Communist Penetration Of The Third World:

Communist Penetration of the Third World Edward Taborsky, 1973 NATO and Western Perceptions of the Soviet Bloc Evanthis Hatzivassiliou, 2014-05-30 This book examines the NATO reports on the Soviet bloc's political and economic system from 1951 to the aftermath of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the beginning of detente. As part of the wider history of Cold War Alliances, the detailed assessments of the NATO experts regarding the non-military aspects of Soviet power are a crucial indicator of Western allied perceptions of the adversary. Their study allows us to widen the discussion on the Western alliance, the accuracy of its information or perceptions and the nature of the Cold War. Hatzivassiliou argues that the Cold War was not only a strategic dilemma, although it certainly was that as well, but also the latest stage of the crisis of legitimization which had been raging since the dawn of modernity. NATO Western analysis is examined in this context. At the same time, the book discusses the relative influence of the major NATO members. US and British influence was strong, while French, West German and Italian influence was also significant in the drafting of the reports and thus in shaping the alliance's perceptions during the Cold War. This book will be of much interest to students of NATO, Cold War Studies, international history, foreign policy and IR in general. China, an Analytical Survey of Literature United States. Department of the Army, 1978 Aid and Arms to the Third World Robert D. McKinlay, Anthony Mughan, 1984 Problems of Communism, 1974 Studies on the Developing Countries, 1988 The Myth Of Victory Richard W. Hobbs, 2019-06-10 Richard Hobbs examines one of society's greatest problems: the need for reconciliation between the democratic dislike of war and the appropriate use of the military instrument in world politics. He questions whether the results obtained in war are worth the expenditures made and contends that victory gained from total war was pushed to its outer limit. Developing the Third World Robert A. Agunga, 1997 Striding boldly where other scholars have feared to tread, Agunga offers a definitive solution strategy for people-centered development, armed with his upbringing in Africa, considerable field work experience and knowledge of the literature. He argues that development projects and programs fail because planners and policy makers lack training in communications skills and urges governments and donor agencies to include communications professionals in their programs.
