A Companion to Archaeology John Bintliff, 2008-04-15 A Companion to Archaeology features essays from 27 of the world's leading authorities on different types of archaeology that aim to define the field and describe what it means to be an archaeologist. Shows that contemporary archaeology is an astonishingly broad activity with many contrasting specializations and ways of approaching the material record of past societies. Includes essays by experts in reading the past through art, linguistics or the built environment and by professionals who present the past through heritage management and museums. Introduces the reader to a range of archaeologists: those who devote themselves to the philosophy of archaeology, those who see archaeology as politics or anthropology, and those who contend that the essence of the discipline is a hard science.

Archaeology in the PPG16 Era Timothy Darvill, Kerry Barrass, Vanessa Constant, Ehren Milner, Bronwen Russell, 2019-02-28 The Archaeological Investigations Project AIP funded by English Heritage systematically collected information about the nature and outcomes of more than 86 000 archaeological projects undertaken between 1990 and 2010. This volume looks at the long-term trends in archaeological investigation and reporting, places this work within wider social, political, and professional contexts, and reviews its achievements. Information was collected through visits to public and private organizations undertaking archaeological work. Planning Policy Guidance Note 16 Archaeology and Planning, known as PPG16, published in 1990, saw the formal integration of archaeological considerations with the UK town and country planning system, and set out processes for informed decision making and the implementation of post-determination mitigation strategies. It defined a formative era in archaeological practice and established principles that underpin today's planning policy framework. The scale of activity represented more 1000 excavations per year for most of the PPG16 Era, is more than double the level of work undertaken at peak periods during the previous three decades. This comprehensive review of the project presents a wealth of data. A series of case studies examines and illustrates different types of development project, revealing many ways in which projects develop, how archaeology is integrated with planning and execution, and the range of outputs documenting the process. It identified a series of ten important lessons that can be learned from these investigations. Looking into the post-PPG16 Era, the volume considers anticipated developments in the changing worlds of planning, property development, and archaeological practice, and proposes the monitoring of archaeological investigations in England using a two-pronged approach that involves self-reporting and periodic strategic overviews. The Social Archaeology of the Levant Assaf Yasur-Landau, Eric H. Cline, Yorke Rowan, 2018-12-20 The volume offers a comprehensive introduction to the archaeology of the southern Levant: modern-day Israel, Palestine, and Jordan, from the Paleolithic period to the Islamic era, presenting the past with chronological changes from hunter-gatherers to empires. Written by an international team of scholars in the fields of archaeology, epigraphy, and bioanthropology, the volume presents central debates around a range of archaeological issues, including gender, ritual, the creation of alphabets, and early writing, biblical periods.

archaeometallurgy looting and maritime trade Collectively the essays also engage diverse theoretical approaches to demonstrate the multi vocal nature of studying the past Significantly The Social Archaeology of the Levant updates and contextualizes major shifts in archaeological interpretation

Pinning Down the Past Mike Corbishley, 2014-04-17 In a relatively short period of time the pursuit of archaeology has evolved from an antiquarian interest to a specialised scientific activity Part of this evolution has always included the interest of the public and archaeologists efforts to educate them As each new method and technique is developed and each new specialism is created the challenge of making archaeology available as a learning resource grows with it Today for example the issues which surround archaeology and heritage such as the pressures of tourism on sites now form part of many formal educational curricula This book the first to deal with the subject in such depth examines the place of education and outreach within the wider archaeological community Written by one of Britain s leading archaeological educationalists it charts the sometimes difficult and painful growth and development of education and archaeology Packed full of informative and enlightening case studies from the circus at Colchester to Sutton Hoo and Hadrian s Wall this work examines exactly how we have reached the point we are at where that place is and suggests areas for future development By drawing upon many decades of experience at the front line of archaeological education the author has produced a key text that will play a major role in the on going development of the heritage industry

Publisher s website Archaeology Imma Ollich-Castanyer, 2012-05-09 The contents of this book show the implementation of new methodologies applied to archaeological sites Chapters have been grouped in four sections New Approaches About Archaeological Theory and Methodology The Use of Geophysics on Archaeological Fieldwork New Applied Techniques Improving Material Culture and Experimentation and Sharing Knowledge Some Proposals Concerning Heritage and Education Many different research projects many different scientists and authors from different countries many different historical times and periods but only one objective working together to increase our knowledge of ancient populations through archaeological work The proposal of this book is to diffuse new methods and techniques developed by scientists to be used in archaeological works That is the reason why we have thought that a publication on line is the best way of using new technology for sharing knowledge everywhere Discovering sharing knowledge asking questions about our remote past and origins are in the basis of humanity and also are in the basis of archaeology as a science International Journal of Communication , 2005

Rough Quarries, Rocks and Hills Miles Russell, 2001 The Neolithic was a period of prolific activity for the South Downs in Sussex when enclosures and monuments were being built ditches cut large areas cleared and flint was extracted from the ground This study features one of the last great unpublished excavation archives relating to fieldwork conducted on the Neolithic monuments of the South Downs carried out by John Henry Pull in the 1920s 50s It includes reports from four major areas of flint mining Blackpatch Church Hill Cissbury and Tolmere largely based on contemporary records and accounts with comments and observations from Miles Russell The specialist reports and studies of
