Revival: Community Development on the North Atlantic Margin (2001) John Hutson,Reginald Byron,2017-07-12 This title was first published in 2001 Isolated communities dependent upon fishing farming and forestry which are scattered around the North Atlantic coast have shared a disastrous decline during the last decade These communities are in the peripheries of advanced industrial nation states such as Canada and supra national alliances such as the European Community yet despite this there are no easy solutions to the development of these regions This volume argues that the productive assets of these regions and how they can be used to sustain household incomes need to be better understood The assets need to be converted into products and services and they need to be marketed profitably The diminshing flow of young people who leave these areas to obtain higher education and who do not return must be turned around and efforts must be concentrated on the creation or strengthening of economic conditions which satisfy the younger generation s employment aspirations consumer requirements and social needs
