Lawson, 1996 Preface to the first edition      Poetics of the Incarnation Cristina Maria Cervone, 2013-02-11 The Gospel of John describes the Incarnation of Christ as the Word made flesh an intriguing phrase that uses the logic of metaphor but is not traditionally understood as merely symbolic Thus the conceptual puzzle of the Incarnation also draws attention to language and form what is the Word how is it related to language how can the Word become flesh Such theological questions haunt the material imagery engaged by medieval writers the structural forms that give their writing shape and even their ideas about language itself In Poetics of the Incarnation Cristina Maria Cervone examines the work of fourteenth century writers who rather than approaching the mystery of the Incarnation through affective identification with the Passion elected to ponder the intellectual implications of the Incarnation in poetical and rhetorical forms Cervone argues that a poetics of the Incarnation becomes the grounds for working through the philosophical and theological implications of language at a point in time when Middle English was emerging as a legitimate if contested medium for theological expression In brief lyrics and complex narratives late medieval

English writers including William Langland Julian of Norwich Walter Hilton and the anonymous author of the Charters of Christ took the relationship between God and humanity as a jumping off point for their meditations on the nature of language and thought the elision between the concrete and the abstract the complex relationship between acting and being the work done by poetry itself in and through time and the meaning latent within poetical forms Where Passion devoted writing would focus on the vulnerability and suffering of the fleshly body these texts took imaginative leaps such as when they depict the body of Christ as a lily or the written word Their Incarnational poetics repeatedly call attention to the fact that in theology as in poetics form matters     Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1996     Paperbound Books in Print ,1991     Cultural

Anthropology John H. Bodley,2011-04-16 This introductory text introduces basic concepts in cultural anthropology by comparing cultures of increasing scale and focusing on specific universal issues throughout human history Cultural materials are presented in integrated ethnographic case studies organized by cultural and geographic areas to show how ideological social organization and material features fit together in specific sociocultural systems John H Bodley explicitly seeks a balance between ecological materialist and cultural ideological explanations of sociocultural systems while stressing the importance of individual power seeking and human agency Part One examines domestic scale autonomous tribal cultures Part Two presents politically organized class based civilizations and ancient empires in the imperial world Part Three surveys global industrial market based civilizations in the contemporary commercial world Cultural Anthropology uniquely challenges students to consider the big questions about the nature of cultural systems     CER Stephen Edwards,Frank Holmes,1994
