Communication and National Integration in Communist China. [With Forew. by I. de Sola Pool]. Alan P. L. Liu, I. de Sola Pool, 1971

Communication Campaigns and National Integration in China's Market Economy Era Yanru Chen, 2015-09-01 This book adopts the method of grounded theory in studying national communication campaigns in China referred to as propaganda campaigns in the Chinese linguistic context The study provides an exploratory and descriptive analysis of the ways in which the media in China fulfilled their function of building a Socialist spiritual civilisation and maintaining national integration during state propaganda campaigns Explanations for the success and limitations of the campaigns are clearly expressed and combined with cautious statements on the limited role of the media in the process of national integration The three major communication campaigns detailed in this book offer revelations regarding how to maintain mass morale and revive the national spirit at a time when economic pursuits and aspirations seem to be the top priority for individuals and institutions A chief premise underpinning this study is that economic growth is not to be equated with social progress or human development the latter encompassing a far more profound spiritual dimension which takes far more delicate efforts to accomplish

Small Groups and Political Rituals in China Martin King Whyte, 1974-01-01

Chinese Theater Colin Mackerras, 2021-05-25 This volume is the first concise introduction to the splendid variety of the Chinese theatrical tradition It presents a rounded perspective on the development of Chinese theater by considering all of its major aspects history and social context performance costume makeup actors playwrights and theaters and by discussing all the major forms of Chinese theater including the Beijing opera which arose in the eighteenth century and the spoken play an entirely twentieth century form Its contributors are uniquely qualified to write about the Chinese theater They have enjoyed an intimate relationship with their subject both as academics and as theater workers and they have combined a deep knowledge of Chinese theater with a high regard for its long tradition and continuing vitality The book is intended for general as well as more specialized readers Those with an interest in theater as a worldwide phenomenon and those wanting a new light on Chinese culture and society will find it equally useful To those with a particular interest in Chinese theater it will be a rich and important resource

China's Transition to Industrialism Thomas G. Rawski, 1980-03-31 Monograph on China's industrialization and industrial growth trends and its contribution to economic development examines the historical background and effects of economic policies import substitution institutional framework administrative resource allocation managerial morale and Motivation technological change and Innovation and argues that outward looking development policies are not essential to industrial development in developing countries Bibliography pp 189 to 205 references and statistical tables Public Communication Campaigns Ronald E. Rice, Charles K. Atkin, 2001 This edition provides readers with a comprehensive up to date look into the field of public communication campaigns It includes a variety of recent campaign dimensions such as community orientated and entertainment education campaigns China's Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution Woei Lien Chong, 2002 Treating China's Cultural Revolution as much more than a political event this innovative volume explores its ideological dimensions The contributors focus especially on the CR's discourse of heroism and messianism and its demonization of the enemy as reflected in political practice official literature and propaganda art arguing that these characteristics can be traced back to hitherto neglected undercurrents of Chinese tradition Moreover while most studies of the Cultural Revolution are content to point to the discredited cult of heroism and messianism this book also explores the alternative discourses that have flourished to fill the resulting vacuum The contributors analyze the intense intellectual and artistic ferment in post Mao China that embody resistance to CR ideology as well as the urgent quest for authentic individuality new forms of social cohesion and historical truth Contributions by Anne Marie Brady Woei Lien Chong Lowell Dittmer Monika Gaenssbauer Nick Knight Stefan R Landsberger Nora Sausmikat Barend J ter Haar Natascha Vittinghoff and Lan Yang The Library Catalogs of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, Stanford University -- Catalog of the Western Language Collections Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, 1977 Michigan Monographs in Chinese Studies, 1982 Chinese Propaganda Posters: From Revolution to Modernization Stefan Landsberger, 2020-11-25 Brightly coloured prints portraying model behaviour or a better future have been a ubiquitous element of Chinese political culture from Imperial times until present As economic reform swept the People's Republic in the 1980s visual propaganda ceased to depict the tanned and muscular labourers in a proletarian utopia so typical of preceding decades Instead Western icons of progress and development were employed high speed bullet trains spacecraft high rise buildings gridlocked free ways and projections of general affluence Socialist Realism was phased out by design and mixed media techniques that were influenced by Western advertising This lavishly illustrated study traces the development of the style and content of the Chinese propaganda poster in the decade of reform from its traditional origins to its use as a tool for political and economic purposes Catalogue of the Public Archives Library Public Archives of Canada.
