Cosmopolitanism, Nationalism and the Jews of East Central Europe Michael Miller, Scott Ury, 2016-01-22 Since ancient times Jews have had a long and tangled relationship to cosmopolitanism Torn between a longstanding commitment to other Jews and the pressure to integrate into various host societies many Jews have sought a third seemingly neutral option that of becoming citizens of the world cosmopolitans Few regions witnessed such intense debates on these questions as the lands of East Central Europe as they entered the modern era From Berlin to Moscow and from Vilna to Bucharest the Jews of East Central Europe were repeatedly torn between people nation and the world While many Jews and individuals of Jewish descent embraced cosmopolitan ideologies and movements across the span of the nineteenth century such appeals to transcend the nation became increasingly suspect with the rise of integral nationalism In Germany Poland Russia and other lands Jews and other supporters of cosmopolitan movements were marginalized during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Although such sentiments reached their peak during the Second World War anti cosmopolitan propaganda continued throughout the Cold War when it often became an integral part of anti Jewish campaigns in the Soviet Union Czechoslovakia Poland and Romania Even after the end of the Cold War the connection between Jews and cosmopolitanism continues to befuddle ideologues cultural leaders and politicians in Europe North America and Israel The fourteen chapters amassed in this volume address these and other questions including What lies at the roots of the longstanding connection between Jews and cosmopolitanism How has this relationship changed over time What can different
