

INSTITUTIONAL PERSPECTIVE

The institutional perspective views the concept of community in three different dimensions.

First, it is an existing establishment or physical space where members of the community go for a certain purpose. Examples of this are the companies, hospitals, or educational institutions.

Community Education Perspectives:

Community Education Perspectives Michael H. Kaplan, John William Warden, 1978 Community Education for Social Justice Cameron White, 2014-02-05 What is community How important is community in the 21st century Where might the idea of community fit in education and schooling teaching and learning These are the questions and themes embedded in this book The general critique is that community is an add on in our schools and often is dismissed as a result of the individualistic and competitive nature of schooling today Our focus is to provide critical investigations as to the possibility of community and that we need community now more than ever The concept of community education brings many ideas and issues to mind Related themes include place based field based environmental service learning and outdoor education Each has its own more narrow focus with community education perhaps an umbrella term than encompasses them all Nevertheless the suggestion here is that instead of community education serving as an extension or add on to traditional approaches it should be the focus of all education What is often missing in teaching and learning are contexts and connections that make education meaningful Community education engages participants in problem and issues based approaches to the local community thereby facilitating that local to global link Instead of compartmentalized subjects integrated approaches use what students and the community know or understand to develop further questions solutions or even problems Community education offers efficacy in that it provides opportunities for collaboration in addressing local issues and problems It enables the community to become the classroom thus ensuring a more long term connection to active rather than passive endeavors as citizens Community Education R. Hamilton, 1989 Community Educational and Social Impact Perspectives Donna Hager Schoeny, Larry E. Decker, 1983 This volume consists of edited versions of 17 papers and reaction papers that were commissioned to examine the community educational and social impact of community education Various topics pertaining to the impact of community education are examined including educational programs of students school closings and shifting populations the political process and citizen participation coordination of human services social issues and cost effectiveness and efficiency The following papers are included in the volume Changing Concepts of Education From School System to Educational System by Mario D Fantini Demographics and Use of Public Facilities by William De Jong and Dwayne E Gardner Power Politics Policy Perspectives for Community Education by Edith K Mosher A National Agenda for Community Education by Samuel Halperin Community Education and Turning Point Election Periods by Laurence Iannaccone Achieving Critical Mass in Community Education by Jule M Sugarman Three Key Measures to Help Reconstruct Education in America by Amitai Etzioni Cultural Diversity and Advanced Technology A Potentially Symbiotic Relationship in the Context of the Community by William L Smith and Helen R Wiprud and Guidelines for Planning Cost Effectiveness Studies in Community Education by Philip Doughty Reactions to most of these papers are also included in the volume MN Process Perspectives John W.  Karen Seashore Louis, Sharon D. Kruse, 1995-03-21 School based professional community is a concept that portrays teachers as working together towards a set of shared goals of improved professionalism for themselves and increased learning opportunities for students Attempts to put this into practice in urban schools in the United States have met with varying degrees of success Using case studies the contributors to this book examine the reasons for this inconsistency focusing on the structural social and human relations conditions of schooling Philanthropic fields of interest. pt. 1.
