Carl-Ardy Dubois, Ellen Nolte, Martin McKee, 2005-12-16 Health service human resources are key determinants of health service performance The human resource is the largest and most expensive input into health care yet it can be the most challenging to develop This book examines some of the major challenges facing health care professions in Europe and the potential responses to these challenges The book analyses how the current regulatory processes and practices related to key aspects of the management of the health professions may facilitate or inhibit the development of effective responses to challenges facing health care systems in Europe The authors document how health care systems in Europe are confronting existing challenges in relation to the health workforce and identify the strategies that are likely to be most effective in optimizing the management of health professionals in the future Human Resources for Health in Europe is key reading for health policy makers and postgraduates taking courses in health services management health policy and health economics It is also of interest to human resource professionals Contributors Carl Afford Rita Baeten James Buchan Anna Dixon Carl Ardy Dubois Sigr n Gunnarsd ttir Elisabeth Kachur Karl Krajic Suszy Lessof Ann Mahon Alan Maynard Martin McKee Ellen Nolte Anne Marie Rafferty Charles Shaw Bonnie Sibbald Ruth Young

Medical Education for the Future Alan Bleakley, John

Bligh, Julie Browne, 2011-02-21 The purpose of medical education is to benefit patients by improving the work of doctors Patient centeredness is a centuries old concept in medicine but there is still a long way to go before medical education can truly be said to be patient centered Ensuring the centrality of the patient is a particular challenge during medical education when students are still forming an identity as trainee doctors and conservative attitudes towards medicine and education are common amongst medical teachers making it hard to bring about improvements How can teachers policy makers researchers and doctors bring about lasting change that will restore the patient to the heart of medical education The authors experienced medical educators explore the role of the patient in medical education in terms of identity power and location Using innovative political philosophical cultural and literary critical frameworks that have previously never been applied so consistently to the field the authors provide a fundamental reconceptualisation of medical teaching and learning with an emphasis upon learning at the bedside and in the clinic They offer a wealth of practical and conceptual insights into the three way relationship between patients students and teachers setting out a radical and exciting approach to a medical education for the future The authors provide us with a masterful reconceptualization of medical education that challenges traditional notions about teaching and learning The book critiques current practices and offers new approaches to medical education based upon sociocultural research and theory This thought provoking narrative advances the case for reform and is a must read for anyone involved in medical education David M Irby PhD Vice Dean for Education University of California San Francisco School of Medicine and co author of Educating Physicians A Call for Reform of Medical School and Residency This book is a truly visionary contribution to the Flexner centenary It is compulsory reading for the medical educationalist with a serious concern for the future and for the welfare of patients and learners in the here and now Professor Tim Dornan University of Manchester Medical School and Maastricht University Graduate School of Health Professions Education A Practical Guide for Medical Teachers John A.
