Counseling On Personal Decisions Theory And Research On Short Term Helping Relationships:

Counseling on Personal Decisions Irving L. Janis, 1981-12-11 This book is designed to assist counselors to be more effective in their relationship with clients who seek help in choosing and adhering to a difficult course of action. It presents a thoughtful theoretical analysis of the conditions that lead to successful short term counseling and then tests these hypotheses through a series of controlled field experiments carried out in a variety of counseling situations. In his initial chapters Irving Janis identifies three critical phases of activity for the counselor in a helping relationship: building an image as a reliable source of self esteem enhancement, endorsing certain norms such as dieting or recommending sound decision making procedures, minimizing the client's separation reactions to the termination of direct contact. The main body of the book consists of field experiments conducted by Janis and his colleagues which assess the effects of numerous variations in counseling procedures. Field studies of weight reducing, smoke ending and marital and career counseling are among those used for evaluation of counseling techniques. In the final chapters Janis draws together the empirical findings of the field experiments, revising some aspects of his theory in response to the complexities of the research results. Written in a style that is lively and easily understood, Counseling on Personal Decisions provides a unique combination of theory, research and applications. It is a valuable tool not only for counselors but for physicians, lawyers, social workers and other professional advisors.

Assessment and Modification of Emotional Behavior Kirk R. Blankstein, 2012-12-06 Handbook of Psychology and Health, Volume IV Shelley E. Taylor, Jerome E. Singer, Andrew Baum, 2020-09-10 Originally published in 1984, the study of psychological aspects of health was a rapidly expanding enterprise. Most of the contributors to this volume were trained as social psychologists or by social psychologists. Some have been more applied in their focus or on the edge of several fields. All, however, share a common approach focusing on the individual as he or she is buffeted about by social forces and copes with these forces. All consider situational and psychological factors in the determination of behavior, emotion or cognition and all apply their expertise to the study of health related issues. The grouping of the chapters in this volume by the authors' subspecialty in social psychology is a somewhat unconventional method of clustering. Ordinarily the materials presented here would be published in journals or texts concerned with behavior or psychosocial in health and medicine or in specialty publications dealing with a particular disease or health issue. That clustering of articles is functional in providing information to those most likely to utilize it, but it diffuses the origin and background of the studies. These chapters speak to the diversity of health issues that are amenable to successful social psychological analysis.

Basic Processes in Helping Relationships Thomas Ashby Wills, 1982 Racial Sensitivity and Multicultural Training Martin Strous, 2004-01-30 Offering implications for democratizing psychology on a global scale, this work illustrates how professional training for mental health practitioners is often inadequate on issues pertaining to race and racism. The author shows prime examples in his homeland, South Africa, and focuses on how those practices reflect assumptions concerning racial superiority. Also addressed is how therapists may be influenced by prevailing ideologies unaware of how prejudices translate into discriminatory work practices and ignorant of the power of their own discriminatory discourses The author also investigates how positive attitudes by counselors and therapists reflect positions related to racial sensitivity He proposes a new model for multicultural and multiracial sensitivity training     Transactions of the New York Academy of Sciences New York Academy of Sciences,1980

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a exceptional and thrilling novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
