Water, 2004      2011 Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance United States. Office of Management and Budget, 2011

Community Piped Water Supply Systems in Developing Countries Daniel Alexander Okun, Walter R. Ernst, 1987 This document provides officials in developing countries with a manual that can assist in the planning of community piped water supply systems and is intended to be the basis for the preparation of country planning manuals A checklist for planning and priorities for selection of projects precedes the elaboration of principles for planning Principles include consideration of health economic and social benefits environmental and social constraints and technical economic financial logistic institutional and sociocultural considerations The use of low cost indigenous materials simplicity for easy operation and maintenance financial and institutional capacity and community participation are emphasized Project preparation including project identification pre feasibility studies monitoring and evaluation and technical planning are described Technical subjects include water quality system capacity selection and development of sources pumps transmission lines distribution networks and water treatment Attention is given to operation and maintenance economic and financial considerations logistic support and local institutions including human resources development
