Digital citizenship education from a parent's perspective Janice Richardson, Veronica Samara, 2022-11-01 A majority of parents today are grappling with issues such as privacy, digital footprints and bullying. Where do they turn to find reliable information? When should they intervene in their children's online activities? What is their role in ensuring that their children master the values, attitudes, skills and knowledge they need to actively and effectively engage with society? In 2020 the Council of Europe conducted a survey to better understand the views of parents on digital citizenship education and the concerns they have about their children's use of digital technology. More than 21,000 parents in 47 countries responded to the survey, which was followed up by interviews in 2020 and 2021. Digital citizenship education from a parent's perspective maps the needs and reflections of parents as they strive to ensure the well-being of their children and help them become competent digital citizens who are empowered by digital technology rather than shaped by it. Conducted in the midst of school closures during the Covid-19 pandemic, the study documents parents' experience when they stepped up as primary educators, often with little or no guidance from schools and inadequate digital equipment to cover their children's needs. It aims to foster debate between parents, educators, researchers and policy makers on the meaning and challenges of digital citizenship education for children growing up in today's digital age.

Adolescent Use of New Media and Internet Technologies Gordon P. D. Ingram,2023-03-31 This book engages with contemporary and often polarizing debates surrounding the risks of adolescent use of digital media and internet technologies By drawing on multiple research studies the text synthesizes current understandings of the impacts of social network use online gaming pornography and phenomena including cyberbullying cyberstalking and internet addiction to develop recommendations for the effective identification of at risk youth as well as strategies for informed communication about online risks and opportunities It shows how media discussion of risks to children and teenagers from new technology is highly emotive and often exaggerated rooted in the moral panic surrounding new cultural practices that young people engage in but which adults do not understand Online risks are thus conceptualized as centering on three areas specific to adolescence which have undergone radical changes due to new internet technology These include young people's identity the types of content that are accessed and social relationships The author shows how these matters stem from the potential of
