Community Liberalism And Christian Ethics:

Community, Liberalism and Christian Ethics David Fergusson, 1998-11-26 This book explores some current issues on the borderland between moral philosophy and Christian theology Particular attention is paid to the issues at stake between liberals and communitarians and the dispute between realists non realists and quasi realists In the course of the discussion the writings of Alasdair MacIntyre George Lindbeck and Stanley Hauerwas are examined While sympathetic to many of the typical features of post liberalism the argument is critical at selected points in seeking to defend realism and accommodate some aspects of liberalism The position that emerges is more neo Barthian than post liberal In maintaining the distinctiveness of Christian ethics and community the book also seeks to acknowledge common moral ground held by those within and without the church

Inequality and Christian Ethics Douglas A. Hicks, 2000-09-18 Inequality and Christian Ethics first published in 2000 provides a moral and empirical analysis of contemporary social and economic inequality Drawing on Christian social ethics political philosophy and development economics the book seeks to create an interdisciplinary conversation that illuminates not only the contemporary realities and trends of inequality but their moral significance as well It is necessary to examine and understand inequality in various forms which the book maps out including disparity in income education and health as well as differentials based on race ethnicity gender and nationality The book draws in particular on the theological ethics of Gustavo Guti rrez and H Richard Niebuhr to provide a Christian ethical approach to inequality and well being It considers the capability approach set forth by Amartya Sen Nobel laureate in economics Sen s framework helps Christians and other persons to add specificity to what the commitment to equality before God would demand in social and economic relations

Church as Moral Community Michael D O'Neil, 2014-07-08 This book details the development and contours of Karl Barth s robust and lively vision of Christian and ecclesial life in the early years of his career In this remarkable work Michael O Neil investigates Karl Barth s theology in the turbulent and dynamic years of his nascent career between 1915 and 1922 It focuses on the manner in which this great theologian construed Christian and ecclesial existence The author argues that Karl Barth developed his theology with an explicit ecclesial and ethical motive in a deliberate attempt to shape the ethical life of the church in the troublesome context within which he lived and worked O Neil adopts a chronological and exegetical reading of Barth s work from the initial dispute with his liberal heritage c 1915 until the publication of the second edition of his commentary on romans Not only does this work contribute to a broader understanding of Barth s theology both in its early development and with regard to his ecclesiology and ethics it also provides a significant framework and material for contemporary ecclesial reflection on Christian identity and mission

Truth, Community, and the Prophetic Voice Christopher J. Libby, 2018-06-18 The central concern of Truth Community and the Prophetic Voice asks how it might be possible today to uphold an understanding of the prophetic voice that comports in essential ways with its expression in the biblical vision while attending especially to contemporary judgments regarding the epistemological significance of community and concerns about the nature and function of claims to truth Ultimately and more specifically Christopher J Libby hopes to gain some purchase on what an adequate contemporary Christian theological rendering of the prophetic looks like He argues that it is not only possible to provide a non foundationalist account of the prophetic voice but that that voice is able to come truly into its own when cast in a non foundationalist frame

Tensions in Christian Ethics Malcolm Brown, 2011-01-01 The book draws on the author's teaching of ethics at undergraduate and postgraduate level for the Cambridge Theological Federation since 2000 Its purpose is to introduce the reader to questions in Christian ethics through a careful examination of the fundamental meta ethical questions posed by the state we're in whether understood as a new phase of modernity or as postmodernity Brown draws on sources and authors from a variety of Christian traditions and from Britain the U S A and Europe The book will be of use not only to university departments and denominational and ecumenical teaching institutions but also as a more general exposition of the current state of ethical thinking in the Christian churches

Christ in Practice Clive Marsh, 2006 In 1944 Dietrich Bonhoeffer asked Who is Christ for us today In this theologically informed and very practical exploration of what it means to live in Christ Clive Marsh seeks to answer Bonhoeffer's question in a way that is appropriate for the 21st Century Christ in Practice refuses to locate Christ solely in the Church but finds him in the midst of contemporary life especially in the complex ethical challenges of daily living Clive Marsh considers how Christ is present today and invites us to reflect on how communal human interaction can be informed and transformed through attempting to understand this question In the process he considers how Christ and the Church relate today highlighting the decisive role to be played by the Church in society and the humility with which it needs to fulfil its task Clive Marsh argues that the point of Christology and of Christianity itself is not to interpret Christ but to live within Christ and to do so without being consumed by Church It is a passionate plea for Christians to remain faithful to a commitment to Christ as present and active in the world
