help them better understand how theories apply to everyday life Communication as ... Gregory J. Shepherd, Jeffrey St. John, Ted Striphas, 2005-05-26 In Communication as Perspectives on Theory editors Gregory J. Shepherd, Jeffrey St. John and Ted Striphas bring together a collection of 27 essays that explore the wide range of theorizing about communication cutting across all lines of traditional division in the field. The essays in this text are written by leading scholars in the field of communication theory with each scholar employing a particular stance or perspective on what communication theory is and how it functions. In essays that are brief, argumentative and forceful, the scholars propose their perspective as a primary or essential way of viewing communication with decided benefits over other views Communication Theory and Research Denis McQuail, Peter Golding, Els De Bens, 2005 This exciting collection of papers represents some of the finest communications research published during the last decade. To mark the 20th anniversary of the European Journal of Communication, a leading international journal, the editors have selected 21 papers, all of which make significant and valuable interventions in the field of media and communications. The volume is prefaced with an introduction by the editors and will be a central research text for scholars in this field Communication Theory Mark P. Orbe, Jeanetta D. Sims, Jasmine T. Austin, 2021-12-19 Featuring contributed chapters from established and emerging communication theorists with varied cultural backgrounds and identities, Communication Theory: Racially Diverse and Inclusive Perspectives decenters traditional views of communication by highlighting perspectives from the global majority. The text deviates from a white colonial normative theoretical core to provide students with a more holistic exploration of communication theory. The book helps readers understand how the communicative experiences of marginalized groups represent important theoretical frames necessary for a full, comprehensive view of communication. It offers innovative conceptions of communication theorizing centered in and through the perspectives of African American, Black, Latinx, Asian American, and Indigenous First Nations people. Through the presentation of canonized theories alongside innovative, cutting-edge theories, the text challenges students to expand and enhance the ways in which they see, use, and apply communication theory. A unique feature of the text is the inclusion of storied reflections, personal narratives that reveal scholars at various stages of their careers ruminating on their own experiences with theory. These reflections demonstrate how ethnic and racialized standpoints can inform and advance scholarship within the discipline. Communication Theory presents an inclusive, holistic approach to communication theory and inspires continued exploration, research, and theory in the discipline. It can serve as a primary textbook as well as a companion volume to other textbooks on communication theory. Chapters and contributors include: Chapter 1: Undocumented Critical Theory, Carlos Aguilar and Daniela Juarez; Chapter 2: Black Feminist Thought, Marnel Niles Goins and Jasmine T. Austin; Chapter 3: Cultural Contracts Theory, Ronald L. Jackson II and Gina Castle Bell; Chapter 4: Conflict Face Negotiation Theory in Intercultural Interpersonal Contexts, Stella Ting-Toomey; Chapter 5: Co-cultural Theory, Mark P. Orbe and Fatima Albrehi; Chapter 6: Ethnic Communication Theory, Uchenna Onuzulike; Chapter 7: Social Network Theory, Wenlin Liu; Chapter 8:
