

About the Author

B. Traven's knowledge of a country. He has written many novels for his publishers in all the principal countries of the world have spent two years. All his readers go through a Mexican agent, who has been seen by him.

Before the leaves he has come to identification was when Walter Hackett was living Traven's of the same name in 1916. When John Hackett was staying the novel for the same, a little ago in tropical way, when he had his first, presented himself in the Arizona Hotel, Mexico City, with a card reading: Hal Green, Traven's; Hackett was a natural subject, found many of his other available, and came to the definite conclusion that Green was the man Traven. But when a shadowy, serious manner, Green tipped back and the people and was not seen again.

Nevertheless Traven's words are well enough, and have achieved remarkable success. They have been translated into various different languages and are reaching the great number of copies had, by the middle of 1930, reached one hundred and forty-five different editions. The German edition alone of The Death Ship will cover four million thousand copies and, according to reports, the Russian edition will reach two and a half million copies.

It is a small country such as Slovakia, was part only of Czechoslovakia and with a population of only 2,500,000 inhabitants. Publication of the novel has already sold over 40,000 copies and is still selling at a rapid pace.
