Theism Randolph S. Foster, 2018-01-14 Excerpt from Theism: Cosmic Theism or the Theism of Nature. Atheism is an ancient and epochal disease of the human mind; perhaps it might rather be said to be perennial. It springs forth spontaneously whenever there is any new development in the advancing knowledge of humanity. Every new discovery or speculation, merely which disturbs established ways of thinking, may seed acres of mind with atheistic thought. There are always multitudes in condition to be inoculated with the disease, and it is sure to break forth with violence. It is safe to say that its perennial root is the always existing fact of ignorance and sensuality and prevalent misconceptions of the character of God as the legitimate consequence. Plato reasoning against the atheism of his time.

developed the fact that the then current atheism was rather a revolt against the gods or vain superstitions of the age The atheism of the renaissance which threatened for a time to eradicate all religion from the world was at first a mere protest against abuses of the idea of God intolerable to awakened reason It carried over into absolute atheism and drew forth those wonderful treatises which finally cleared the mental atmosphere and won a permanent victory for theism which abides to this time About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
