Communication Ethics And Universal Values:

Communication Ethics and Universal Values Clifford G. Christians, Michael Traber, 1997-01-28 This volume is designed to revolutionize the field of communication by identifying a broad ethical theory which transcends the world of mass media practice to reveal a more humane and responsible code of values The contributors representing a diverse range of intercultural perspectives defend the possibility of universal moral imperatives such as justice reciprocity and human dignity Through an examination of the values in which their cultures are grounded they provide a short list of ethical principles which form the common ground from which to view contemporary issues in the media interpersonal communication mediation and conflict resolution

Communication Ethics and Universal Values, 1997 The contributors representing a diverse range of intercultural perspectives provide a list of ethical principles common to all their cultures and demonstrate that cultures in all their differences share a common ground from which to view the media and debates affecting the field of communication in the 21st Century Understanding Foreign Correspondence Peter Gross, Gerd G. Kopper, 2011 There are as many as 3 400 correspondents covering the United States among them approximately 600 print and broadcast correspondents from European countries The importance of the foreign correspondents corps stationed in the United States and of their work has increased commensurate with the world preeminence gained by the U S after World War II This book examines the state of research on European foreign correspondence from the United States and on the corps of journalists that produces it Contributions from both European and American authors examine the varied conceptual issues regarding foreign correspondence the methodologies that have been employed in studies carried out on both sides of the Atlantic and the theories that were and could be tested when studying the subject The book serves as a prolegomena to future studies on foreign correspondence and correspondents

Interpersonal Divide in the Age of the Machine Michael J. Bugeja, 2018 Revised edition of the author's Interpersonal divide c2005 Mediating Religion Jolyon P. Mitchell, Sophia Marriage, 2003-06-01 This is the first book to bring together many aspects of the interplay between religion media and culture from around the world in a single comprehensive study Leading international scholars provide the most up to date findings in their fields and in a readable and accessible way Some of the topics covered include religion in the media age popular broadcasting communication theology popular piety film and religion myth and ritual in cyberspace music and religion communication ethics and the nature of truth in media saturated cultures The result is not only a wide ranging resource for scholars and students but also a unique introduction to this increasingly important phenomenon of modern life From Yahweh to Yahoo! Doug Underwood, 2010-10-01 Presenting religion as journalism's silent partner From Yahweh to Yahoo provides a fresh and surprising view of the religious impulses at work in contemporary newsrooms Focusing on how the history of religion in the United States entwines with the growth of the media Doug Underwood argues that American journalists draw from the nation's moral and religious heritage and operate in important ways as personifications of the old religious virtues Underwood traces religion's influence on mass communication from the biblical prophets to the Protestant Reformation from the muckraker and Social Gospel campaigns of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries to the modern age of mass media While forces have pushed journalists away from identifying themselves with religion they still approach such secular topics as science technology and psychology in reverential ways Underwood's thoughtful analysis covers the press's formulaic coverage of spiritual experience its failure to cover new and non-Christian religions in America and the complicity of the mainstream media in launching the religious broadcasting movement Ethics in Media Communications Louis A. Day, 1997 You'll find yourself engaged firsthand in controversial issues in the Second Edition of Ethics in Media Communications As you take on the role of ethical decision maker you'll analyze rich and original case studies arrive at your own conclusions and master the process of moral reasoning Author Louis A Day prepares you for the journey by providing a clear decision making model a framework to help you structure your thinking Along the way familiar examples the O J Simpson trial the Waco standoff and the Oklahoma City bombing illustrate the complex nature of ethics in our society You ll contemplate ethical concerns from journalism advertising PR and entertainment by focusing on the underlying values common to them all truth privacy confidentiality and social justice You ll grapple with issues of race gender age and sexual orientation And you ll consider perhaps the broadest question of all Are there universal standards to which media practitioners should aspire Ethics in Human Communication Richard L. Johannesen,2002 Ethics & Evil in the Public Sphere Robert S. Fortner,Mark Fackler,2010 The authors in this book share three convictions First our communicative efforts should reflect a genuine love for humankind Second all human beings reflect values for both good and ill And communication and culture are critical in this process What people say matters What they do as journalists broadcasters filmmakers advertisers and teachers matter even more because professional communicators have access to information and audiences who can be encouraged to do either Advocacy and Opposition Karyn Charles Rybacki,Donald Jay Rybacki,2004 Advocacy and Opposition offers a comprehensive and practical approach to argumentation and critical thinking This book provides a theoretical view of the nature of argument in our society a discussion of arguing as a form of communication and a focus on how arguments are created using the Toulmin model of argument Keyguide: Media Ethics Barrie MacDonald,Michel Petheram,1998-08-13 This guide to information sources in media ethics is divided into three parts Part I is an overview of the literature covering the mass media in general telecommunications broadcasting in all its forms cinema and video the press advertising publishing and ethical issues of the media such as government policy and influence legislation codes of practice censorship representation and reportage issues etc Part II is an annotated bibliography and Part III is an international directory of organizations related to the subject A detailed index completes the work Proceedings of the ... Conference of the American Academy of Advertising American Academy of Advertising. Conference,2001 Communication Judith S. Trent,1998 Intended to provide a century s end overview of where the entire field of communication is heading the speeches reprinted here were given at the 1996 national convention of the Speech Communication Association Some of the most prominent researchers active in the discipline were asked to review the state of the art in their area of specialization to limn new areas promising for study and to help chart the course for the further study into the next century Commissioned by Judith S Trent president of the National Communication Association the speeches reprinted here include valuable and insightful overviews from such diverse areas as interpersonal communication studies to examinations of the volatile realms of politics and organizations to discussions of emerging issues like gender health and education to descriptions of the contributions provided by critical lenses like social theory and cultural studies All provide a broad look at where the field is where it has emerged from and most importantly where it is going A joint venture of the National Communication Association and Allyn Bacon this volume will serve both as a text for graduate and undergraduate students taking courses like Communication Theory Communication Education and Introduction to Communication Studies and as a valuable resource for scholars and teachers in the field While Allyn Bacon will make this volume broadly available to its customers and to interested members of the profession free of charge the text will also be available for course adoption at a reasonable price Proceeds from sales of the text for class adoption will be placed in a special fund administered by the National Communication Association and used to sponsor professional activities for graduate students at future annual national conventions 21st Century Communication William F.
