Communication Development In Children With Down Syndrome:

Speech and Language Development for Children with Down Syndrome (5-11 Years) Sue Buckley, Gillian Bird, 2001
Children with Down syndrome have significant delays in speech and language skills which will affect their progress during their primary school years. This module provides guidelines for the assessment of vocabulary, grammar, speech sound production and interactive communication skills and activities to progress children's skills across all of these areas. The authors emphasise the importance of improving the quality and quantity of everyday communication experience for children with Down syndrome and the equally essential need to work on targeted activities for both speech and language skills. The majority of speech and language targets can be incorporated into the regular curriculum and daily activities in the classroom. This module follows on from Speech and language development for individuals with Down syndrome: An overview DSii 03 01 which should be read first to provide the reader with an adequate understanding of speech and language development to be successful in using this programme.

Communication Skills in Children with Down Syndrome Libby Kumin, 1994. Covers speech and language development in children with Down syndrome from infancy through to early adolescence and what parents and carers can do to help maximise their child's communication potential.

Early Communication Skills for Children with Down Syndrome Libby Kumin, 2003. In Early Communication Skills for Children with Down Syndrome Libby Kumin Ph.D. CCC SLP shares her expertise gained through her work with hundreds of children with Down syndrome over the past 23 years with parents and speech language pathologists to help them maximize the communication development of young children. This new book, an updated expanded edition of Communication Skills in Children with Down Syndrome, focuses on speech and language development from birth through the stage of making 3 word phrases which is often around ages 5 or 6 but can occur later. Book jacket.

Speech, Language, and Literacy Development in Individuals with Down Syndrome Sue Buckley, Kelly Burgoyne, Susan Loveall, 2024-01-16

Speech, Language and Communication for Individuals with Down Syndrome Sue Buckley, 2000. Information about speech and language development in individuals with Down syndrome.

Speech and Language Development for Infants with Down Syndrome (0-5 Years) Sue Buckley, Gillian Bird, 2001. This module provides a programme of activities and advice designed to assist the development of speech and language skills for children with Down syndrome from birth to five years. The advice and activities are based on knowledge of the processes affecting speech and language development in typically developing children, the identified difficulties of children with Down syndrome and current research findings from studies evaluating effective remedial strategies. It also includes checklists for evaluating and recording children's development of interactive communication skills, speech sounds, vocabulary, sentences and grammar. The programme will enable parents, teachers and therapists to help children with Down syndrome to learn to talk in sentences and to develop their speech clarity and conversational skills. It starts with activities to develop the foundation skills in infancy that lead on to talking, including the use of gesture and sign to support comprehension and with an emphasis on speech sound work from infancy Building a spoken vocabulary to 400 words by 5 years of age is seen as a priority in order to develop grammar and phonology and a recommended vocabulary programme with record sheets is included The ways in which reading activities should be used to support all aspects of speech and language learning during preschool years are mentioned but the detailed advice on teaching early reading is in the reading module This module follows on from Speech and language development for individuals with Down syndrome An overview DSii 03 01 which should be read first to provide the reader with an adequate understanding of speech and language development to be successful in using this programme
